British Election Set May 26

West Fears Red Gimmick In Pact To Free Austria

Treaty May Be Trap To Block German Arming

WASHINGTON, April 15 (AP) — Western diplomats eyed Russia's announced agreement to Austrian independence today with growing suspicion that it is a trap set to snag German rearmament.

More immediately, they wondered if Austria might have overlooked some Soviet gimmicks in its joy at the prospect of sovereignty again.

But there were signs of a rising sentiment for a Big Four meeting this year to seek smoother East-West relations. In fact, the pressure seemed greater than it has been since the Big Four foreign ministers session at Berlin deadlocked on Austrian independence 14 months ago.

The French especially were plumping hard for a foreign ministers meeting with Russia. The British have been interested for several months but Prime Minister Sir Anthony Eden's announcement of British elections on May 26 came today as a complicating factor on the selection of a date.

British, French and especially American officials were extremely reticent about voicing any comment on the Soviet-Austrian communique of accord released at Moscow. The strongest word used by the U.S. State Department was "encouraging."

However, officials in the capitals of these Big Three countries emphasized that the fine print had to be searched and consultations had to be held before development of a three-power position.

Soviet Agrees To Troop Withdrawal This Year

VIENNA, April 15 (AP)—Chancellor Julius Raab came home triumphantly from Moscow today with Russian promises that Austria may be free of Big Four occupation no later than the end of this year.

Raab, premier of seven million people, indicated he was confident the Russians meant what they told him in Moscow.

"We will be free after 10 years of hope and struggle," he told a cheering crowd of welcomers.

The Soviets promised, in three days of talks, they would agree that their 44,000 troops, together with 23,000 of the United States, Britain and France, be withdrawn as soon as a treaty of independence is signed, and in any case not later than Dec. 31, 1955. They also made promises of big economic concessions.

For a long time the Western powers have been pressing Russia for agreement on an Austrian treaty including withdrawal of occupation forces. But withdrawal by the end of 1955 even if no treaty is signed apparently would need new four-power agreement.

Western and Austrian diplomats, including Raab, appeared confident a meeting of the Big Four ambassadors may take place soon in the Blue Danube capital in an effort to reach agreement on the still unsettled points of the treaty. They feel the conference would give the real answer as to whether a treaty will be signed by the end of the year.

Bomber Explodes, Plunges Into Sea With 3 Crewmen

HAMILTON, Bermuda, April 15 (AP)—A six-engined U. S. Air Force jet bomber exploded into a mushroom-shaped cloud and crashed into the sea a half mile off St. Georges today with its three crewmen.

One body was recovered and a search was continuing tonight for the other two crewmen. A U. S. naval diver was trying to locate the wreckage in 40 or 50 feet of water.

Earlier a survivor was reported to have been brought in, but he proved to be dead upon arrival.

Eyewitnesses said the plane, a B47 from McDill Air Force Base in Florida, blew up in the air soon after the takeoff and hit the water in three burning pieces.

"There was a ball of fire between tail and cockpit," the eyewitness said, "and the plane seemed to disintegrate in a mushroom shaped cloud."

Warren Vows He Will Never Run For Presidency

WASHINGTON, April 15 (AP) — Chief Justice Earl Warren declared today he has turned his back on party politics for the rest of his life and would not be a candidate for president "under any circumstances or conditions."

Warren, former Republican governor of California and 1948 GOP candidate for vice president, issued a formal statement after a nationwide poll reported he was the top choice of Republican and independent voters for the GOP nomination if President Eisenhower failed to seek re-election.

Sherman Statement Recalled

His statement, believed unprecedented for a Supreme Court Justice, strongly recalled the 1883 declaration of Gen. William T. Sherman: "If nominated, I will not accept; if elected, I will not serve."

The 64-year-old Warren said:

"My name has been used as a possible candidate for the presidency.

"This has been a matter of embarrassment to me because it reflects upon the performance of my duties as Chief Justice of the United States.

"When I accepted that position, it was with the fixed purpose of leaving politics permanently for service on the court. That is still my purpose. It is irrevocable. I will not change it under any circumstances or conditions.

Happy In Present Post

"Be they many or few, the remaining useful years of my life are dedicated to the service of the Supreme Court of the United States, in which work I am increasingly happy."

Friends had predicted Warren might issue such a statement after the Gallup poll said on Wednesday that the chief justice ran ahead of Vice President Nixon and all other Republicans as the second choice—after Eisenhower—for the GOP nomination in 1956.

Missing Executive Found Working As Circus Clown

PENSACOLA, Fla., April 15 (AP) — A missing Rochester, N. Y., businessman was found today happily working as a circus clown and tattooist's assistant.

One of his routines was as the White Rabbit from "Alice in Wonderland" who chants "I'm late, I'm late."

Police said Rufus K. Dryer, 46, was vague in his answers and apparently was an amnesia victim. Dryer is president of the Clark Paint, Oil & Glass Co., Rochester, and a 1931 graduate of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

Dryer had disappeared after leaving his place of business Feb. 8 on an errand. When found here, he had shaved his head and his body bore various tattoos.

His wife, Mrs. Harriet Dryer, flew to Pensacola from Rochester today. She said she was taking him to St. Petersburg, Fla., for a rest.

Danny Styron II, tattooist from East Pittsburgh, Pa., said he paid Dryer $25 a week as his assistant. In addition to the circus act, they had been on television together and made other appearances.

Dryer, who had been using the name of David E. Carey, answered virtually all questions put to him by newsmen with, "I don't remember."

He had a New York driver's license issued in the name of Carey but said he didn't know how he got it.

New L&N Strike Called As Steel Workers Return

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., April 15 (AP) —A strike of 4,000 additional Louisville and Nashville Railroad workers was called for Monday as nearly 25,000 Birmingham steel workers ended a one-day walkout in sympathy for striking telephone and L&N employes.

The steel workers here returned to their jobs on the 3 p.m. shift, after having shut down the South's largest steel plant, the Fairfield works of U. S. Steel.

Workers also returned to their jobs on the same shift at plants of Woodward Iron Co., major merchant iron producer.

Threats of a general strike of the United Steel Workers and all other CIO affiliates in Birmingham apparently ended as the steel mills resumed operations.

The newly called walkout of members of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen threatened to handicap further operations of the strike-troubled railroad.

Approximately 25,000 non-operating union employes of the L&N have been on a strike since March 14 in a dispute over welfare benefits.

The new L&N strike call came from H. E. Gilbert, president of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen, and W. P. Kennedy, president of the Brotherhood of Railroad Workers.

A union spokesman said the strikes were called because the railroad had fired some individual members of the operating unions for refusal to cross picket lines. Supervisory personnel has kept L&N freight trains operating but the railroad halted passenger service soon after the strike began.

The 33-day-old labor disputes have been accompanied by dynamitings, picket-line disturbances and mob violence. Most of the acts have been aimed at Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph Co. property and employes.

Three policemen maintaining order near the main telephone exchange in Birmingham were struck by bricks hurled from a noisy crowd last night. No one was injured.

Demo Leaders Yield To South In "Oath" Fight

Compromise Would Permit Bolt Of Party Without Punishment

WASHINGTON, April 15 (AP) — Democratic leaders bowed to the South today by offering a compromise in the three-year-old "loyalty oath" fight under which most party members could bolt the presidential ticket without punishment.

With party officials talking hopefully of success in next year's election, an advisory group headed by former National Chairman Stephen A. Mitchell laid out the compromise in a confidential report to be acted upon tomorrow.

An effort to force delegates to pledge support of the party's nominees split the 1952 convention wide open. A compromise at that time called for delegates to give their best efforts toward getting names of the nominees on the ballots in all states.

Resolution Proposed

The Mitchell report proposed that the national committee adopt a resolution saying:

1. "It is the assumption and understanding" that in picking 1956 nominating convention delegates, state party organizations would undertake "to assure" that the national ticket would get on the ballot of their states under the Democratic label.

2. "That no commitments shall be required of delegates to the Democratic national convention in the absence of credentials contests . . . "

3. "That it is the duty of every member of the Democratic National Committee to declare affirmatively for the nominees of the convention and that his or her failure to do so shall be cause for the Democratic National Committee or its duly authorized subcommittee to declare his or her seat vacant."

Memorandum Offered

Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn) and former Gov. John S. Battle of Virginia, vice chairmen of the advisory group, joined with Mitchell in submitting a memorandum. Humphrey and Battle were leaders of opposing camps in the 1952 "loyalty oath" fight.

The memorandum said the "assumption" the state organizations will put the national ticket on the ballot "does not constitute a warranty or commitment by anyone as to his personal action or support."

"His conscience may require him to decide to support the opposition candidates," the memo said. "There is no attempt to consider here what would be the consequences of such activity."

President, Adm. Stump To Discuss Formosa

AUGUSTA, Ga., April 15 (AP) — President Eisenhower and Adm. Felix B. Stump, commander of the Pacific Fleet, will meet tomorrow to discuss the Formosa situation and the Far Eastern picture generally.

The President's vacation headquarters announced today that Stump will fly to Augusta from Washington, where he has been reporting to the Navy and Defense departments.

James C. Hagerty, White House press secretary, told newsmen there was no emergency bringing the admiral here. Hagerty said Eisenhower has asked Stump to fly down, but the press secretary added he looked for no major developments out of the conference.

107th Birthday Kiss

Mrs. Mary Summers, celebrating her 107th birthday, gets a kiss from her daughter, Mrs. Bessie Stewart, the only one of her three children still alive. Born in Boonesboro, Md., she married a widower at 19 and migrated west in a prairie schooner, finally locating on a cattle ranch in Oklahoma. Mrs. Summers moved to Washington in 1928.

Walter Advised Corsi Firing For 'Poor Judgment'

WASHINGTON, April 15 (AP) — Rep. Walter (D-Pa) disclosed today he had recommended that Edward Corsi be fired as "a man of very poor judgment." He said Corsi once referred to framers of the McCarran-Walter immigration Act as "Nazis" and "candidates for an insane asylum."

Walter, a co-author of the law passed in 1952 over former President Truman's veto, testified before a Senate Judiciary subcommittee investigating the row over Corsi's ouster last week as Secretary of State Dulles' adviser on immigration problems.

Corsi, scheduled to be heard later, contends Dulles yielded to Walter's demand for his dismissal because "he had to work in Congress with men like Walter."

Walter also criticized the Eisenhower administration's Refugee Relief Act of 1953 as "phony." He said Democratic lawmakers, then in the minority, were given "little opportunity" to offer suggestions.

Walter read a "strictly confidential" letter he said he wrote to Dulles on March 14 in which he questioned Corsi's fitness on two grounds:

"1. Mr. Corsi's association with highly objectionable groups and organizations, branded as subversives by the attorney general, and his neglect to resign from such organizations after their true nature has become a matter of common knowledge proves conclusively that Mr. Corsi—to say the least and be merciful—is a person of inferior judgment;

"2. Mr. Corsi should not be entrusted with the administration of laws for which he has expressed contumacious disdain and contempt."

Lucille Ball, Desi Plan To End "Lucy" Series

HOLLYWOOD, April 15 (AP)—Lucille Ball and Desi Arnaz plan to quit making "I Love Lucy" television films in about two years. After that, a spokesman said today, they'll produce, introduce—and occasionally star in—weekly hour-long shows called "Desilu Playhouse."

"Lucy" has been on television four years.

Big Atom Blast Tests Military Equipment

Jet Drones Fly Close To Nuclear Inferno

LAS VEGAS, Nev., April 15 (AP) — A king-sized atomic explosion today tested the ability of weapons and battle vehicles to take it, while three unmanned jet planes roared close to the nuclear inferno.

All three of the QF80 jets survived the immediate blast effects above the Atomic Energy Commission proving grounds, 75 miles from here. But one crashed into nearby mountains and the other was crash-landed on a dry lake.

The AEC had anticipated losing both. Their effects data were to have parachuted to the ground.

The third drone was safely landed by its control aircraft—a DT33—at Indian Springs Air Force Base, from which they had taken off.

100 Planes Take Part

Among the 100 aircraft taking part in the atomic exercise were two F86 Sabre Jets and a Navy TF3D, which were to shoot down any drone which got out of control.

Strategic and tactical bombers and fighters of the Air Force, Navy and Marines conducted a coordinated simulated attack after the giant burst.

About 125 military observers were stationed 6½ miles from the 400-foot detonation tower. Seventeen representatives of Great Britain and Canada also witnessed the test.

Spread out across Frenchman Flat from point zero were many kinds of weapons and vehicles. The exercise was chiefly to determine their ability to withstand the searing shock of an atomic detonation.

25-Kiloton Punch

The AEC said this 44th test at the Nevada proving grounds was larger than nominal yield. A nominal blast yields about 20 kilotons, the equal of 20,000 tons of TNT. This one packed perhaps a 25-kiloton punch.

Among the battle gear subjected to the atomic lash were crates of military supplies, vehicles, fortifications and the Army's latest atomic combat uniforms.

Houston Paper Reports Vaccine "Gray Market"

HOUSTON, Tex., April 15 (AP)—The Houston Chronicle reported today a "gray market" in Salk antipolio vaccine has popped up in Houston.

The newspaper said a number of physicians reported that patients have called them to say they have the vaccine and want to be inoculated. In every case the patient bought the vaccine without a prescription.

Without exception in the reported cases, the physician has refused to administer the vaccine, pointing out to the patient that it is considered unethical to administer the vaccine without a prescription.

Temperatures Above Normal Predicted

WASHINGTON, April 15 (AP) — The Weather Bureau said today its 30-day outlook for mid April to mid May calls for temperatures to average above season normals over most of the country east of the Continental Divide except for near normal along the South Atlantic and Gulf Coasts.

The warmest departures from the seasonal normals are expected in the Midwest and Great Lakes region, the bureau said. West of the Rockies below normal temperatures are predicted.

Churchill Hears News

SIRACUSA, Sicily, April 15 (AP) — Sir Winston Churchill, vacationing here, heard by radio tonight the announcement that British elections will be held May 26.

The retired Prime Minister will stand for re-election to the House of Commons from the London suburb of Woodford.

Action To End "Uncertainty" Taken By Eden

Divided Labor Party, Challenged To Fight, "Ready And Eager"

LONDON, April 15 (AP) — Prime Minister Eden tonight called a nationwide election for May 26 to stabilize the nation after the wrench of Sir Winston Churchill's retirement.

Nine days after taking office, the new Prime Minister thus challenged the divided Labor party to a political fight that could spell the end of his administration.

Eden acted as distant storm clouds gathered on the British economic horizon.

Decision Is Broadcast

Speaking in a clear firm voice over the country's radio network and with strikebound national newspapers silent, the Prime Minister declared:

"The Parliament elected in 1951 is now in its fourth year. It is therefore not surprising that with a change of prime minister there should be expectation of a general election.

"Uncertainty at home and abroad about the political future is bad for our influence in world affairs, bad for trade, and unsettling in many ways. I believe that it is better to face this issue now."

Eden said the present Parliament would be dissolved May 6, less than three weeks after reassembling from its Easter recess, and the newly elected House of Commons would be opened in state by Queen Elizabeth on June 14.

Laborites "Ready And Eager"

Morgan Phillips, secretary of the Labor party, greeted the news with a challenging, "We are ready and eager." Former Prime Minister Clement Attlee, leader of the party, is in Canada, and the news was flashed to him at once.

The Conservatives upset Labor and came into power Oct. 25, 1951, with a majority of 17 over all other parties. Distribution of the 625 seats then was:

Conservatives and allies, 321; Labor, 295; Liberal, 6; Irish Nationalist, 2; and Irish Labor, 1.

Since then there have been 48 special elections to fill vacancies through deaths and retirement. They brought only one change—a Conservative gain from Labor at Sunderland South.

South Will Get Vaccine First

NEW YORK, April 15 (AP)—The National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis has told Salk vaccine suppliers to fill orders from "the South up." The same system was followed in last year's field trials.

The reason, Medical Director Hart E. Van Riper explained tonight, is that schools close earlier in the lower tier of Southern states and the polio season begins earlier.

Thus, southernmost states will be taken care of first, then those immediately to the north and so on toward the Canadian border.

Initial shipments, Dr. Van Riper disclosed, are only 90 per cent of the amount of vaccine needed for the first of two shots. The 10 per cent leeway the foundation is allowing itself takes into account absentees from school when the vaccine is given and those children whose parents refuse the inoculation.

Illinois Court Ruling Aids Wolfson In Ward Struggle

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., April 15 (AP) — Louis E. Wolfson gained strength in the Illinois Supreme Court today for his showdown battle with Sewell L. Avery for control of the 700-million-dollar Montgomery Ward & Co.

The court ruled all nine director positions will be up for grabs on a vote basis at the annual meeting of Ward stockholders in Chicago April 22.

The ruling was a victory for Wolfson who sued to knock out as unconstitutional Ward's system of electing only three of its nine directors each year. The court held the system unconstitutional.

This gives either side a chance to elect a majority. Under the old system Wolfson could, at best, have placed no more than three of his director candidates on the board this year.

Ward's stock jumped a point and one-half on the New York Stock Exchange after the ruling.

Both sides predicted victory in the showdown a week from today.

Edmund A. Krider, Ward's president, said the present management forces led by 81-year-old Avery, already have enough proxies to assure a majority of the director positions.

Krider reported Thursday that management holds proxies for more than 51 per cent of the 6,700,000 shares of Ward stock.

Wolfson, 43-year-old New York and Florida financier, claimed his side has four directors "in our pocket today."

In a jubilant mood, he predicted the "momentum" he said the decision created in his favor will make Avery "a minority director."

Store President Dies

PALM SPRINGS, Calif., April 15 (AP)—Edgar J. Kaufmann, president of Kaufmann's Department Store in Pittsburgh since 1924, died early today in his sleep. He was 69.

Kaufmann was living at his Palm Spring's winter home. His wife and son, Edgar Kaufmann Jr., had only recently joined him.

Arthur Godfrey Fires Mariners, Marion Marlowe, Haleloke

Red-Haired Showman Cleans House In Bid To Regain Top 10 Rating

NEW YORK, April 15 (AP)—In a bid to regain a top spot on the air, Arthur Godfrey today fired six singers—half the vocal cast of his television and radio shows. Three writers also got the ax.

"We've become top-heavy with stars," Godfrey said in an announcement that rocked the entertainment world like nothing since his much-publicized firing 18 months ago of Singer Julius La Rosa.

The Godfrey show has slipped out of the top 10 in ratings. The red-haired showman said he hopes to regain stature by changing the format, to make the program more a showcase for new talent and less patterned.

"We are going to try to break into the top 10 again with a new show," he told a reporter. "This will give more people a whack at it, give more opportunity."

The big housecleaning cost the jobs of the Mariners, a mixed Negro and white male quartet whom Godfrey once swore by; Marion Marlowe, fiancee of one of Godfrey's producers, and Haleloke, the show's little Hawaiian singer. Writers fired were Charles Horner, Preston H. Miles and Charles Slocum.

"These people have all achieved stardom and I am proud of them," Godfrey said of the singers in a formal statement through CBS. "I wish them well in every respect."

However, the suddenness of the discharges left Miss Marlowe in tears and near hysteria. Another CBS master of ceremonies, Ed Sullivan quickly signed her on his once-a-week variety show for a six weeks run at twice her salary with Godfrey.

Miss Marlowe, a brunette beauty with a normally pert personality, sobbed to Sullivan:

"I'm out of a job. I don't know why."

She told him she got $1,500 a week for six shows a week with Godfrey.

"You're a big star," Sullivan soothed the 25-year-old singer. "I will give you $3,000 for each show and a total of $18,000 for the six shows."

Miss Marlowe agreed and was signed on the spot for Sullivan's Sunday night "Toast of the Town" TV program.

Miss Marlowe last December announced her engagement to Larry Puck, 55-year-old producer at the time of two of Godfrey's shows. Simultaneously, it was disclosed that Puck was being dropped as producer of one show, although he was retained for the other.

Today's Chuckle

You can't fool all the people all the time—but then you don't have to, says the senator. A simple majority will do.

Demo Leaders Yield To South In "Oath" Fight

Compromise Would Permit Bolt Of Party Without Punishment

WASHINGTON, April 15 (AP) — Democratic leaders bowed to the South today by offering a compromise in the three-year-old "loyalty oath" fight under which most party members could bolt the presidential ticket without punishment.

With party officials talking hopefully of success in next year's election, an advisory group headed by former National Chairman Stephen A. Mitchell laid out the compromise in a confidential report to be acted upon tomorrow.

An effort to force delegates to pledge support of the party's nominees split the 1952 convention wide open. A compromise at that time called for delegates to give their best efforts toward getting names of the nominees on the ballots in all states.

Resolution Proposed

The Mitchell report proposed that the national committee adopt a resolution saying:

1. "It is the assumption and understanding" that in picking 1956 nominating convention delegates, state party organizations would undertake "to assure" that the national ticket would get on the ballot of their states under the Democratic label.

2. "That no commitments shall be required of delegates to the Democratic national convention in the absence of credentials contests . . ."

3. "That it is the duty of every member of the Democratic National Committee to declare affirmatively for the nominees of the convention and that his or her failure to do so shall be cause for the Democratic National Committee or its duly authorized subcommittee to declare his or her seat vacant."

Memorandum Offered

Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn) and former Gov. John S. Battle of Virginia, vice chairmen of the advisory group, joined with Mitchell in submitting a memorandum. Humphrey and Battle were leaders of opposing camps in the 1952 "loyalty oath" fight.

The memorandum said the "assumption" the state organizations will put the national ticket on the ballot "does not constitute a warranty or commitment by anyone as to his personal action or support."

"His conscience may require him to decide to support the opposition candidates," the memo said. "There is no attempt to consider here what would be the consequences of such activity."

President, Adm. Stump To Discuss Formosa

AUGUSTA, Ga., April 15 (AP) — President Eisenhower and Adm. Felix B. Stump, commander of the Pacific Fleet, will meet tomorrow to discuss the Formosa situation and the Far Eastern picture generally.

The President's vacation headquarters announced today that Stump will fly to Augusta from Washington, where he has been reporting to the Navy and Defense departments.

James C. Hagerty, White House press secretary, told newsmen there was no emergency bringing the admiral here. Hagerty said Eisenhower has asked Stump to fly down, but the press secretary added he looked for no major developments out of the conference.

107th Birthday Kiss

Mrs. Mary Summers, celebrating her 107th birthday, gets a kiss from her daughter, Mrs. Bessie Stewart, the only one of her three children still alive. Born in Boonesboro, Md., she married a widower at 19 and migrated west in a prairie schooner, finally locating on a cattle ranch in Oklahoma. Mrs. Summers moved to Washington in 1928.

Walter Advised Corsi Firing For 'Poor Judgment'

WASHINGTON, April 15 (AP) — Rep. Walter (D-Pa) disclosed today he had recommended that Edward Corsi be fired as "a man of very poor judgment." He said Corsi once referred to framers of the McCarran-Walter immigration Act as "Nazis" and "candidates for an insane asylum."

Walter, a co-author of the law passed in 1952 over former President Truman's veto, testified before a Senate Judiciary subcommittee investigating the row over Corsi's ouster last week as Secretary of State Dulles' adviser on immigration problems.

Corsi, scheduled to be heard later, contends Dulles yielded to Walter's demand for his dismissal because "he had to work in Congress with men like Walter."

Walter also criticized the Eisenhower administration's Refugee Relief Act of 1953 as "phony." He said Democratic lawmakers, then in the minority, were given "little opportunity" to offer suggestions.

Walter read a "strictly confidential" letter he said he wrote to Dulles on March 14 in which he questioned Corsi's fitness on two grounds:

"1. Mr. Corsi's association with highly objectionable groups and organizations, branded as subversives by the attorney general, and his neglect to resign from such organizations after their true nature has become a matter of common knowledge proves conclusively that Mr. Corsi—to say the least and be merciful—is a person of inferior judgment;

"2. Mr. Corsi should not be entrusted with the administration of laws for which he has expressed contumacious disdain and contempt."

Lucille Ball, Desi Plan To End "Lucy" Series

HOLLYWOOD, April 15 (AP)—Lucille Ball and Desi Arnaz plan to quit making "I Love Lucy" television films in about two years. After that, a spokesman said today, they'll produce, introduce—and occasionally star in—weekly hour-long shows called "Desilu Playhouse."

"Lucy" has been on television four years.

Jet Drones Fly Close To Nuclear Inferno

LAS VEGAS, Nev., April 15 (AP) — A king-sized atomic explosion today tested the ability of weapons and battle vehicles to take it, while three unmanned jet planes roared close to the nuclear inferno.

All three of the QF80 jets survived the immediate blast effects above the Atomic Energy Commission proving grounds, 75 miles from here. But one crashed into nearby mountains and the other was crash-landed on a dry lake.

The AEC had anticipated losing both. Their effects data were to have parachuted to the ground.

The third drone was safely landed by its control aircraft—a DT33—at Indian Springs Air Force Base, from which they had taken off.

100 Planes Take Part

Among the 100 aircraft taking part in the atomic exercise were two F86 Sabre Jets and a Navy TF3D, which were to shoot down any drone which got out of control.

Strategic and tactical bombers and fighters of the Air Force, Navy and Marines conducted a coordinated simulated attack after the giant burst.

About 125 military observers were stationed 6½ miles from the 400-foot detonation tower. Seventeen representatives of Great Britain and Canada also witnessed the test.

Spread out across Frenchman Flat from point zero were many kinds of weapons and vehicles. The exercise was chiefly to determine their ability to withstand the searing shock of an atomic detonation.

25-Kiloton Punch

The AEC said this 44th test at the Nevada proving grounds was larger than nominal yield. A nominal blast yields about 20 kilotons, the equal of 20,000 tons of TNT. This one packed perhaps a 25-kiloton punch.

Among the battle gear subjected to the atomic lash were crates of military supplies, vehicles, fortifications and the Army's latest atomic combat uniforms.

Houston Paper Reports Vaccine "Gray Market"

HOUSTON, Tex., April 15 (AP)—The Houston Chronicle reported today a "gray market" in Salk anti-polio vaccine has popped up in Houston.

The newspaper said a number of physicians reported that patients have called them to say they have the vaccine and want to be inoculated. In every case the patient bought the vaccine without a prescription.

Without exception in the reported cases, the physician has refused to administer the vaccine, pointing out to the patient that it is considered unethical to administer the vaccine without a prescription.

Temperatures Above Normal Predicted

WASHINGTON, April 15 (AP) — The Weather Bureau said today its 30-day outlook for mid April to mid May calls for temperatures to average above season normals over most of the country east of the Continental Divide except for near normal along the South Atlantic and Gulf Coasts.

The warmest departures from the seasonal normals are expected in the Midwest and Great Lakes region, the bureau said. West of the Rockies below normal temperatures are predicted.

Churchill Hears News

SIRACUSA, Sicily, April 15 (AP) — Sir Winston Churchill, vacationing here, heard by radio tonight the announcement that British elections will be held May 26.

The retired Prime Minister will stand for re-election to the House of Commons from the London suburb of Woodford.

Action To End "Uncertainty" Taken By Eden

Divided Labor Party, Challenged To Fight, "Ready And Eager"

LONDON, April 15 (AP) — Prime Minister Eden tonight called a nationwide election for May 26 to stabilize the nation after the wrench of Sir Winston Churchill's retirement.

Nine days after taking office, the new Prime Minister thus challenged the divided Labor party to a political fight that could spell the end of his administration.

Eden acted as distant storm clouds gathered on the British economic horizon.

Decision Is Broadcast

Speaking in a clear firm voice over the country's radio network and with strikebound national newspapers silent, the Prime Minister declared:

"The Parliament elected in 1951 is now in its fourth year. It is therefore not surprising that with a change of prime minister there should be expectation of a general election.

"Uncertainty at home and abroad about the political future is bad for our influence in world affairs, bad for trade, and unsettling in many ways. I believe that it is better to face this issue now."

Eden said the present Parliament would be dissolved May 6, less than three weeks after reassembling from its Easter recess, and the newly elected House of Commons would be opened in state by Queen Elizabeth on June 14.

Laborites "Ready And Eager"

Morgan Phillips, secretary of the Labor party, greeted the news with a challenging, "We are ready and eager." Former Prime Minister Clement Attlee, leader of the party, is in Canada, and the news was flashed to him at once.

The Conservatives upset Labor and came into power Oct. 25, 1951, with a majority of 17 over all other parties. Distribution of the 625 seats then was:

Conservatives and allies, 321; Labor, 295; Liberal, 6; Irish Nationalist, 2; and Irish Labor, 1.

Since then there have been 48 special elections to fill vacancies through deaths and retirement. They brought only one change—a Conservative gain from Labor at Sunderland South.

South Will Get Vaccine First

NEW YORK, April 15 (AP)—The National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis has told Salk vaccine suppliers to fill orders from "the South up." The same system was followed in last year's field trials.

The reason, Medical Director Hart E. Van Riper explained tonight, is that schools close earlier in the lower tier of Southern states and the polio season begins earlier.

Thus, southernmost states will be taken care of first, then those immediately to the north and so on toward the Canadian border.

Initial shipments, Dr. Van Riper disclosed, are only 90 per cent of the amount of vaccine needed for the first of two shots. The 10 per cent leeway the foundation is allowing itself takes into account absentees from school when the vaccine is given and those children whose parents refuse the inoculation.

Illinois Court Ruling Aids Wolfson In Ward Struggle

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., April 15 (AP) — Louis E. Wolfson gained strength in the Illinois Supreme Court today for his showdown battle with Sewell L. Avery for control of the 700-million-dollar Montgomery Ward & Co.

The court ruled all nine director positions will be up for grabs on a vote basis at the annual meeting of Ward stockholders in Chicago April 22.

The ruling was a victory for Wolfson who sued to knock out as unconstitutional Ward's system of electing only three of its nine directors each year. The court held the system unconstitutional.

This gives either side a chance to elect a majority. Under the old system Wolfson could, at best, have placed no more than three of his director candidates on the board this year.

Ward's stock jumped a point and one-half on the New York Stock Exchange after the ruling.

Both sides predicted victory in the showdown a week from today.

Edmund A. Krider, Ward's president, said the present management forces led by 81-year-old Avery, already have enough proxies to assure a majority of the director positions.

Krider reported Thursday that management holds proxies for more than 51 per cent of the 6,700,000 shares of Ward stock.

Wolfson, 43-year-old New York and Florida financier, claimed his side has four directors "in our pocket today."

In a jubilant mood, he predicted the "momentum" he said the decision created in his favor will make Avery "a minority director."

Store President Dies

PALM SPRINGS, Calif., April 15 (AP)—Edgar J. Kaufmann, president of Kaufmann's Department Store in Pittsburgh since 1924, died early today in his sleep. He was 69.

Kaufmann was living at his Palm Spring's winter home. His wife and son, Edgar Kaufmann Jr., had only recently joined him.

Red-Haired Showman Cleans House In Bid To Regain Top 10 Rating

NEW YORK, April 15 (AP)—In a bid to regain a top spot on the air, Arthur Godfrey today fired six singers—half the vocal cast of his television and radio shows. Three writers also got the ax.

"We've become top-heavy with stars," Godfrey said in an announcement that rocked the entertainment world like nothing since his much-publicized firing 18 months ago of Singer Julius La Rosa.

The Godfrey show has slipped out of the top 10 in ratings. The red-haired showman said he hopes to regain stature by changing the format, to make the program more a showcase for new talent and less patterned.

"We are going to try to break into the top 10 again with a new show," he told a reporter. "This will give more people a whack at it, give more opportunity."

The big housecleaning cost the jobs of the Mariners, a mixed Negro and white male quartet whom Godfrey once swore by; Marion Marlowe, fiancee of one of Godfrey's producers, and Haleloke, the show's little Hawaiian singer. Writers fired were Charles Horner, Preston H. Miles and Charles Slocum.

"These people have all achieved stardom and I am proud of them," Godfrey said of the singers in a formal statement through CBS. "I wish them well in every respect."

However, the suddenness of the discharges left Miss Marlowe in tears and near hysteria. Another CBS master of ceremonies, Ed Sullivan quickly signed her on his once-a-week variety show for a six weeks run at twice her salary with Godfrey.

Miss Marlowe, a brunette beauty with a normally pert personality, sobbed to Sullivan:

"I'm out of a job. I don't know why."

She told him she got $1,500 a week for six shows a week with Godfrey.

"You're a big star," Sullivan soothed the 25-year-old singer. "I will give you $3,000 for each show and a total of $18,000 for the six shows."

Miss Marlowe agreed and was signed on the spot for Sullivan's Sunday night "Toast of the Town" TV program.

Miss Marlowe last December announced her engagement to Larry Puck, 55-year-old producer at the time of two of Godfrey's shows. Simultaneously, it was disclosed that Puck was being dropped as producer of one show, although he was retained for the other.

Today's Chuckle

You can't fool all the people all the time—but then you don't have to, says the senator. A simple majority will do.

Honors And Awards Showered On Salk

Fund Of Thanks For Polio Conqueror Started

By The Associated Press

Honors, awards, prayers and the humble thanks of a grateful world are showering about the thin shoulders of Dr. Jonas Salk, the man who conquered polio.

The dramatic announcement Tuesday that Salk's polio vaccine can virtually end the crippling scourge was received as a blessing everywhere.

ADMITS KILLING SIX — Leslie Irvin, 30, a paroled ex-convict, is being held by police in Evansville, Ind., for the execution-slayings of six persons. According to authorities, Irvin reportedly admitted the killings of three persons in Indiana and three others in nearby Kentucky, which started out as burglaries. All of the victims, shot through the head, were found kneeling and the hands of four of them were tied behind their backs.

Salk, a modest, hard-working 40-year-old University of Pittsburgh scientist, gets no money from his great work. The vaccine is not patented. It belongs to the Americans who made it possible through the March of Dimes. It belongs to the world.

Fund Of Thanks

In Richmond, Va., sales engineer M. B. McReynolds proposed a fund of thanks for Salk. He mailed a dollar for each of the three members of his family to Salk.

McReynolds struck a chord in many hearts. This, he said, was the least he could do for a man who received "not a red cent besides his meager college pay."

The New York Daily Mirror snapped up McReynolds' idea. In an editorial today, the newspaper proposed a three-month campaign asking its readers to send dollar contributions to a Salk fund.

In Mount Vernon, Ill., the Junior Chamber of Commerce mailed an $85 thank you gift—a dollar from each of its members.

In Hohokus, N. J., a "nonorganized Citizens Committee to Thank Dr. Salk" sprang up. A real estate man painted "Thank you, Dr. Salk," in foot high letters on his office window.

In Winnipeg, Canada, radio station CKY asked listeners to send in dimes for a thank-you telegram to Salk.

$10,000 Award Winner

Salk was named 1955 winner of the $10,000 Mutual of Omaha Criss Award and gold medal. His accomplishment "may well be the greatest contribution to medicine in our generation," the announcement said.

Other less tangible rewards were legion. Five Central American republics said they would decorate Salk in a Washington ceremony. They were El Salvador, Guatemala, Honduras, Costa Rica, and Nicaragua.

This Sunday, Chicago Protestant churchgoers will offer prayers of gratitude.

In Congress, Rep. Derounian (R-NY) introduced a bill to award a medal "to this great doctor and humanitarian for his brilliant achievement."

Sen. Barrett (R-Wyo) asked Congress to authorize a special 10-cent piece, to bear Salk's profile and the words "liberty. . .polio. . .victory."

Baltimore Joins State In Asking High Court Segregation Decision

BALTIMORE, April 15 (AP) — The City of Baltimore joined the State of Maryland today in asking the U.S. Supreme Court to decide the question of racial segregation in publicly owned bathing beaches and swimming pools.

Federal Judge Roszel C. Thomsen ruled in Baltimore several months ago that the Supreme Court's decision banning segregation in public schools did not apply to recreation facilities.

The U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in Richmond reversed Judge Thomsen and gave the State and city until May 1 to appeal.

The State announced Wednesday it would appeal the ruling concerning its Sandy Point State Park on the Chesapeake Bay just above Annapolis.

Baltimore City is appealing the ruling as it concerns its Ft. Smallwood park and beach, south of the city on Chesapeake Bay, and also municipal swimming pools.

Status Of Former Red Witnesses Changed

WASHINGTON, April 15 (AP)—The Justice Department said today it has stopped classifying its former Communist witnesses as regular "consultants."

In the main, they now rate simply as "witnesses" on a call basis which, for many, means a substantial reduction in pay.

The rate for a consultant ranges up to $25 a day during periods when his services are required. A government witness normally gets only $4 a day, plus expenses, while being used. However, a witness who qualifies for expert testimony, as former Reds frequently do, may be paid up to $50 a day and possibly more.

West Proposes Talks On German Red Truck Tax

BONN, Germany, April 15 (AP) — The Western Big Three tonight proposed a four-power meeting with Russia on the high commission level to discuss reducing increased Communist taxes on trucks carrying supplies to West Berlin.

The West called the tax boosts "exorbitant" and said they gave the appearance of setting up a new blockade.

In identical notes to the Russians, the three Western high commissioners declared "Soviet authorities are responsible for insuring" that the increased taxes on truck traffic into isolated Berlin "are withdrawn without delay." They proposed that American, British, French and Russian high commissioners meet in Berlin "as soon as possible to discuss the settlement of this problem."

The East German government today formally notified the Western Allies of its decision to take unspecified "security measures" against West Berlin.

The Communists have called West Berlin the West's "main spy nest."

The official ADN news agency said an East German Cabinet resolution on "measures against the criminal plots of the imperialistic warmongers and their espionage agencies" was delivered to the Berlin offices of the Western Allied High Commissions.

There was no immediate comment from Allied authorities.

The Western note said:

"The arbitrary action of the East German authorities in imposing the exorbitant increases, on which there was no prior consultation with the West German experts, is clearly inconsistent with the Soviet government's undertakings, since it interferes with the 'normal functioning' of road transport in the Soviet zone."

They noted that the agreement of 1949 ending the blockade of Berlin guaranteed "the normal functioning and utilization of rail water and road transport" between West Germany and Berlin.

Communist East Germany boosted the taxes on the vital truck traffic into Soviet-surrounded Berlin from West Germany on April 1. They increase the cost of supplying the city by truck more than five million dollars a year. Trucks carry about 44 per cent of West Berlin's supplies.

The Communists said the money is needed to keep roads in repair. West German officials have assailed the boost as an "economic blockade" and the Western occupying powers called it "politically inspired."

German Experts Urge Revamping Of NATO Plans

BONN, Germany, April 15 (AP) — German military experts are urging complete revamping of NATO strategy to prevent West Germany becoming a battlefield again.

A campaign for a new plan to stop Russian tanks at West Germany's eastern border received new impetus today. The influential weekly Soldaten Zeitung threw its weight behind the idea.

The West German press is becoming increasingly critical of present NATO plans. These call for highly mobile Western forces to steer Russian divisions into areas were they can be atom bombed out of existence. This, German critics say, would make thickly populated West Germany a battlefield twice.

First, they say, there would be the Russian advance. Then would come the counterattack.

To prevent this, they urge that new new German forces man a strongly fortified antitank line along the Iron Curtain to stop any Russian advance into West Germany. They want Western divisions kept in reserve to drive the Russians back into East Germany after the Red assault has been cut to pieces by the German defenders.

Ousted Professor Loses Court Suit For Reinstatement

KANSAS CITY, April 15 (AP)—A university professor who was fired for refusing to say whether he was a Communist today lost a federal court suit for reinstatement on the faculty of the University of Kansas City.

Federal Judge Charles E. Whitaker said university officials not only had a legal right to fire Dr. Horace B. Davis for refusing to answer questions about Communist party membership but "would have been derelict in their duties and would have destroyed the university had they not dismissed him." He dismissed Davis' suit for a mandatory injunction ordering reinstatement.

The associate professor of economics was fired Dec. 17, 1953, after he had refused to answer questions both at a Senate subcommittee hearing in Chicago in June 1953, and at an inquiry by university trustees two months later.

The area of Great Britain is more than the combined area of Pennsylvania, Ohio and Delaware.

Probe Told Aid Contract Won By Intimidation

WASHINGTON, April 15 (AP) — Senators investigating the Pakistan grain storage ruckus heard testimony today that a California firm used political intimidation in its successful effort to get a $2,400,000 foreign aid contract.

The firm was named by Howard P. Morrison, an official of the Foreign Operations Administration, as the Agricultural Construction Co. —Tacco—of Los Angeles.

Morrison appeared before the Investigations subcommittee after another witness, Robert H. Pinner, admitted he lied under oath when he told the senators he never fed inside information on the Pakistan project to Alfred E. Poulsen, Tacco vice president.

Pinner is a private engineer sent to Pakistan to survey the situation for FOA. In tears at one point, he said he saw nothing wrong about sending data back to Poulsen. He said he gave the same information later to other bidders on the grain storage facilities.

The committee is trying to find out why FOA decided to negotiate a contract with Tacco when Tacco's bid was about a million dollars higher than the one submitted by the Columbian Steel Tank Co of Kansas City, Mo.

FOA chief Harold E. Stassen threw out all bids and ordered a new start on the project after the selection of Tacco was challenged by Sen. Symington (D-Mo) and others.

Morrison said today Tacco's board chairman, W. G. Herron, "informed me of the many people he knew in Congress" and indicated he would bring Capitol pressure if Tacco failed to get the contract. Morrison said he himself steadfastly opposed awarding a contract on a negotiated basis.

Sabotage Reported In Train Derailment

NASHVILLE, Tenn., April 15 (AP) — The northbound Dixie Flyer, passenger train of the strike-crippled Nashville Chattanooga and St. Louis Railway, was derailed near here tonight. A railroad detective said the derailment was "undoubtedly sabotage."

Some of the estimated 30 passengers aboard were shaken up but no injuries were reported, beyond a few minor scratches.

Tom Dunn, railway detective, said the derailment was "undoubtedly sabotate." Spikes had been pulled from the inside rail on the outside of a curve. Several plates bolting rails together also had been removed and tossed into a ditch, the state highway patrol reported.

AEC Chairman Sees Hope For Radiation Protection

WASHINGTON, April 15 (AP) — Chairman Lewis L. Strauss of the Atomic Energy Commission said today there is some hope of developing protection against the deadly fallout from hydrogen bomb explosions.

Strauss told the Senate-House Committee on Atomic Energy the greatest radiological authorities in the country are working on the problem, adding:

"A good deal of promising experimental work is being carried on by the commission looking toward the protection of cell structures from radiation."

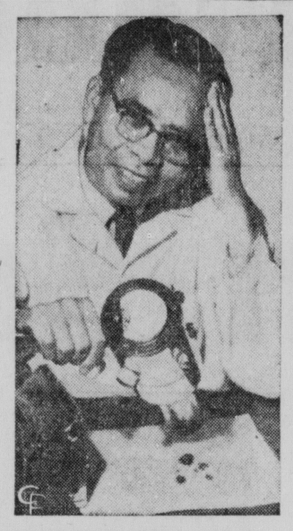
Strauss and other top AEC officials went before the committee mainly in an effort to allay fears that harmful radiation is being loosed by the current atomic weapon tests in Nevada. One such device—a big one—was set off today.

Strauss acknowledged AEC itself may have stirred up some exaggerated fears by its disclosure that radioactive ash from a hydrogen bomb could spread death over a 7,000-square-mile area.

But he said the Bikini bomb on which that figure was based was thousands of times more powerful than the ones being tested in Nevada.

Dr. John C. Bugher, director of AEC's division of biology and medicine, said the harmful effects of radioactivity on the people of the United States "to the extent that they occur at all, are very small."

Bugher said it is impossible to trace "any effect whatever on the general health" to the atomic weapon blasts.



SOMEONE'S RICH — Chemist Roger Loh of the San Joaquin Research laboratory in Stockton, Calif., is shown with samples of pitchblende brought in 10 years ago, when tin was scare after fall of Singapore. It proved of no value then, and was forgotten. But now, under a scintillometer, it made the needle jump off the dial. The ore is estimated to contain 8 per cent uranium, which makes the ore worth 70 cents a pound. Name of the prospector is unknown, but if he can be found, he's a millionaire.

Asian, African Delegates Head For Conference

BANDUNG, Indonesia, April 15 (AP)—Top government leaders converged on this old Dutch mountain resort today for the opening of next week's conference of 29 Asian and African countries. Cross currents already are pointing up conflicts with Western policies.

No Americans or Europeans were invited as delegates. In speeches to be made the first two days, the United States and her Western Allies undoubtedly will be blasted by Communist or neutralist representatives critical of regional military groupings.

The United States, Britain and France also are likely to be attacked by some Asian and African spokesmen who contend Western forms of economic assistance represent a form of colonialism.

But the Western nations have a hardy champion in Brig. Gen. Carlos P. Romulo of the Philippines, a veteran in hardknuckle debate. He said on his arrival he is "prepared to meet all comers" if alliances with the West are condemned.

In advance of the conference's opening Monday, four men who will play leading roles shaped their viewpoints in private meetings today at Rangoon, Burma. They are India's Prime Minister Nehru and Premiers Chou En-lai of Communist China, Nasser of Egypt, and U Nu of Burma.

Between 600 and 1,000 official delegates will speak their minds on how best to improve backward economies, neutrality between East and West power blocs, colonialism, racialism and the United Nations.

For three days airliners into Indonesia have been packed with delegates, their aides, observers and newsmen who are swamping housing and eating facilities in this city 75 miles southeast of Jakarta.

Nehru and Nasser took off this morning for Rangoon from New Delhi, where since Tuesday they have been discussing their positions at this conference.

San Diego Children Get "Shots" Today

SAN DIEGO, Calif., April 15 (AP) —Thirty thousand San Diego children will get Salk polio vaccine shots tomorrow.

Doctors believe the mass inoculation here will be the first in the nation since effectiveness of the vaccine was announced Tuesday.

Vaccine enough for the first shots arrived here today by air from Cutter Laboratories, Berkeley, Calif.

First and second graders will get the shots free.

State Education Conference Set June 24 And 25

BALTIMORE, April 15 (AP)—More than 50 of the state's leading citizens met here today and set the dimensions for a "Maryland Conference on Education" June 24-25.

They decided to invite 500 delegates to the two days of talks panel discussions, and round table conferences which will take up the problems confronting public education in Maryland.

Their findings and recommendations will be taken to Washington for the White House Conference on Education called by President Eisenhower for Nov. 29.

Maryland will send 20 delegates to the conference in Washington.

The planning committee today adopted a specification that at least two-thirds of them be laymen, the other professional educators.

A similar pattern will be followed in naming the 500 to participate in the Maryland Conference here in June.

The planning committee included legislators, county commissioners, school superintendents, school board members, state and county leaders of the parent-teacher associations, teachers, city officials, heads of farm and labor groups, and representatives of parochial schools.

Among those on the planning committee which met today are:

Mrs. Mary Martin of Mountain Lake Park, Mrs. Stanley Buckley of LaVale, and Del. Noel Speir Cook of Cumberland.

Edward Holter of Middletown, master of the State Grange, and Drm Andrew S. Truxal, president of Hood College at Frederick.

Walter V. Bennett, a Carroll County commissioner.

Mrs. Fred L. Bull of College Park, president of the Maryland Congress of Parents and Teachers and Del. Perry O. Wilkinson of Hyattsville.

Leslie M. Abbe of Rockville, and Myron S. Isaacs and Mrs. L. O. Regeimbal of Silver Spring.

Mrs. Burgess Chaney of Chesapeake Beach, State Sen. James B. Monroe of Waldorf, and Alfred Toombs of Colton Point.

Dr. David S. Jenkins, Anne Arundel County superintendent of schools, Charles Della of Pasadena and Edward H. Johns of Glen Burnie.

Mrs. John Andrews of Crisfield, Harry T. Phebus Jr. of Princess Anne, State Sen. Mary L. Nock of Salisbury, Baker robbins, a Dorchester County commissioner, and Charles Cornish of Cambridge, Mrs. William Littlewood of Riverview, State Sen. Layman J. Redden of Denton, Dr. Reginald V. Truitt of Stevensville, Walter Morris of Chestertown and Dr. James L. Johnson of Elkton.

General's Son To Stand Trial

HYATTSVILLE, Md., April 15 (AP) —The son of an Air Force general is going to try to prove his innocence to serious traffic charges for which he forfeited collateral 16 months ago.

He's David Hodge Baker, 24, son of Maj. Gen. David H. Baker. He has found the forfeiting of collateral — generally considered the same as a guilty plea—will prevent him from getting an Air Force commission. He has been taking Reserve Officers Training Corps courses at the University of Maryland.

A Prince Georges County court set aside the forfeiture yesterday so he can stand trial on May 16.

Baker was accused of driving under the influence of alcohol, reckless driving by colliding and failure to stop after a property damage accident.

In his petition for a trial he said he did not stay to contest the charges because of the following day he received "the most urgent message indicating that his mother was seriously ill" in Ohio. He also said he did not understand the effect of the forfeiture and supposed that was the end of the matter.

Europe accounts for approximately 45 per cent of the world coal output.

Native Of Boonesboro Marks 107th Birthday

WASHINGTON, April 15 (AP) — A woman who migrated to the West in a prairie schooner celebrated her 107th birthday today.

Mrs. Mary Summers, born in Boonesboro, Md., was 19 when she married a widower and started on a trip that took them through Colorado, Nebraska and Kansas. That was in 1867.

Mrs. Summers had three children. She lives here with the youngest, Mrs. Bessie Stewart—the only one alive.

One episode Mrs. Summers remembers was when her husband was laying track for a railroad. They got in a dispute with the railroad commissary over a purchase and his pay was held up. Mrs. Summers marched into the paymaster's office, pulled out a gun and said: "I want my husband's pay! It's either money or bullets." She got the money.

Hagerstown's Residents To Aid In Parking Survey

HAGERSTOWN, April 15 (AP)—The biggest quiz session in local memory begins April 19 in an attempt to find cures for this city's parking indigestion.

More than 50,000 persons may provide facts in the course of a four-day survey throughout the business section and its fringe areas.

Municipal and business interests are combining forces to make possible the parking study that will continue April 21, 22 and 23 during shopping hours. The traffic committee of the city government and the Hagerstown Retailers Bureau will use the survey to learn how people reach the business section, what they do with their cars when they drive to town and how much parking space is available.

Prepared for the survey are 50,000 cards which persons in the business district will use to provide facts during the four days.

Merchants are lending 14 employes to do interviewing from seven stations to gain more detailed information. Space by space counts will be made of every parking spot in a 20-block area.

The parking situation here is at least as bad as it is in other Maryland cities and it promises to grow worse. The State Roads Commission plans to permit parking on only one side of two business district streets when improvements are made to U. S. 40 in the Hagerstown area, causing the loss of dozens of parking spots.

Henry Barnes, Baltimore Traffic director, has agreed to help analyze findings from the survey.

About seven gallons of water a day is drunk by 100 laying hens.

Navy Fails In Its Two-Year Attempt To Control Weather

NEW YORK, April 15 (AP)—A two-year Navy attempt to alter the weather along the East Coast by seeding storm clouds has flopped.

"The experiment lent no support to the theory that seeding can make, break or change a storm in a big way," was the official report today from New York University, which evaluated the tests.

The Navy's motives in tinkering with nature were hush hush. But, obviously, control of the weather would provide a vital military advantage in war time.

The seeding test with dry ice and chemicals was conducted on storms of potential strength as they moved along the East Coast between Florida and Massachusetts. Thirty-seven storms were studied in the winters of 1953 and 1954.

New York City spent about $50,000 on a rainmaker to try to break the 1950 drought that endangered its water supply. He reported limited success from his cloud seeding.

Dr. Jerome Spar, 36-year-old New York University scientist in charge of the naval experiment, said localized seeding of this type might work, but added:

"There is no evidence of any large-scale meteorological effects due to seeding."

The NYU College of Engineering conducted the experiment. It was sponsored by the Office of Naval Research.

The test was known as "Operation Scud."

Honors And Awards Showered On Salk

Fund Of Thanks For Polio Conqueror Started

By The Associated Press

Honors, awards, prayers and the humble thanks of a grateful world are showering about the thin shoulders of Dr. Jonas Salk, the man who conquered polio.

The dramatic announcement Tuesday that Salk's polio vaccine can virtually end the crippling scourge was received as a blessing everywhere.

ADMITS KILLING SIX — Leslie Irvin, 30, a paroled ex-convict, is being held by police in Evansville, Ind., for the execution-slayings of six persons. According to authorities, Irvin reportedly admitted the killings of three persons in Indiana and three others in nearby Kentucky, which started out as burglaries. All of the victims, shot through the head, were found kneeling and the hands of four of them were tied behind their backs.

Salk, a modest, hard-working 40-year-old University of Pittsburgh scientist, gets no money from his great work. The vaccine is not patented. It belongs to the Americans who made it possible through the March of Dimes. It belongs to the world.

Fund Of Thanks

In Richmond, Va., sales engineer M. B. McReynolds proposed a fund of thanks for Salk. He mailed a dollar for each of the three members of his family to Salk..

McReynolds struck a chord in many hearts. This, he said, was the least he could do for a man who received "not a red cent besides his meager college pay."

The New York Daily Mirror snapped up McReynolds' idea. In an editorial today, the newspaper proposed a three-month campaign asking its readers to send dollar contributions to a Salk fund.

In Mount Vernon, Ill., the Junior Chamber of Commerce mailed an $85 thank you gift—a dollar from each of its members.

In Hohokus, N. J., a "nonorganized Citizens Committee to Thank Dr. Salk" sprang up. A real estate man painted "Thank you, Dr. Salk," in foot high letters on his office window.

In Winnipeg, Canada, radio station CKY asked listeners to send in dimes for a thank-you telegram to Salk.

$10,000 Award Winner

Salk was named 1955 winner of the $10,000 Mutual of Omaha Criss Award and gold medal. His accomplishment "may well be the greatest contribution to medicine in our generation," the announcement said.

Other less tangible rewards were legion. Five Central American republics said they would decorate Salk in a Washington ceremony. They were El Salvador, Guatemala, Honduras, Costa Rica, and Nicaragua.

This Sunday, Chicago Protestant churchgoers will offer prayers of gratitude.

In Congress, Rep. Derounian (R-NY) introduced a bill to award a medal "to this great doctor and humanitarian for his brilliant achievement."

Sen. Barrett (R-Wyo) asked Congress to authorize a special 10-cent piece, to bear Salk's profile and the words "liberty. . .polio. . .victory."

Baltimore Joins State In Asking High Court Segregation Decision

BALTIMORE, April 15 (AP) — The City of Baltimore joined the State of Maryland today in asking the U.S. Supreme Court to decide the question of racial segregation in publicly owned bathing beaches and swimming pools.

Federal Judge Roszel C. Thomsen ruled in Baltimore several months ago that the Supreme Court's decision banning segregation in public schools did not apply to recreation facilities.

The U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in Richmond reversed Judge Thomsen and gave the State and city until May 1 to appeal.

The State announced Wednesday it would appeal the ruling concerning its Sandy Point State Park on the Chesapeake Bay just above Annapolis.

Baltimore City is appealing the ruling as it concerns its Ft. Smallwood park and beach, south of the city on Chesapeake Bay, and also municipal swimming pools.

Status Of Former Red Witnesses Changed

WASHINGTON, April 15 (AP)—The Justice Department said today it has stopped classifying its former Communist witnesses as regular "consultants."

In the main, they now rate simply as "witnesses" on a call basis which, for many means a substantial reduction in pay.

The rate for a consultant ranges up to $25 a day during periods when his services are required. A government witness normally gets only $4 a day, plus expenses, while being used. However, a witness who qualifies for expert testimony, as former Reds frequently do, may be paid up to $50 a day and possibly more.

West Proposes Talks On German Red Truck Tax

BONN, Germany, April 15 (AP) — The Western Big Three tonight proposed a four-power meeting with Russia on the high commission level to discuss reducing increased Communist taxes on trucks carrying supplies to West Berlin.

The West called the tax boosts "exorbitant" and said they gave the appearance of setting up a new blockade.

In identical notes to the Russians, the three Western high commissioners declared "Soviet authorities are responsible for insuring" that the increased taxes on truck traffic into isolated Berlin "are withdrawn without delay." They proposed that American, British, French and Russian high commissioners meet in Berlin "as soon as possible to discuss the settlement of this problem."

The East German government today formally notified the Western Allies of its decision to take unspecified "security measures" against West Berlin.

The Communists have called West Berlin the West's "main spy nest."

The official ADN news agency said an East German Cabinet resolution on "measures against the criminal plots of the imperialistic warmongers and their espionage agencies" was delivered to the Berlin offices of the Western Allied High Commissions.

There was no immediate comment from Allied authorities.

The Western note said:

"The arbitrary action of the East German authorities in imposing the exorbitant increases, on which there was no prior consultation with the West German experts, is clearly inconsistent with the Soviet government's undertakings, since it interferes with the 'normal functioning' of road transport in the Soviet zone."

They noted that the agreement of 1949 ending the blockade of Berlin guaranteed "the normal functioning and utilization of rail water and road transport" between West Germany and Berlin.

Communist East Germany boosted the taxes on the vital truck traffic into Soviet-surrounded Berlin from West Germany on April 1. They increase the cost of supplying the city by truck more than five million dollars a year. Trucks carry about 44 per cent of West Berlin's supplies.

The Communists said the money is needed to keep roads in repair. West German officials have assailed the boost as an "economic blockade" and the Western occupying powers called it "politically inspired."

German Experts Urge Revamping Of NATO Plans

BONN, Germany, April 15 (AP) — German military experts are urging complete revamping of NATO strategy to prevent West Germany becoming a battlefield again.

A campaign for a new plan to stop Russian tanks at West Germany's eastern border received new impetus today. The influential weekly Soldaten Zeitung threw its weight behind the idea.

The West German press is becoming increasingly critical of present NATO plans. These call for highly mobile Western forces to steer Russian divisions into areas were they can be atom bombed out of existence. This, German critics say, would make thickly populated West Germany a battlefield twice.

First, they say, there would be the Russian advance. Then would come the counterattack.

To prevent this, they urge that new new German forces man a strongly fortified antitank line along the Iron Curtain to stop any Russian advance into West Germany. They want Western divisions kept in reserve to drive the Russians back into East Germany after the Red assault has been cut to pieces by the German defenders.

Ousted Professor Loses Court Suit For Reinstatement

KANSAS CITY, April 15 (AP)—A university professor who was fired for refusing to say whether he was a Communist today lost a federal court suit for reinstatement on the faculty of the University of Kansas City.

Federal Judge Charles E. Whitaker said university officials not only had a legal right to fire Dr. Horace B. Davis for refusing to answer questions about Communist party membership but "would have been derelict in their duties and would have destroyed the university had they not dismissed him." He dismissed Davis' suit for a mandatory injunction ordering reinstatement.

The associate professor of economics was fired Dec. 17, 1953, after he had refused to answer questions both at a Senate subcommittee hearing in Chicago in June 1953, and at an inquiry by university trustees two months later.

The area of Great Britain is more than the combined area of Pennsylvania, Ohio and Delaware.

AEC Chairman Sees Hope For Radiation Protection

WASHINGTON, April 15 (AP) — Chairman Lewis L. Strauss of the Atomic Energy Commission said today there is some hope of developing protection against the deadly fallout from hydrogen bomb explosions.

Strauss told the Senate-House Committee on Atomic Energy the greatest radiological authorities in the country are working on the problem, adding:

"A good deal of promising experimental work is being carried on by the commission looking toward the protection of cell structures from radiation."

Strauss and other top AEC officials went before the committee mainly in an effort to allay fears that harmful radiation is being loosed by the current atomic weapon tests in Nevada. One such device—a big one—was set off today.

Strauss acknowledged AEC itself may have stirred up some exaggerated fears by its disclosure that radioactive ash from a hydrogen bomb could spread death over a 7,000-square-mile area.

But he said the Bikini bomb on which that figure was based was thousands of times more powerful than the ones being tested in Nevada.

Dr. John C. Bugher, director of AEC's division of biology and medicine, said the harmful effects of radioactivity on the people of the United States "to the extent that they occur at all, are very small."

Bugher said it is impossible to trace "any effect whatever on the general health" to the atomic weapon blasts.

SOMEONE'S RICH — Chemist Roger Loh of the San Joaquin Research laboratory in Stockton, Calif., is shown with samples of pitchblende brought in 10 years ago, when tin was scare after fall of Singapore. It proved of no value then, and was forgotten. But now, under a scintillometer, it made the needle jump off the dial. The ore is estimated to contain 8 per cent uranium, which makes the ore worth 70 cents a pound. Name of the prospector is unknown, but if he can be found, he's a millionaire.

Asian, African Delegates Head For Conference

BANDUNG, Indonesia, April 15 (AP)—Top government leaders converged on this old Dutch mountain resort today for the opening of next week's conference of 29 Asian and African countries. Cross currents already are pointing up conflicts with Western policies.

No Americans or Europeans were invited as delegates. In speeches to be made the first two days, the United States and her Western Allies undoubtedly will be blasted by Communist or neutralist representatives critical of regional military groupings.

The United States, Britain and France also are likely to be attacked by some Asian and African spokesmen who contend Western forms of economic assistance represent a form of colonialism.

But the Western nations have a hardy champion in Brig. Gen. Carlos P. Romulo of the Philippines, a veteran in hardknuckle debate. He said on his arrival he is "prepared to meet all comers" if alliances with the West are condemned.

In advance of the conference's opening Monday, four men who will play leading roles shaped their viewpoints in private meetings today at Rangoon, Burma. They are India's Prime Minister Nehru and Premiers Chou En-lai of Communist China, Nasser of Egypt, and U Nu of Burma.

Between 600 and 1,000 official delegates will speak their minds on how best to improve backward economies, neutrality between East and West power blocs, colonialism, racialism and the United Nations.

For three days airliners into Indonesia have been packed with delegates, their aides, observers and newsmen who are swamping housing and eating facilities in this city 75 miles southeast of Jakarta.

Nehru and Nasser took off this morning for Rangoon from New Delhi, where since Tuesday they have been discussing their positions at this conference.

San Diego Children Get "Shots" Today

SAN DIEGO, Calif., April 15 (AP) —Thirty thousand San Diego children will get Salk polio vaccine shots tomorrow.

Doctors believe the mass inoculation here will be the first in the nation since effectiveness of the vaccine was announced Tuesday.

Vaccine enough for the first shots arrived here today by air from Cutter Laboratories, Berkeley, Calif.

First and second graders will get the shots free.

Probe Told Aid Contract Won By Intimidation

WASHINGTON, April 15 (AP) — Senators investigating the Pakistan grain storage ruckus heard testimony today that a California firm used political intimidation in its successful effort to get a $2,400,000 foreign aid contract.

The firm was named by Howard P. Morrison, an official of the Foreign Operations Administration, as the Agricultural Construction Co. —Tacco—of Los Angeles.

Morrison appeared before the Investigations subcommittee after another witness, Robert H. Pinner, admitted he lied under oath when he told the senators he never fed inside information on the Pakistan project to Alfred E. Poulsen, Tacco vice president.

Pinner is a private engineer sent to Pakistan to survey the situation for FOA. In tears at one point, he said he saw nothing wrong about sending data back to Poulsen. He said he gave the same information later to other bidders on the grain storage facilities.

The committee is trying to find out why FOA decided to negotiate a contract with Tacco when Tacco's bid was about a million dollars higher than the one submitted by the Columbian Steel Tank Co of Kansas City, Mo.

FOA chief Harold E. Stassen threw out all bids and ordered a new start on the project after the selection of Tacco was challenged by Sen. Symington (D-Mo) and others.

Morrison said today Tacco's board chairman, W. G. Herron, "informed me of the many people he knew in Congress" and indicated he would bring Capitol pressure if Tacco failed to get the contract. Morrison said he himself steadfastly opposed awarding a contract on a negotiated basis.

Sabotage Reported In Train Derailment

NASHVILLE, Tenn., April 15 (AP) — The northbound Dixie Flyer, passenger train of the strike-crippled Nashville Chattanooga and St. Louis Railway, was derailed near here tonight. A railroad detective said the derailment was "undoubtedly sabotage."

Some of the estimated 30 passengers aboard were shaken up but no injuries were reported, beyond a few minor scratches.

Tom Dunn, railway detective, said the derailment was "undoubtedly sabotate." Spikes had been pulled from the inside rail on the outside of a curve. Several plates bolting rails together also had been removed and tossed into a ditch, the state highway patrol reported.

State Education Conference Set June 24 And 25

BALTIMORE, April 15 (AP)—More than 50 of the state's leading citizens met here today and set the dimensions for a "Maryland Conference on Education" June 24-25.

They decided to invite 500 delegates to the two days of talks panel discussions, and round table conferences which will take up the problems confronting public education in Maryland.

Their findings and recommendations will be taken to Washington for the White House Conference on Education called by President Eisenhower for Nov. 29.

Maryland will send 20 delegates to the conference in Washington.

The planning committee today adopted a specification that at least two-thirds of them be laymen, the other professional educators.

A similar pattern will be followed in naming the 500 to participate in the Maryland Conference here in June.

The planning committee included legislators, county commissioners, school superintendents, school board members, state and county leaders of the parent-teacher associations, teachers, city officials, heads of farm and labor groups, and representatives of parochial schools.

Among those on the planning committee which met today are:

Mrs. Mary Martin of Mountain Lake Park, Mrs. Stanley Buckley of LaVale, and Del. Noel Speir Cook of Cumberland.

Edward Holter of Middletown, master of the State Grange, and Drm Andrew S. Truxal, president of Hood College at Frederick.

Walter V. Bennett, a Carroll County commissioner.

Mrs. Fred L. Bull of College Park, president of the Maryland Congress of Parents and Teachers and Del. Perry O. Wilkinson of Hyattsville.

Leslie M. Abbe of Rockville, and Myron S. Isaacs and Mrs. L. O. Regeimbal of Silver Spring.

Mrs. Burgess Chaney of Chesapeake Beach, State Sen. James B. Monroe of Waldorf, and Alfred Toombs of Colton Point.

Dr. David S. Jenkins, Anne Arundel County superintendent of schools, Charles Della of Pasadena and Edward H. Johns of Glen Burnie.

Mrs. John Andrews of Crisfield, Harry T. Phebus Jr. of Princess Anne, State Sen. Mary L. Nock of Salisbury, Baker robbins, a Dorchester County commissioner, and Charles Cornish of Cambridge, Mrs. William Littlewood of Riverview, State Sen. Layman J. Redden of Denton, Dr. Reginald V. Truitt of Stevensville, Walter Morris of Chestertown and Dr. James L. Johnson of Elkton.

General's Son To Stand Trial

HYATTSVILLE, Md., April 15 (AP) —The son of an Air Force general is going to try to prove his innocence to serious traffic charges for which he forfeited collateral 16 months ago.

He's David Hodge Baker, 24, son of Maj. Gen. David H. Baker. He has found the forfeiting of collateral — generally considered the same as a guilty plea—will prevent him from getting an Air Force commission. He has been taking Reserve Officers Training Corps courses at the University of Maryland.

A Prince Georges County court set aside the forfeiture yesterday so he can stand trial on May 16.

Baker was accused of driving under the influence of alcohol, reckless driving by colliding and failure to stop after a property damage accident.

In his petition for a trial he said he did not stay to contest the charges because of the following day he received "the most urgent message indicating that his mother was seriously ill" in Ohio. He also said he did not understand the effect of the forfeiture and supposed that was the end of the matter.

Europe accounts for approximately 45 per cent of the world coal output.

Native Of Boonesboro Marks 107th Birthday

WASHINGTON, April 15 (AP) — A woman who migrated to the West in a prairie schooner celebrated her 107th birthday today.

Mrs. Mary Summers, born in Boonesboro, Md., was 19 when she married a widower and started on a trip that took them through Colorado, Nebraska and Kansas. That was in 1867.

Mrs. Summers had three children. She lives here with the youngest, Mrs. Bessie Stewart—the only one alive.

One episode Mrs. Summers remembers was when her husband was laying track for a railroad. They got in a dispute with the railroad commissary over a purchase and his pay was held up. Mrs. Summers marched into the paymaster's office, pulled out a gun and said: "I want my husband's pay! It's either money or bullets." She got the money.

Hagerstown's Residents To Aid In Parking Survey

HAGERSTOWN, April 15 (AP)—The biggest quiz session in local memory begins April 19 in an attempt to find cures for this city's parking indigestion.

More than 50,000 persons may provide facts in the course of a four-day survey throughout the business section and its fringe areas.

Municipal and business interests are combining forces to make possible the parking study that will continue April 21, 22 and 23 during shopping hours. The traffic committee of the city government and the Hagerstown Retailers Bureau will use the survey to learn how people reach the business section, what they do with their cars when they drive to town and how much parking space is available.

Prepared for the survey are 50,000 cards which persons in the business district will use to provide facts during the four days.

Merchants are lending 14 employes to do interviewing from seven stations to gain more detailed information. Space by space counts will be made of every parking spot in a 20-block area.

The parking situation here is at least as bad as it is in other Maryland cities and it promises to grow worse. The State Roads Commission plans to permit parking on only one side of two business district streets when improvements are made to U. S. 40 in the Hagerstown area, causing the loss of dozens of parking spots.

Henry Barnes, Baltimore Traffic director, has agreed to help analyze findings from the survey.

About seven gallons of water a day is drunk by 100 laying hens.

Banquet And Style Revue To Highlight NSA Session

The business sessions of the state convention of the National Secretaries Association, being continued here today and tomorrow, will begin at 9 o'clock this morning at the Shrine Country Club.

A buffet luncheon at 12:30 p. m. will be followed by a style show sponsored by Rosenbaum's, featuring sportswear, street clothes and cocktail dresses. Models for the show are Mrs. Henrietta Derosa, Miss Dorothy Campbell, Miss Wilma Jewell, Miss Garnet Fazenbaker, Miss Frances Snoeberger, Miss Patricia Golden, Mrs. Reba Whitehair, Mrs. Mae Richardson, Miss Ellen Newman and Miss Wanda Lee Hanks.

Arthur Verner will be the speaker at the banquet tonight at 7 p. m. in the Fort Cumberland Hotel ballroom, convention headquarters.

Mr. Verner has been export sales manager of Kelly Springfield Tire Company since 1946. During the war he was a commander in the Navy attached to the Chilean Foreign office in Chile, transferred to Europe with the planning group for the invasion of Europe.

Prior to the invasion the combined operation ceased to exist and he was transferred to the Supreme Headquarters Allied Expeditionary Force under General Dwight D. Eisenhower.

In 1945 he was transferred to the Control Council in Berlin under General Lucius D. Clay. Before the war he had been research director of National Industrial Conference Board, completed studies there of the international balance of payments and the exchange of currency; head of the Economics Department at Georgetown University and was a commentator in Washington.

Mr. Werner is an ardent golfer and automobile enthusiast. He was born in Belfast, Ireland, and was educated at Georgetown University, New York University and American University and holds B. S., M.B.A. and Ph. D. degrees.

James Hager will sing.

Banquet And Style Revue To Highlight NSA Session

The business sessions of the state convention of the National Secretaries Association, being continued here today and tomorrow, will begin at 9 o'clock this morning at the Shrine Country Club.

A buffet luncheon at 12:30 p. m. will be followed by a style show sponsored by Rosenbaum's, featuring sportswear, street clothes and cocktail dresses. Models for the show are Mrs. Henrietta Derosa, Miss Dorothy Campbell, Miss Wilma Jewell, Miss Garnet Fazenbaker, Miss Frances Snoeberger, Miss Patricia Golden, Mrs. Reba Whitehair, Mrs. Mae Richardson, Miss Ellen Newman and Miss Wanda Lee Hanks.

Arthur Verner will be the speaker at the banquet tonight at 7 p. m. in the Fort Cumberland Hotel ballroom, convention headquarters.

Mr. Verner has been export sales manager of Kelly Springfield Tire Company since 1946. During the war he was a commander in the Navy attached to the Chilean Foreign office in Chile, transferred to Europe with the planning group for the invasion of Europe.

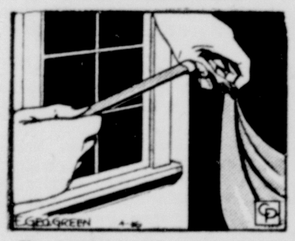
Prior to the invasion the combined operation ceased to exist and he was transferred to the Supreme Headquarters Allied Expeditionary Force under General Dwight D. Eisenhower.

In 1945 he was transferred to the Control Council in Berlin under General Lucius D. Clay. Before the war he had been research director of National Industrial Conference Board, completed studies there of the international balance of payments and the exchange of currency; head of the Economics Department at Georgetown University and was a commentator in Washington.

Mr. Werner is an ardent golfer and automobile enthusiast. He was born in Belfast, Ireland, and was educated at Georgetown University, New York University and American University and holds B. S., M.B.A. and Ph. D. degrees.

James Hager will sing.

WIFE PRESERVERS



To avoid snagging nylon, orlon or fiberglass curtains when putting them back on the curtain rods after laundering, cover the ends of the rods with paper, held in place with rubber bands.

State Fire Auxiliary Will Meet

The Spring Conference of the Ladies Auxiliary to the Maryland State Firemen's Association will be held April 21 at the Fire House, Easton, beginning at 10 a. m.

Mrs. E. B. Daugherty Sr., president of the Maryland Auxiliary announces she is awarding a trophy to the county with the largest percentage of auxiliaries represented at fall and spring conferences. The trophy must be won three years to be kept permanently. It will be awarded at the Maryland State Convention in June at Cumberland.

Luncheon reservations should be made with Mrs. Ruth Williams, 612 Liberty Street, Salisbury.

Salem Council No. 11 Meeting Tonight

Salem Council 11, Royal and Select Masters, will have grand visitation of Grand Officers of the state of Maryland this evening at 7:30 o'clock at the Masonic Temple, after which the Select Masters Degree will be conferred on two candidates.

Preceding this event, dinner will be served at Sheehe's Restaurant. All Council members are urged to attend.

Social Chart

Cumberland Chapter Cosmopolitan Associates will meet Sunday at 7 p. m. at the home of Mrs. Charles Crawford, 29 Poplar Street, Bowling Green. Mrs. Joseph Martin is cohostess.

Cumberland Country Club will hold its spring dance tonight from 10 p. m. until 2 a. m. with "Doc" Dibert's Orchestra playing. The dance is for members and guests of members.

Miss Hines, George Dusch Wed April 13

Mr. and Mrs. William Hines, 717 Sylvan Avenue, announce the marriage of their daughter, Miss Patricia Ann Hines, to Bernard George Dusch, son of Mrs. Maude Dusch, 1004 Michigan Avenue.

The couple was married in a double ring ceremony April 13 in the parsonage of Centre Street Methodist Church, with Rev. Howard Amoss officiating. Miss Marlene Sweitzer was the bride's maid of honor and only attendant. Jack Derosa served as Mr. Dusch's best man.

The bride wore a beige suit with pink accessories and her attendant wore grey and pink dress with pink accessories.

Mr. and Mrs. Dusch are both graduates of Allegany High School, class of 1954. After a wedding trip they will reside in Wheaton City, Rockville.

Short evening gowns far outnumber long ones in the Paris collections of 1955.

Youth Legislature Enacts Mining Bill, Other 'Laws'

ANNAPOLIS, April 15 (AP)—Maryland's YMCA Youth Legislature began moving bills through the mill today as it prepared for the final frantic hours of the three-day session tomorrow.

Four measures were sent to "Gov." Mati Tammauru, the Baltimore high school student who heads the model government, as the session ended and the youthful lawmakers headed for an evening of social activities.

The bills passed by both houses call for:

1. Reforestation by strip coal mine operators of land they have used and for the posting of $300-an-acre bond to guarantee compliance.

2. Payment of school teacher salaries every two weeks.

3. Rigid penalties for the dumping of any trash or rubbish along highways.

4. Establishment of a commission to investigate state employe salaries in regard to other states and to recommend new pay scales if necessary.

Tomorrow the 176 youngsters from across the state begin work in committees at 9:30 a.m. and will receive their closing message from Judge Charles E. Moylan of the Baltimore Supreme Bench six hours later.

In between, they will get rid of their legislative work and pass it to the governor, who will give a joint session his reasons for any vetoes he might use.

Presentation of the 1955 youth and government award for distinguished service to Maryland youth will be made before adjournment.

Board Seeks Meeting With River Group

A meeting will be sought by the Allegany County Board of Commissioners with the Upper Potomac River Commission, operators of the Savage River Dam, to discuss the matter of damages claimed by the town of Westernport for injury to its water supply.

The board met with Mayor Okey E. Michael and Commissioners Harry M. Richards and Carl P. McMillan of Westernport yesterday at which time the board was asked to levy a sum not to exceed $50,000 in settlement of the alleged damages.

Blast Rocks Store

PORTLAND, Ore., April 15 (AP)—An explosion rocked the city's largest department store at the peak of the week's shopping activity today. A janitor was the only person known hurt.

Glass was thrown across the street and windows were cracked in a post office across the street from store.

The explosion occurred in a men's rest room on the third floor of the 12-story Meier and Frank Co. building.

Sells Licenses

PIEDMONT—Ormal Hoover has been appointed by the West Virginia Conservation Commission to sell resident hunting and fishing licenses. He will also sell federal stamps required for hunting or fishing in the federal parks and forests.

Woman Injured In Auto Mishap

A Detroit, Mich., woman was injured yesterday afternoon in an auto accident which occurred at Mouth of Seneca, about 22 miles south of Petersburg, W.Va., on Route 220.

Admitted to Memorial Hospital here was Mrs. Florence Stevens, 65, wife of Charles Stevens, who complained of injuries to her back and shoulder.

X-rays will be taken, attaches said. The accident occurred just before noon, according to a report, as the car driven by Stevens ran off the highway and down over an embankment, hitting some fence posts.

Mrs. Stevens was taken to the hospital in an ambulance from Petersburg. State Police at Romney said they had no report of the mishap.

County Ranks Seventh In State Assessments

Allegany County ranked seventh in the assessed valuation of Maryland's subdivisions last year, according to the 20th biennial report of the State Tax Commission.

The report showed that Allegany County's taxable basis for state purposes was $155,659,207 in 1954.

This represented 2.51 per cent of the $6,189,986,759 state assessments last year.

Garrett County, with state assessments of $29,381,400, was in 19th place with .47 per cent and Washington County, with $173,654,817, was in sixth place with 2.81 per cent of the state's assessable basis.

New Trial For DeWitt Remains Uncertain

Attorneys for Hobert W. DeWitt, 27, former Sang Run resident who was convicted Wednesday night of the second degree murder of his infant daughter on October 6, last night were still undecided whether to file for a new trial.

DeWitt, who is confined in Garrett County jail in Oakland, is awaiting sentence by Associate Judge Neil C. Fraley, who was on the bench during the two-day trial this week. Today is the deadline for the filing of a motion for a new trial.

They were Howard Lee Van Horn, Lynch Park Trailer Court, and Shirley Mae Parsell, 559 77th Street, Niagara Falls.

Lonaconing Rotary Club Views Film

LONACONING — Charles Clise was program chairman at the Lonaconing Rotary Club program on Thursday at the VFW home.

A film, "News Magazine of the Week" was shown. Guests were Dr. Andrew Smith, a guest of Tim Connors; Charles Hill and Rev. Paul Taylor of Frostburg.

President-elect Garlitz Barclay and secretary-elect Fred Sheeley plan to attend the district assembly at Altoona, Pa., on Sunday, April 17.

WVEA Declares Special Session Now Assured

CHARLESTON, W. Va., April 15 (AP)—The West Virginia Education Assn. said today that 20 state senators and 63 delegates have signed letters petitioning Gov. Marland for a special session of the Legislature.

The announcement from WVEA Executive Secretary Phares Reeder climaxed considerable speculation on exactly how many legislators his organization had lined up in its efforts to have the Legislature meet for consideration of a teacher's salary increase.

Reeder said the letters would be delivered to the governor "sometime next week."

A copy of the mimeographed form letter signed in each case was made public by Reeder today.

It asked the governor to convene the session on or before May 15—a Sunday—"to consider and act upon measures to meet the grave financial problems confronting public school and state supported higher education in this state, including salary increases for teaching personnel, social security coverage for all employes and necessary revenue measures."

Twenty senators and 60 delegates would provide the three - fifths margin the constitution requires for the lawmakers themselves to bring on an extraordinary session. This method has never before been used in the history of the state.

Despite Reeder's disclosure at a specially called news conference, a trace of doubt still lingered as to what the administration might do.

Some private sources conceded there was not any wholehearted desire for a special session by some leaders of the Legislature nor by the administration because of the inability to agree in advance on a tax program to finance any salary boost.

The salary increase for public school teachers proposed by the WVEA would cost an estimated eight million dollars.

At his home in Moorefield, Senate President Ralph J. Bean said he had talked to enough senators to be assured that they approved of a special session. He said he had been told a similar sentiment prevailed among House members.

Burned Man Improves

Attaches at Sacred Heart Hospital yesterday reported Carl Buckley, 33, of Potomac Park, who was burned Tuesday while fighting a fire at his home, as "improving."

Celanese Sales Are Increasing

Sales of the Celanese Corporation of America during the first quarter of 1955 totaled $44,000,000 and were higher than any quarter of last year, according to Harold Blancke, president.

During the first quarter of 1954 sales totaled only $28,972,000.

Blancke did not estimate earnings for first quarter but said it could be assumed that profit would be greater than in fourth quarter, when earnings equaled 25 cents a share on a volume of $42 million.

Hyde Would Abolish Electoral College

Rep. DeWitt S. Hyde has introduced a bill to abolish the electoral college system for the election of president and vice president.

The bill provides for a constitutional amendment under which the candidate receiving the greatest number of votes shall be elected if he also has the greatest number of states equal to 40 per cent or more of the total number of states.

Youth Legislature Enacts Mining Bill, Other 'Laws'

ANNAPOLIS, April 15 (AP)—Maryland's YMCA Youth Legislature began moving bills through the mill today as it prepared for the final frantic hours of the three-day session tomorrow.

Four measures were sent to "Gov." Mati Tammauru, the Baltimore high school student who heads the model government, as the session ended and the youthful lawmakers headed for an evening of social activities.

The bills passed by both houses call for:

1. Reforestation by strip coal mine operators of land they have used and for the posting of $300-an-acre bond to guarantee compliance.

2. Payment of school teacher salaries every two weeks.

3. Rigid penalties for the dumping of any trash or rubbish along highways.

4. Establishment of a commission to investigate state employe salaries in regard to other states and to recommend new pay scales if necessary.

Tomorrow the 176 youngsters from across the state begin work in committees at 9:30 a.m. and will receive their closing message from Judge Charles E. Moylan of the Baltimore Supreme Bench six hours later.

In between, they will get rid of their legislative work and pass it to the governor, who will give a joint session his reasons for any vetoes he might use.

Presentation of the 1955 youth and government award for distinguished service to Maryland youth will be made before adjournment.

Board Seeks Meeting With River Group

A meeting will be sought by the Allegany County Board of Commissioners with the Upper Potomac River Commission, operators of the Savage River Dam, to discuss the matter of damages claimed by the town of Westernport for injury to its water supply.

The board met with Mayor Okey E. Michael and Commissioners Harry M. Richards and Carl P. McMillan of Westernport yesterday at which time the board was asked to levy a sum not to exceed $50,000 in settlement of the alleged damages.

Blast Rocks Store

PORTLAND, Ore., April 15 (AP)—An explosion rocked the city's largest department store at the peak of the week's shopping activity today. A janitor was the only person known hurt.

Glass was thrown across the street and windows were cracked in a post office across the street from store.

The explosion occurred in a men's rest room on the third floor of the 12-story Meier and Frank Co. building.

Woman Injured In Auto Mishap

A Detroit, Mich., woman was injured yesterday afternoon in an auto accident which occurred at Mouth of Seneca, about 22 miles south of Petersburg, W.Va., on Route 220.

Admitted to Memorial Hospital here was Mrs. Florence Stevens, 65, wife of Charles Stevens, who complained of injuries to her back and shoulder.

X-rays will be taken, attaches said. The accident occurred just before noon, according to a report, as the car driven by Stevens ran off the highway and down over an embankment, hitting some fence posts.

Mrs. Stevens was taken to the hospital in an ambulance from Petersburg. State Police at Romney said they had no report of the mishap.

County Ranks Seventh In State Assessments

Allegany County ranked seventh in the assessed valuation of Maryland's subdivisions last year, according to the 20th biennial report of the State Tax Commission.

The report showed that Allegany County's taxable basis for state purposes was $155,659,207 in 1954.

This represented 2.51 per cent of the $6,189,986,759 state assessments last year.

Frostburg Unit National Guard To Be Alerted

Operation Minuteman Expected Anytime

FROSTBURG — Company D, the "Mountain City Unit," Maryland National Guard, will play an important part in the nationwide one-day test alert of Army and Air National Guard units to be held sometime in the near future.

The alert will be known as "Operation Minuteman," according to Captain Gerald E. Reeves, commanding Company D. All other units of the Maryland National Guard also will participate in the alert, first of its kind ever held in the United States.

Captain Reeves cautioned citizens of this area that "Operation Minuteman" is being planned only for training purposes, and to test the mobilization plans of all Army and Air National Guard units throughout the state and nation.

"For that reason," he said, "we ask the people of Frostburg and the surrounding area not to be alarmed when this test alert is sounded and our National Guard unit is temporarily mobilized."

Captain Reeves emphasized that the exact date and time of "Operation Minuteman" will be kept secret. The alert orders will come directly from the state adjutant general, and will be coordinated with simultaneous alerts in the other states, and in the District of Columbia, Alaska, Hawaii and Puerto Rico, he added. The coordination order will come directly from Major General Edgar C. Erickson, Chief of the National Guard Bureau, with headquarters at the Pentagon, Washington. From the adjutant general, it will be passed down to all Army and Air National Guard units in this state.

Nearly 400,000 Guardsmen including officers and men of Company D, in more than 2,200 other communities will participate in "Operation Minuteman."

Ralph M. Race Named To Head Savings Group

FROSTBURG — At the annual shareholders meeting of the Equitable Savings and Loan Association of Frostburg, Ralph M. Race was elected president. Other officers are Herbert E. Loar, vice president; Joseph M. Condon, treasurer; W. Earl Cobey, attorney, and Fred W. Boettner, secretary and office manager.

A 3½ per cent dividend for the fiscal year ending March 31 was declared and the following directors were re-elected:

Dr. I. L. Ritter, Herbert E. Loar, Joseph M. Condon, Fred W. Boettner, W. Earl Cobey, Ralph M. Race, and J. Glenn Beall Jr.

The society was organized and incorporated March 21, 1891, and has operated continuously since that time, making first mortgage loans for the buying, building or repairing of homes.

It was noted at the meeting that Dr. Ritter has served on the board for more than 40 years. Herbert E. Loar and Fred W. Boettner have been on the board 25 years.

Fire Auxiliary Names Delegates

MT. SAVAGE—The Ladies Auxiliary of the Mt. Savage Fire Company met a recent evening with Mrs. Sara Carter presiding. Delegates to the county firemen's convention at Shaft and to the State convention to be held in Cumberland were selected.

They are as follows: Gertrude Reagan, chairlady; Anna Gaughan Hazel Swauger, Dorothy Hughes, Margaret King. Alternates are Evelyn O'Neill, Rullie Krebbenhoft, Helen Reagan, Catherine Graham, Leona Dickel. Sara Carter as president of the group will automatically be a delegate at the convention.

Refreshments were served by Sara Carter and Evelyn O'Neill. The special prize was won by Evelyn Blank.

Fire-Fighting Demonstration

Wade Thomas of Keyser, assistant fire marshall, is shown here in one of a series of fire prevention and fire-fighting demonstrations being given for the general public in Keyser and other parts of nearby West Virginia. This particular demonstration shows the use of one type of hand extinguisher. Thomas showed how a blaze can be forced away from its origin. In this case, it was moved down a chute arrangement and into a receptacle on the floor where it was extinguished. These demonstrations are sponsored in cooperation with the C & P Telephone Company at Keyser, John Harman, manager.

Keyser Kiwanis Names Delegates To International

John B. Swecker Is Guest Speaker

KEYSER—Delegates and alternates were named to attend the annual international convention of Kiwanis in Cleveland at the weekly dinner-meeting held Wednesday evening by the Keyser Kiwanis Club in First Methodist Church dining room. Named to attend the convention were Dakin Morehouse, A. K. VanScoy, Robert Shapiro and Gerould Klinestiver. Other representatives will be named at a future meeting. The convention will be held June 26 through 30.

John B. Swecker, member of the Potomac State College faculty, in charge of the agriculture department, was speaker. He was introduced as the Vo-Ag and FFA man of the Keyser Kiwanis Club, by Program Director James T. Handlan. Swecker defined the interests of the two groups, designating the Vo-Ag training work as given to college students and the FFA in High School activities. He spoke of the work of Vo-Ag students at Potomac State College and the State University and went into the history of the movement recognized by the federal government some years ago, resulting in financial assistance for colleges who have an agriculture department.

He briefly discussed the work at the local college and predicted that there will soon be a new land development in the state, now in its infancy, that will soon eclipse Jackson's Mill property in agriculture work. He also called attention to the fact that many large industries are interested in FFA and Vo-Ag training and accomplishments and predicted a great future for this line of educational endeavor. He told the club there are now 51 Vo-Ag students registered at the local college and more will be received as soon as their is room for them.

Visitors registered at the meeting were: Kenneth Roberts, of Radio Station WKYR; Robert Bishop, Keyser, pre-medical student at Potomac State and Jack Beckett, Pine Grove, pre-business major at the college, both of whom are Circle K Club members; Calvin Kibler, accountant, Martinsburg and Fern Wilson, Cumberland Insurance man.

Rotarians Hear Carol Sue Ashby

KEYSER—With the Youth Service Committee of Keyser Rotary Club in charge of the program this week, an excellent program was presented by Dr. Donald Kiser, chairman of the committee. He presented Miss Carol Sue Ashby who had been sponsored by the Rotary Club at Girls' State and was a winner in the speech contest recently at Potomac State College. She gave the same talk to the Rotarians.

Another part of the program was the appearance of Harold Benson, a member of the Potomac State Singers, who sang two numbers, "My Task," and "The Lord's Prayer." Leonard Withers, director of the "Singers," was at the piano. The program was closed by Joseph A. Blundon, local attorney, who spoke of wire tapping, showing its effect as related to business, government work and in many other ways.

Announcement was made that President Edgall Grayson and a group of club members will attend the district assembly, Sunday and Monday in Altoona, and will bring a report to the club next week.

Dr. E. E. Church, past district governor, participated in the formation of a new Rotary Club last week in Monroeville, Pa.

Gov. McKeldin To Speak At Lonaconing

Executive To Dedicate Church Improvements

LONACONING — Gov. Theodore R. McKeldin will be guest speaker tomorrow at the 11 a. m. service of the First Methodist Church, at which time improvements and repairs to the edifice will be dedicated.

Designated as "Layman's Day," marking the completion of these repairs and improvements, the day's activities will begin at 9:45 a. m. with Sunday School. Felix Foote Jr., will be in charge.

At the morning worship service, James S. Getty, assistant state's attorney, will introduce Gov McKeldin who is making a special trip here to address the congregation.

The evening service will be held as usual at 7:30 o'clock with the pastor, the Rev. Joseph Young delivering the message.

During the past few months, the exterior of the building has been changed and improved. The Junior Department has received a new floor and new floor covering. John Steiding has presented an altar in memory of his grandmother, Mrs. Peebles, who was one of the founders of the church.

The Primary Department has also received a new floor and the quarters have been completely redecorated. Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Reeves have placed an altar with cross and candle holders in this department in memory of their daughter, Lydia Jean.

The church kitchen has been reconstructed and new equipment has been added.

Church officials note that as soon as weather permits the entire building is to be repainted, and consideration is being given to the construction of a parking lot on the upper side of the building. The church was dedicated in 1872.

The name "planet" was given by the ancient Greeks and means "wandered" in their language. This name was given because the planets change their position in the sky so frequently.

Frostburg Unit National Guard To Be Alerted

Operation Minuteman Expected Anytime

FROSTBURG — Company D, the "Mountain City Unit," Maryland National Guard, will play an important part in the nationwide one-day test alert of Army and Air National Guard units to be held sometime in the near future.

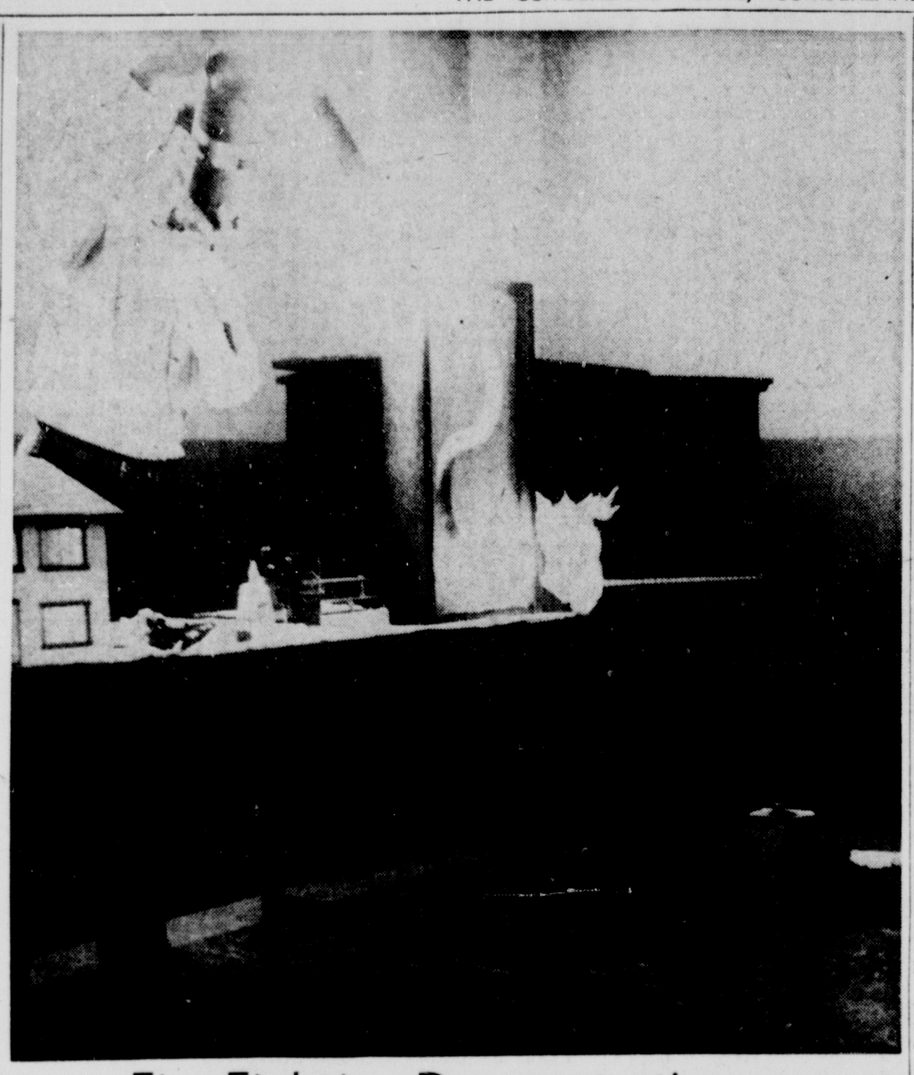
The alert will be known as "Operation Minuteman," according to Captain Gerald E. Reeves, commanding Company D. All other units of the Maryland National Guard also will participate in the alert, first of its kind ever held in the United States.

Captain Reeves cautioned citizens of this area that "Operation Minuteman" is being planned only for training purposes, and to test the mobilization plans of all Army and Air National Guard units throughout the state and nation.

"For that reason," he said, "we ask the people of Frostburg and the surrounding area not to be alarmed when this test alert is sounded and our National Guard unit is temporarily mobilized."

Captain Reeves emphasized that the exact date and time of "Operation Minuteman" will be kept secret. The alert orders will come directly from the state adjutant general, and will be coordinated with simultaneous alerts in the other states, and in the District of Columbia, Alaska, Hawaii and Puerto Rico, he added. The coordination order will come directly from Major General Edgar C. Erickson, Chief of the National Guard Bureau, with headquarters at the Pentagon, Washington. From the adjutant general, it will be passed down to all Army and Air National Guard units in this state.

Nearly 400,000 Guardsmen including officers and men of Company D, in more than 2,200 other communities will participate in "Operation Minuteman."



Fire-Fighting Demonstration

Wade Thomas of Keyser, assistant fire marshall, is shown here in one of a series of fire prevention and fire-fighting demonstrations being given for the general public in Keyser and other parts of nearby West Virginia. This particular demonstration shows the use of one type of hand extinguisher. Thomas showed how a blaze can be forced away from its origin. In this case, it was moved down a chute arrangement and into a receptacle on the floor where it was extinguished. These demonstrations are sponsored in cooperation with the C & P Telephone Company at Keyser, John Harman, manager.

Ralph M. Race Named To Head Savings Group

FROSTBURG — At the annual shareholders meeting of the Equitable Savings and Loan Association of Frostburg, Ralph M. Race was elected president. Other officers are Herbert E. Loar, vice president; Joseph M. Condon, treasurer; W. Earl Cobey, attorney, and Fred W. Boettner, secretary and office manager.

A 3½ per cent dividend for the fiscal year ending March 31 was declared and the following directors were re-elected:

Dr. I. L. Ritter, Herbert E. Loar, Joseph M. Condon, Fred W. Boettner, W. Earl Cobey, Ralph M. Race, and J. Glenn Beall Jr.

The society was organized and incorporated March 21, 1891, and has operated continuously since that time, making first mortgage loans for the buying, building or repairing of homes.

It was noted at the meeting that Dr. Ritter has served on the board for more than 40 years. Herbert E. Loar and Fred W. Boettner have been on the board 25 years.

Seven Area Men Enlist At Parsons

PARSONS — Sergeant Alan Slater of the U. S. Air Force Recruiting Station has announced the enlistment of seven men from his area during the first week of April.

They are Robert Bozic and Charles Recrode both of Thomas; Jennings B. Weese of Beverly; Samuel Crickard of Elkins; Harold Crawford of Valley Bend, a son of Postmaster Mrs. S. J. Crawford of Valley Bend. Two men re-enlisted after previously serving. They were Harry Phelps of Davis who previously served with the U. S. Navy and Arthur Hamrick of Elkins who is starting his second enlistment with the Air Force.

Rotarians Hear Carol Sue Ashby

KEYSER—With the Youth Service Committee of Keyser Rotary Club in charge of the program this week, an excellent program was presented by Dr. Donald Kiser, chairman of the committee. He presented Miss Carol Sue Ashby who had been sponsored by the Rotary Club at Girls' State and was a winner in the speech contest recently at Potomac State College. She gave the same talk to the Rotarians.

Another part of the program was the appearance of Harold Benson, a member of the Potomac State Singers, who sang two numbers, "My Task," and "The Lord's Prayer." Leonard Withers, director of the "Singers," was at the piano. The program was closed by Joseph A. Blundon, local attorney, who spoke of wire tapping, showing its effect as related to business, government work and in many other ways.

Announcement was made that President Edgall Grayson and a group of club members will attend the district assembly, Sunday and Monday in Altoona, and will bring a report to the club next week.

Dr. E. E. Church, past district governor, participated in the formation of a new Rotary Club last week in Monroeville, Pa.

Calanthe Temple Greets Chief

FROSTBURG—Calanthe Temple No. 3, Pythian Sisters, met a recent evening with Mrs. Carrie Miller, most excellent chief, presiding. Mrs. Mary Browning, district deputy grand chief, of Oakland, made her official visit. She was presented a gift from the Temple. Floe Schaffer, grand chief, and Vera Mussard, grand protector, of Oakland, were also visitors.

After the business session a sacred program was presented. Fifteen ladies dressed in white and carrying candles formed a cross and sang "The Old Rugged Cross." Mrs. Ruth Legeer read the story of the crucifixion standing beside a large cross decorated with lilies and green foliage with an open Bible at the base.

The program also included a duet by Mrs. Nina Murphy and Mrs. Ruth Legeer, "Ivory Palaces," reading, "The Dogwood Tree," Mrs. Alvenia Cole; duet, Mrs. Edna Engle, and Mrs. Alvenia Cole, "He Arose," silent prayer for members who are ill, and the Lord's Prayer by the group. Mrs. Elizabeth Sires served as pianist.

Visitors were present from Oakland, Lonaconing, Midland and Cumberland. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Clara Walbert and her committee.

Visitors Return

LONACONING — Mr. and Mrs. William Miller, of Rochester, New York, and Miss Cecelia Major, of Tonawanda, New York, have returned after spending the Easter vacation with Miss Celia Marquis, Main street.

Gov. McKeldin To Speak At Lonaconing

Executive To Dedicate Church Improvements

LONACONING — Gov. Theodore R. McKeldin will be guest speaker tomorrow at the 11 a. m. service of the First Methodist Church, at which time improvements and repairs to the edifice will be dedicated.

Designated as "Layman's Day," marking the completion of these repairs and improvements, the day's activities will begin at 9:45 a. m. with Sunday School. Felix Foote Jr., will be in charge.

At the morning worship service, James S. Getty, assistant state's attorney, will introduce Gov McKeldin who is making a special trip here to address the congregation.

The evening service will be held as usual at 7:30 o'clock with the pastor, the Rev. Joseph Young delivering the message.

During the past few months, the exterior of the building has been changed and improved. The Junior Department has received a new floor and new floor covering. John Steiding has presented an altar in memory of his grandmother, Mrs. Peebles, who was one of the founders of the church.

The Primary Department has also received a new floor and the quarters have been completely redecorated. Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Reeves have placed an altar with cross and candle holders in this department in memory of their daughter, Lydia Jean.

The church kitchen has been reconstructed and new equipment has been added.

Church officials note that as soon as weather permits the entire building is to be repainted, and consideration is being given to the construction of a parking lot on the upper side of the building. The church was dedicated in 1872.

The name "planet" was given by the ancient Greeks and means "wandered" in their language. This name was given because the planets change their position in the sky so frequently.

Oakland Woman Wins In Area Cooking Contest

Publisher's Wife Enters State Finals

OAKLAND—Mrs. Polly Johnson Hanst, here, was declared the winner of the area "Mrs. America" contest in a cook-off at the C&A Gas Company's headquarters in Cumberland, with Mrs. W. Ardell Haines, LaVale.

Mrs. Hanst, wife of the editor of the Oakland Republican, won the contest with her meal of meat loaf, scalloped potatoes, broccoli spears, fruit salad, whole wheat bread and a dessert of warm cake with broiled icing.

Mrs. Hanst, Mrs. Haines and Mrs. Paul B. Gipe of Cumberland were scheduled to compete in the cook-off, having eliminated three other contestants in a contest March 30. Mrs. Gipe, however, was unable to participate yesterday due to illness.

Mrs. Haines prepared a meal which featured stuffed ham steak. The meal also included crisped sweet potato balls, cauliflower with cheese sauce, peas with burnt almond butter, grated carrot salad, sweet rolls and gold rush brownies with spring ambrosia dessert.

By winning, Mrs. Hanst will represent this section in the state contest next Friday at Hagerstown. There she will prepare the same meal which won her local honors, participate in a sewing contest and also show her prowess in ironing a man's shirt. Her Cumberland awards included a gas range and a $150 wardrobe. She was also presented a bouquet by Mrs. Harold R. Smith, of Cumberland, who won the local contest last year and went on to represent Maryland at the national contest at Elinor Village, Fla.

The mother of three children, Mrs. Hanst is active in youth and extension work in the Oakland area and claims as her hobby, "speaking on homemaking."

Mrs. Haines, wife of the principal of Bruce High School, Westernport, is an instructor in sewing at adult night classes sponsored by the Allegany County Board of Education. Mr. and Mrs. Haines have one child.

Mrs. Hanst and Mrs. Haines were required to prepare their meals within a time limit of an hour and a half. Judges for the contest were Miss Millicent Bibza, Pittsburgh, representative of the Manufacturers Heat and Light Company; Mrs. Gladys Eaton, supervisor of cafeterias in Allegany County schools, and Mrs. Howard A. Buchanan.

Representatives of the Cumberland and Allegany Gas Company, sponsors of the local contest, said both Mrs. Eaton and Mrs. Buchanan have been selected as two of the five judges who will pick the state winner at Hagerstown next Friday.

Parsons Minister To Visit Virginia

PARSONS — The Rev. James F. Hubbard, pastor of the Parsons Presbyterian church will leave on Saturday for Haysi, Va., where he will be the guest speaker at special evangelical services to be held in that Presbyterian church each evening from Sunday evening through Friday.

Rev. Hubbard will be one of the many ministers of the Synod of West Virginia to occupy the pulpits of the Synod of Appalachian during the "Forward For God" movement in the Presbyterian churches in March and April The Rev. R. W. Morrow, Jr., Methodist minister of Davis will be the guest speaker in the Parsons Presbyterian church on Sunday morning, April 17.

Cub Pack Holds Rummage Sale

FROSTBURG — Pack 44, Cub Scouts of America, will sponsor a rummage sale at the Eagles Home today from 9 a. m. until 9 p. m.

Gurney Beeman, cubmaster, said that proceeds of the sale will be used to help finance the pack's activities. The pack is sponsored by the PTA of Hill Street Elementary School.

punishing those who got the same thing and didn't. But as the defendant says at one point of his father, a retired regular Army officer: "My father is Army. He couldn't understand that what is cowardice in one man is simple collapse in another." Some men stand up better under torture than others; also, some torturers are simply more efficient than others. Should we honor one man because his tormentors were lazy or not very good at their jobs and disgrace another man because he had the bad luck to fall into the hands of a very efficient and industrious torturer? It's a tough problem.

Rod Serling, who also wrote the splendid TV play "Patterns," has again done a very spare, taut, economical play which doesn't let up for a minute. He's a little short on character — he simply throws a man into a terribly difficult (but terribly honest) situation and lets him try to fight his way out of it — but he's a very good craftsman and a very literate writer. Alex Segal's direction was splendid. And the Theater Guild deserves a low bow for doing the play in the first place.

This woman is said to bring out the best in everyone who works for her . . .

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

I happened to be in the office of a woman executive recently when a new file clerk came in hesitantly with a requested file. I found out right then and there why this woman is said to bring out the best in everyone who works for her, and why her praises are sung far and wide.

She looked up at the young girl with a twinkling smile and said warmly, "I'm glad you're with us, Carol. Thank you very much."

What she said was unusual, but it was unmistakably sincere. And the words were said so simply it was obvious that a spontaneous expression of appreciation seemed to the speaker the most natural thing in the world.

It isn't natural enough for most of us. How many times have you thought something nice about someone in the past few days, and haven't mentioned it?

Flattery, of course, risks your being thought insincere. But to say good things simply and gracefully when you are really thinking them is quite different. You can learn no better lesson than to put an honest, generous thought into words—words which will encourage and cheer someone around you.

Every one of us wants to be liked and appreciated and welcome everywhere. We can't help but be egoists enough to think the person is charming who makes us feel we are, if this is done sincerely and with taste.

YOUR STEPS TO A SUCCESSFUL CAREER

A worthwhile investment in charm for every girl starting a business career — every girl or woman now in business who is eager to reach top-flight success. Parsons Fire Chief Resigns

PARSONS — Earl Corcoran, a charter member of the Parsons Volunteer Fire Department for the past 25 years, one of three charter members still active, and chief of the department since 1942 resigned his position on Monday evening as fire chief.

Corcoran is the last of the three veteran fire chiefs of this county serving for many years with Belmont S. Cleaver of Davis now resigned, and with the late Glendie E. Mosser of Thomas until his death a few years ago. Corcoran gave his reasons for resigning as more pressing matters at Parsons High School where he is principal.

The fire department was reorganized in 1930 and incorporated in June 1932. Corcoran was a fire fighter for the forest service prior to that time and after joining the department as a charter member he served as Lieutenant and drill sergeant in 1930 until 1935 when named Captain. He also served as assistant fire chief of the department under M. M. Swearingen until he resigned in 1942 at which time Corcoran was named Chief. He has served in that capacity since that time.

During the time that Corcoran has been Chief the fire department has purchased two new fire trucks, a new emergency ambulance and has equipment valued at $50,000 has over $2,000 in the bank and no outstanding bills. The Parsons Department considered one of the best in the state also has portable lights, pumps and a resuscitator. During the time that Corcoran has served as fire chief the fire department has won many awards in County Fairs and Firemen's Day parades. He is an outstanding drill sergeant. His firemen have fought many large fires and met many emergencies and have been highly commended for their outstanding work. Corocran feels that his greatest accomplishments is that not a single life has been lost in all of those emergencies.

John Kenney of Parsons was renamed president of the Department for the 12th consecutive year and Ona Hovatter was re-named as vice-president. Charles Filler is treasurer and Richard Morgan is secretary; Darl Stalnaker was named as Chief with Cover Jolly as first assistant and Fontz Jones as second assistant; Jack Hockman is first lieutenant; Carlton Hovatter is captain; John Shannon is second lieutenant and Robert Lambert is sergeant-at-arms.

So. Branch Valley To Retain EST

The South Branch Valley will remain on Eastern Standard Time this summer.

As in the past, Hampshire, Hardy, Grant and Pendleton counties in the valley will stay on "slow time" when "fast time" comes in April 24.

Keyser and a part of Mineral County will again go to Daylight Saving Time as will Allegany and Washington counties.

All of Garrett County will go on fast time. Last year, several communities and Oakland went on Daylight Time last summer, but other sections remained, causing a confusing situation especially in the school system.

Women's Guild Elects Officers

PARSONS — Mrs. Charles F. Barb was elected president of the Wesleyan Service Guild of the Parsons First Methodist Church at their meeting held at the home of Mrs. Paul Flanagan with Mrs. Allen Parsons and Mrs. Frank Goff as assisting hostesses.

Other new officers will be Mrs. Harold W. Shaffer as vice-president; Mrs. James E. Hamner, secretary; Miss Marie Lipscomb, treasurer; Mrs. Glenn Fankhouser, Promotional secretary and Mrs. W. F. Lipscomb, Coordinator.

Mrs. Allen Parsons conducted the devotional services and Mrs. Richard Grandstaff conducted the program "The United Work of Protestant Church Women of the United States". Mrs. Glen Fankhouser, Mrs. Louis A. Williams, Miss Louise Williams, Mrs. Charles F. Barb and Miss Kathleen Hall participated in the panel discussion concerning the lesson. Guests were the pastor, Rev. W. A. O'Dell, and Mrs. Ernest Price and Mrs. Clyde Grimes.

Lions Entertain Basketball Teams

FROSTBURG — The Frostburg Lions Club entertained the Beall High basketball team, the Jayvee team and cheerleaders at a meeting Wednesday.

Clifton Van Roby, YMCA sports director and district referee, discussed the advancement of basketball in recent years and what the church league has done for high school teams.

Beall Coach Ebbie Finzel, his assistant, Tom Hutchinson, and Mrs. Paula Munson also gave short talks.

County Board Studies Plan For Walkway

Lonaconing Proposal Given Consideration

Plans to open a walkway across three properties in Lonaconing for the use of more than 400 children attending Valley High School were discussed at a meeting yesterday of the Allegany County Board of Commissioners.

Leslie Clark, attorney for a group of Lonaconing organizations, appeared before the board with a drawing of the area where the proposed walkway would be constructed. Clark said the walk would only have to be about eight feet wide and the assistance of the commissioners would be welcomed.

It was agreed that the students are in jeopardy while walking along Route 36 on their way to and from school. The proposed walkway is on the same side of the highway as the school and would make a safe route for the children.

The board also acted Friday in awarding a contract to the George Construction Company to erect a Civil Defense training building in Constitution Park. The George firm was low bidder at $10,315 as compared to $12,466.88 by Allen Sell and Son Company.

Award of the bid was made on the recommendation of William G. Barger, director of Civil Defense for Allegany County.

An application by David E. Kirk, transcript clerk in the commissioner's office, for the position of assessor was filed.

Under the new law providing for annual reassessments which becomes effective July 1, the need for an additional assessor might arise, according to the board.

Thomas Seniors Take Title In Basketball

THOMAS — The Senior boys of Thomas High School won the interclass basketball tournament held in that school with Edward Supak, coach of the school as Director. M. M. Freeman, principal of the school stated that members of the Varsity basketball team acted as coaches for the classes. The Seniors won by defeating the Freshman boys 61-49.

Members of the All Tournament team include Fred Johnson and Robert Lambert, Seniors; John Keller a Junior; Kenneth Henline a Sophomore; and Gene Sines a freshman. Kay Dee Painter, cheerleader for the Freshman class and the class won the prize as the best cheering section. The senior boys were voted the best dressed team.

The Seniors were coached by Alex Waitbus and Matthew Quattro with Pat Grow as manager and Margaret Harper as cheerleader. Frank Quattro was coach for the Junior Boys with Judith Ann Stevens as the cheerleader.

David Quattro coached the Sophomore boys and the Eighth Grade boys. Lucretia Scott was cheerleader for the Sophomore class. George Huffman coached the Freshman boys with Kay Dee Painter as cheerleader and David Ketterman as manager. Betty Sue Flanagan was cheerleader for the Eighth Grade girls; Arlie Davis coached the Seventh Grade boys with Helen Bright as cheerleader and Roy Harsh as manager.

Contract Bridge

by Josephine Culbertson

TOO WOODEN

A DEFENDER'S slavish devotion to "rules of play" cost his partnership a great many matchpoints on the following board in a duplicate game.

South dealer.
North-South vulnerable

	♠ Q 7 6 ♥ J 10 4 3 2 ♦ 9 5 ♣ 9 6 4
♠ J 9 8 4 2 ♥ 7 5 ♦ 10 6 4 3 ♣ 5 2	N W E S	♠ K 5 3 ♥ A 9 6 ♦ 8 7 2 ♣ Q J 10 8
	♠ A 10 ♥ K Q 8 ♦ A K Q J ♣ A K 7 3

At most of the tables North became declarer at six hearts, and that contract was makable by expert play. East had too much: it was relatively easy to squeeze him so that he had to give up his club protection or blank his king of spades.

One South wasn't satisfied to let the hand play at a heart contract; he went all out for a "top" with this (rather reckless) bidding:

South	West	North	East
3 NT	Pass	4 ♥	Pass
4 NT	Pass	5 ♣	Pass
6 NT	Pass	Pass	Pass

At match-points, particularly, South's rebid of notrump at the four-level was not necessarily conventional, but North elected to treat it as a Blackwood bid, and when he went to five clubs, South could be pretty sure that his partner was saying "No ace." This made South's six-notrump bid a dangerous speculation (in contrast to a six-heart contract), but, as it happened, South's optimism was rewarded.

West opened the four of spades, dummy played low, and East put on the king as though any other play were unthinkable. That settled the matter, once and for all. South could knock out the heart ace at his leisure, gain sure entry to dummy with the spade queen, and easily collect two spade tricks, four hearts, four diamonds and two clubs.

In view of the bidding, it was suicidal for East to play his spade king on the first trick. Obviously enough, if he had ducked the opening lead, he would have kept the spade king to shut out dummy's queen as an entry, and then all he had to do was to hold up the heart ace for two rounds.

Parsons Man Named To Attend Presbyterian General Assembly

PARSONS — James English an elder of the Parsons Presbyterian Church has been named as a Commissioner to the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church of the United States which will be held in Richmond, from June 2 to 7.

English, representing Greenbrier District is the third man from the Parsons Church to have been named to the General Assembly in the 55 years of the church. The late Charles Sturms went in 1921; H. Dale Ridgway, principal of Parsons High School was named a Commissioner in 1951. One member, W. Kermit Collett, an elder of the Hambleton Presbyterian church is the only elder ever named from that church.

A session meeting of the Parsons Presbyterian Church, was held on Monday evening at which time plans were made to send representatives to the Greenbrier Presbytery to be held in Lewisburg on April 22. Theodore T. Dorman of Parsons was named as Delegate and Robert W. Minear as alternate delegate. The pastor, the Rev. James F. Hubbard also will attend.

NEW YORK, April 15 (AP)—Rails, motors, and steels were buoyant today as the stock market advanced to its fourth straight new record high.

There was ample support from the rest of the list for the advance. It was the market's eighth successive rise.

More than enough good news appeared to brace the plus signs. Commerce Secretary Weeks said 1955 might be the best business year the nation has ever seen.

The year got off to an excellent start toward that goal. The president's Council of Economic Advisers reported gross national production established a new first quarter high. The Bureau of Labor Statistics found first quarter housing starts at a new high. And the Federal Reserve Board reported industrial production in March at its best levels in two years.

The market had many gains of 1 to 2 points and some running on higher. Losses as a general rule were small.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was up $1.00 at $164.80, its highest level. Volume was the best of the month at 3,180,000 shares.

Avco Mfg. was at the head of the most active list for the second day in a row, unchanged at 7⅞ on 74,300 shares. The company has announced plans to get into atomic energy and new defense work.

Oakland Woman Wins In Area Cooking Contest

Publisher's Wife Enters State Finals

OAKLAND—Mrs. Polly Johnson Hanst, here, was declared the winner of the area "Mrs. America" contest in a cook-off at the C&A Gas Company's headquarters in Cumberland, with Mrs. W. Ardell Haines, LaVale.

Mrs. Hanst, wife of the editor of the Oakland Republican, won the contest with her meal of meat loaf, scalloped potatoes, broccoli spears, fruit salad, whole wheat bread and a dessert of warm cake with broiled icing.

Mrs. Hanst, Mrs. Haines and Mrs. Paul B. Gipe of Cumberland were scheduled to compete in the cook-off, having eliminated three other contestants in a contest March 30. Mrs. Gipe, however, was unable to participate yesterday due to illness.

Mrs. Haines prepared a meal which featured stuffed ham steak. The meal also included crisped sweet potato balls, cauliflower with cheese sauce, peas with burnt almond butter, grated carrot salad, sweet rolls and gold rush brownies with spring ambrosia dessert.

By winning, Mrs. Hanst will represent this section in the state contest next Friday at Hagerstown. There she will prepare the same meal which won her local honors, participate in a sewing contest and also show her prowess in ironing a man's shirt. Her Cumberland awards included a gas range and a $150 wardrobe. She was also presented a bouquet by Mrs. Harold R. Smith, of Cumberland, who won the local contest last year and went on to represent Maryland at the national contest at Elinor Village, Fla.

The mother of three children, Mrs. Hanst is active in youth and extension work in the Oakland area and claims as her hobby, "speaking on homemaking."

Mrs. Haines, wife of the principal of Bruce High School, Westernport, is an instructor in sewing at adult night classes sponsored by the Allegany County Board of Education. Mr. and Mrs. Haines have one child.

Mrs. Hanst and Mrs. Haines were required to prepare their meals within a time limit of an hour and a half. Judges for the contest were Miss Millicent Bibza, Pittsburgh, representative of the Manufacturers Heat and Light Company; Mrs. Gladys Eaton, supervisor of cafeterias in Allegany County schools, and Mrs. Howard A. Buchanan.

Representatives of the Cumberland and Allegany Gas Company, sponsors of the local contest, said both Mrs. Eaton and Mrs. Buchanan have been selected as two of the five judges who will pick the state winner at Hagerstown next Friday.

Parsons Minister To Visit Virginia

PARSONS — The Rev. James F. Hubbard, pastor of the Parsons Presbyterian church will leave on Saturday for Hayst, Va., where he will be the guest speaker at special evangelical services to be held in that Presbyterian church each evening from Sunday evening through Friday.

Rev. Hubbard will be one of the many ministers of the Synod of West Virginia to occupy the pulpits of the Synod of Appalachian during the "Forward For God" movement in the Presbyterian churches in March and April The Rev. R. W. Morrow, Jr., Methodist minister of Davis will be the guest speaker in the Parsons Presbyterian church on Sunday morning, April 17.

Cub Pack Holds Rummage Sale

FROSTBURG — Pack 44, Cub Scouts of America, will sponsor a rummage sale at the Eagles Home today from 9 a. m. until 9 p. m.

Gurney Beeman, cubmaster, said that proceeds of the sale will be used to help finance the pack's activities. The pack is sponsored by the PTA of Hill Street Elementary School.

punishing those who got the same thing and didn't. But as the defendant says at one point of his father, a retired regular Army officer: "My father is Army. He couldn't understand that what is cowardice in one man is simple collapse in another." Some men stand up better under torture than others; also, some torturers are simply more efficient than others. Should we honor one man because his tormentors were lazy or not very good at their jobs and disgrace another man because he had the bad luck to fall into the hands of a very efficient and industrious torturer? It's a tough problem.

Rod Serling, who also wrote the splendid TV play "Patterns," has again done a very spare, taut, economical play which doesn't let up for a minute. He's a little short on character — he simply throws a man into a terribly difficult (but terribly honest) situation and lets him try to fight his way out of it — but he's a very good craftsman and a very literate writer. Alex Segal's direction was splendid. And the Theater Guild deserves a low bow for doing the play in the first place.

This woman is said to bring out the best in everyone who works for her . . .

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

I happened to be in the office of a woman executive recently when a new file clerk came in hesitantly with a requested file. I found out right then and there why this woman is said to bring out the best in everyone who works for her, and why her praises are sung far and wide.

She looked up at the young girl with a twinkling smile and said warmly, "I'm glad you're with us, Carol. Thank you very much."

What she said was unusual, but it was unmistakably sincere. And the words were said so simply it was obvious that a spontaneous expression of appreciation seemed to the speaker the most natural thing in the world.

It isn't natural enough for most of us. How many times have you thought something nice about someone in the past few days, and haven't mentioned it?

Flattery, of course, risks your being thought insincere. But to say good things simply and gracefully when you are really thinking them is quite different. You can learn no better lesson than to put an honest, generous thought into words—words which will encourage and cheer someone around you.

Every one of us wants to be liked and appreciated and welcome everywhere. We can't help but be egoists enough to think the person is charming who makes us feel we are, if this is done sincerely and with taste.

YOUR STEPS TO A SUCCESSFUL CAREER

A worthwhile investment in charm for every girl starting a business career — every girl or woman now in business who is eager to reach top-flight success. It tells you how to make that important "good impression" to get your job . . . reveals secrets on how to hold your job. See how easy it is to choose a suitable wardrobe. Save time — uncertainty — needless worry through these short cut steps in charm that lead to YOUR SUCCESS. Parsons Fire Chief Resigns

PARSONS — Earl Corcoran, a charter member of the Parsons Volunteer Fire Department for the past 25 years, one of three charter members still active, and chief of the department since 1942 resigned his position on Monday evening as fire chief.

Corcoran is the last of the three veteran fire chiefs of this county serving for many years with Belmont S. Cleaver of Davis now resigned, and with the late Glendie E. Mosser of Thomas until his death a few years ago. Corcoran gave his reasons for resigning as more pressing matters at Parsons High School where he is principal.

The fire department was reorganized in 1930 and incorporated in June 1932. Corcoran was a fire fighter for the forest service prior to that time and after joining the department as a charter member he served as Lieutenant and drill sergeant in 1930 until 1935 when named Captain. He also served as assistant fire chief of the department under M. M. Swearingen until he resigned in 1942 at which time Corcoran was named Chief. He has served in that capacity since that time.

During the time that Corcoran has been Chief the fire department has purchased two new fire trucks, a new emergency ambulance and has equipment valued at $50,000 has over $2,000 in the bank and no outstanding bills. The Parsons Department considered one of the best in the state also has portable lights, pumps and a resuscitator. During the time that Corcoran has served as fire chief the fire department has won many awards in County Fairs and Firemen's Day parades. He is an outstanding drill sergeant. His firemen have fought many large fires and met many emergencies and have been highly commended for their outstanding work. Corocran feels that his greatest accomplishments is that not a single life has been lost in all of those emergencies.

John Kenney of Parsons was renamed president of the Department for the 12th consecutive year and Ona Hovatter was re-named as vice-president. Charles Filler is treasurer and Richard Morgan is secretary; Darl Stalnaker was named as Chief with Cover Jolly as first assistant and Fontz Jones as second assistant; Jack Hockman is first lieutenant; Carlton Hovatter is captain; John Shannon is second lieutenant and Robert Lambert is sergeant-at-arms.

So. Branch Valley To Retain EST

The South Branch Valley will remain on Eastern Standard Time this summer.

As in the past, Hampshire, Hardy, Grant and Pendleton counties in the valley will stay on "slow time" when "fast time" comes in April 24.

Keyser and a part of Mineral County will again go to Daylight Saving Time as will Allegany and Washington counties.

All of Garrett County will go on fast time. Last year, several communities and Oakland went on Daylight Time last summer, but other sections remained, causing a confusing situation especially in the school system.

Women's Guild Elects Officers

PARSONS — Mrs. Charles F. Barb was elected president of the Wesleyan Service Guild of the Parsons First Methodist Church at their meeting held at the home of Mrs. Paul Flanagan with Mrs. Allen Parsons and Mrs. Frank Goff as assisting hostesses.

Other new officers will be Mrs. Harold W. Shaffer as vice-president; Mrs. James E. Hamner, secretary; Miss Marie Lipscomb, treasurer; Mrs. Glenn Fankhouser, Promotional secretary and Mrs. W. F. Lipscomb, Coordinator.

Mrs. Allen Parsons conducted the devotional services and Mrs. Richard Grandstaff conducted the program "The United Work of Protestant Church Women of the United States". Mrs. Glen Fankhouser, Mrs. Louis A. Williams, Miss Louise Williams, Mrs. Charles F. Barb and Miss Kathleen Hall participated in the panel discussion concerning the lesson. Guests were the pastor, Rev. W. A. O'Dell, and Mrs. Ernest Price and Mrs. Clyde Grimes.

Lions Entertain Basketball Teams

FROSTBURG — The Frostburg Lions Club entertained the Beall High basketball team, the Jayvee team and cheerleaders at a meeting Wednesday.

Clifton Van Roby, YMCA sports director and district referee, discussed the advancement of basketball in recent years and what the church league has done for high school teams.

Beall Coach Ebbie Finzel, his assistant, Tom Hutchinson, and Mrs. Paula Munson also gave short talks.

Lonaconing Proposal Given Consideration

Plans to open a walkway across three properties in Lonaconing for the use of more than 400 children attending Valley High School were discussed at a meeting yesterday of the Allegany County Board of Commissioners.

Leslie Clark, attorney for a group of Lonaconing organizations, appeared before the board with a drawing of the area where the proposed walkway would be constructed. Clark said the walk would only have to be about eight feet wide and the assistance of the commissioners would be welcomed.

It was agreed that the students are in jeopardy while walking along Route 36 on their way to and from school. The proposed walkway is on the same side of the highway as the school and would make a safe route for the children.

The board also acted Friday in awarding a contract to the George Construction Company to erect a Civil Defense training building in Constitution Park. The George firm was low bidder at $10,315 as compared to $12,466.88 by Allen Sell and Son Company.

Award of the bid was made on the recommendation of William G. Barger, director of Civil Defense for Allegany County.

An application by David E. Kirk, transcript clerk in the commissioner's office, for the position of assessor was filed.

Under the new law providing for annual reassessments which becomes effective July 1, the need for an additional assessor might arise, according to the board.

Thomas Seniors Take Title In Basketball

THOMAS — The Senior boys of Thomas High School won the interclass basketball tournament held in that school with Edward Supak, coach of the school as Director. M. M. Freeman, principal of the school stated that members of the Varsity basketball team acted as coaches for the classes. The Seniors won by defeating the Freshman boys 61-49.

Members of the All Tournament team include Fred Johnson and Robert Lambert, Seniors; John Keller a Junior; Kenneth Henline a Sophomore; and Gene Sines a freshman. Kay Dee Painter, cheerleader for the Freshman class and the class won the prize as the best cheering section. The senior boys were voted the best dressed team.

The Seniors were coached by Alex Waitbus and Matthew Quattro with Pat Grow as manager and Margaret Harper as cheerleader. Frank Quattro was coach for the Junior Boys with Judith Ann Stevens as the cheerleader.

David Quattro coached the Sophomore boys and the Eighth Grade boys. Lucretia Scott was cheerleader for the Sophomore class.

George Huffman coached the Freshman boys with Kay Dee Painter as cheerleader and David Ketterman as manager. Betty Sue Flanagan was cheerleader for the Eighth Grade girls; Arlie Davis coached the Seventh Grade boys with Helen Bright as cheerleader and Roy Harsh as manager.

Contract Bridge

by Josephine Culbertson

TOO WOODEN

A DEFENDER'S slavish devotion to "rules of play" cost his partnership a great many matchpoints on the following board in a duplicate game.

South dealer.
North-South vulnerable

	♠ Q 7 6 ♥ J 10 4 3 2 ♦ 9 5 ♣ 9 6 4
♠ J 9 8 4 2 ♥ 7 5 ♦ 10 6 4 3 ♣ 5 2	N W E S	♠ K 5 3 ♥ A 9 6 ♦ 8 7 2 ♣ Q J 10 8
	♠ A 10 ♥ K Q 8 ♦ A K Q J ♣ A K 7 3

At most of the tables North became declarer at six hearts, and that contract was makable by expert play. East had too much: it was relatively easy to squeeze him so that he had to give up his club protection or blank his king of spades.

One South wasn't satisfied to let the hand play at a heart contract; he went all out for a "top" with this (rather reckless) bidding:

South	West	North	East
3 NT	Pass	4 ♥	Pass
4 NT	Pass	5 ♣	Pass
6 NT	Pass	Pass	Pass

At match-points, particularly, South's rebid of notrump at the four-level was not necessarily conventional, but North elected to treat it as a Blackwood bid, and when he went to five clubs, South could be pretty sure that his partner was saying "No ace." This made South's six-notrump bid a dangerous speculation (in contrast to a six-heart contract), but, as it happened, South's optimism was rewarded.

West opened the four of spades, dummy played low, and East put on the king as though any other play were unthinkable. That settled the matter, once and for all. South could knock out the heart ace at his leisure, gain sure entry to dummy with the spade queen, and easily collect two spade tricks, four hearts, four diamonds and two clubs.

In view of the bidding, it was suicidal for East to play his spade king on the first trick. Obviously enough, if he had ducked the opening lead, he would have kept the spade king to shut out dummy's queen as an entry, and then all he had to do was to hold up the heart ace for two rounds.

Parsons Man Named To Attend Presbyterian General Assembly

PARSONS — James English an elder of the Parsons Presbyterian Church has been named as a Commissioner to the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church of the United States which will be held in Richmond, from June 2 to 7.

English, representing Greenbrier District is the third man from the Parsons Church to have been named to the General Assembly in the 55 years of the church. The late Charles Sturms went in 1921; H. Dale Ridgway, principal of Parsons High School was named a Commissioner in 1951. One member, W. Kermit Collett, an elder of the Hambleton Presbyterian church is the only elder ever named from that church.

A session meeting of the Parsons Presbyterian Church, was held on Monday evening at which time plans were made to send representatives to the Greenbrier Presbytery to be held in Lewisburg on April 22. Theodore T. Dorman of Parsons was named as Delegate and Robert W. Minear as alternate delegate. The pastor, the Rev. James F. Hubbard also will attend.

Returns To Camp

KEYSER — Donald Kirtley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Guy L. Kirtley, 103 West Piedmont Street, returned to Fort Jackson, S.C., where he is stationed with the armed forces, after spending a 13-day leave with his parents.

Rails, Motors, Steels Lead Market To Another Record

NEW YORK, April 15 (AP)—Rails, motors, and steels were buoyant today as the stock market advanced to its fourth straight new record high.

There was ample support from the rest of the list for the advance. It was the market's eighth successive rise.

More than enough good news appeared to brace the plus signs. Commerce Secretary Weeks said 1955 might be the best business year the nation has ever seen.

The year got off to an excellent start toward that goal. The president's Council of Economic Advisers reported gross national production established a new first quarter high. The Bureau of Labor Statistics found first quarter housing starts at a new high. And the Federal Reserve Board reported industrial production in March at its best levels in two years.

The market had many gains of 1 to 2 points and some running on higher. Losses as a general rule were small.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was up $1.00 at $164.80, its highest level. Volume was the best of the month at 3,180,000 shares.

Avco Mfg. was at the head of the most active list for the second day in a row, unchanged at 7⅞ on 74,300 shares. The company has announced plans to get into atomic energy and new defense work.

Employment Up At Amcelle

Employment at the Amcelle plant of the Celanese Corporation of America has increased by 563 in recent months, according to R. Finley Thompson, plant manager.

There are 3,035 workers now employed at the local plant as compared to 2,672 as of December 1, 1954. The increase is greater in comparison with last year at this time. A year ago yesterday there were 2,096 workers at the plant, which reveals almost 1,000 more workers on the payroll as of today.

Thompson said the increase is mostly in the textile department among workers in acetate production. During the last three weeks there have been 226 workers recalled at the big plant.

"The outlook at this time is hopeful," Thompson said.

County Board Confused By Bill Wording

The Allegany County Board of Commissioners expressed concern yesterday over the wording of the bill passed at the recent session of the General Assembly which placed the county tax collection system on a salary basis.

Gorman E. Getty, attorney to the board, said he spent two hours checking over the provisions of the bill and as it reads the new law repeals the discount on taxes paid early, repeals the date for setting the tax levy and procedures for tax sales.

Getty said he will meet with David Kauffman, assistant attorney general of Maryland, to go over the measure to obtain his view on the legislation. Following this meeting a session with C. Ferdinand Sybert, attorney general, will be sought.

In the meantime, the county commissioners said they will request Gov. McKeldin to withhold any action on signing the measure until the situation is cleared up. Getty explained to the board that the intent was probably not to repeal the parts of the tax collection program listed, but it will be necessary to be sure before the bill is signed.

Getty further said that some of the sections which appear to have been repealed may be handled by going back to the general law pertaining to the tax system. At present the situation is "hazy."

Commissioner James Orr said if the bill does repeal the sections mentioned, and it cannot be straightened out, he believes the commissioners should ask the governor to veto the bill.

Wilkinson Says County Tax Rate To Jump 25 Cents

Commissioner Charles N. Wilkinson said yesterday the tax rate for Allegany County for the fiscal year starting July 1 will be $2.05 per $100 of assessable property.

Wilkinson said the tax rate will be on $149,000,000 of assessable property. The present tax rate is $1.80 per $100 of assessable property.

The new rate predicted by Wilkinson would be an increase of 25 cents. Increases in salary payments to school teachers, county employes and costs of a school building program have resulted in the tax hike.

The tax exemption on inventories and expansion of manufacturing establishments has decreased the assessable basis to such an extent that the tax rate increase is necessary. The surplus from the current levy is not expected to be very large in comparison with former years when it ran around the $500,000 mark. Last year's surplus was $635,205.31.

board, Charles H. Borcherding, Jr., also is from Baltimore.

The first "circumstance" involving officials of the Employment Security Board which caused the governor to ask for an investigation concerned award of a contract to wax floors of the board offices.

The contract was taken away from the Abacus Cleaning Service, Inc., which had it for four years, and given to the Maryland Waxing Service for $10 a month less. Maryland Waxing Service was formed last summer and the Employment Security contract is its only one. One of the incorporators was Fletcher Krause, a law associate of James N. Phillips who is legal counsel for the Board of Employment Security.

Henry "Knew Nothing"

Klein in a report to Gov. McKeldin said the $13,380 contract was awarded through the chief of the Division of Personnel and Accounts and the company was "highly recommended for the job."

John B. Henry, head of the Division of Personnel and Accounts, said he was ordered by Estes and Borcherding to award the contract to a company about which "he knew nothing."

Henry said he was told also by William H. Mahaney, administrator of the agency, that the contract with Abacus was to be ended. Mahaney resigned without notice yesterday. He had been chairman of the board until two years ago when he took the administrator's job under civil service.

It was disclosed yesterday that Mahaney, David L. B. Fringer, director of the employment service division, and Henry along with their wives had been involved in the sale of lots on which it was contemplated building an office for the Employment Security Board in Towson. There was a $2,500 profit in the sales.

The Baltimore County zoning board today rejected a request for permission to erect the building because the area is designated residential.

The Baltimore Evening Sun also carried reports today on expenses of the Security Board.

It said members granted themselves extra mileage and expense money beyond the state grants from a special fund. The records, the Evening Sun reported, showed more than $2,000 for 34 lunches at a restaurant (Miller Bros.) since 1949.

"Expenses" Listed

"Recurring expenses, such as Christmas cards, photographs, and a testimonial dinner for employes appear on the records," the Evening Sun stated.

James G. Rennie, state director of the Department of Budget and Procurement, said the Employment Security Board is the only state agency which can use special funds for expenses beyond the 7 cents a mile and $9 per diem granted by the state.

The Department of Employment Security handles about 150 million dollars a year to pay weekly benefits to the jobless. Most of it is contributed by Maryland employers. The federal government contributes three million to cover all administration and operation costs.

Gov. McKeldin commended both Estes and Klein for "your faithful execution of your duties" in accepting their resignations.

Of Kimble, he said, "he will take all necessary action to correct any evils that exist and to restore complete public confidence in the agency."

The governor said Kimble "is severing all outside business connections and will devote himself solely to the task at hand."

Kimble had been a safety supervisor for the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad.

Expedition To Solve Antarctic Mysteries

Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd (retired), undoubtedly the most famous living American explorer, has been commissioned to lead another expedition to the Antarctic, the Department of the Navy has announced.

Although the extent of Admiral Byrd's actual participation is not certain, it can be safely assumed that any expedition into the icy regions of the South Pole supervised by this veteran explorer will be a success.

This latest expedition will last three years and will encompass the building of three observation posts and an airfield built on the snow. The project is to be completed in three stages, the first of which will begin in January of next year.

At that time a Navy task force of five ships under the command of Capt. George Dufek will arrive in the Antarctic region and start the task of building the first observation post. In a month's time the task force will return home, leaving the completion of the job to 121 officers and men remaining behind.

Eight months later the first planes will arrive with civilian scientists and construction crews will be flown out. From then on, in four round trip excursions, the Navy will bring in more scientists and interested parties. It is expected that the work will not be completed until 1959.

Under the auspices of the National Academy of Scientists and the National Science Foundation, this polar project is considered one of the most strenuous undertakings yet attempted by those interested in uncovering more of the mysteries of this vast virgin territory.

The Bandoeng Conference

From many standpoints the Bandoeng (Bandung) conference is one of the most important events to have occurred in recent years. It is the first time in human history that 30 nations of Asia and Africa meet for any purpose at all; they meet on this occasion to assert the equality of the pigmented peoples of the world with the so-called "white" peoples, the Western European and American.

Called by Burma, Ceylon, India, Indonesia and Pakistan, it is largely a creature of Nehru and an assertion of maturity by countries which were once part of the British Empire. The other 25 nations who will attend are: Afghanistan, Cambodia, Central African Federation, (Red) China, Egypt, Ethiopia, Gold Coast, Iran, Iraq, Japan, Jordan, Laos, Lebanon, Liberia, Libya, Nepal, Philippines, Saudi Arabia, Sudan, Syria, Thailand, Turkey, Vietnam (North) Vietnam (South), Yemen.

Of these Ethiopia, Iran, Iraq, Philippines, Thailand, Turkey, and Pakistan may be regarded as friendly to the United States. It is today impossible to include Japan in that list because Japan's position grows more precarious every day, particularly after our State Department would not permit Japan's Foreign Minister, Mamoru Shigemitsu, to strengthen his position by coming to the United States. Shigemitsu had, it is true, little to say that could not be said through ordinary diplomatic channels, but he needed "face" by a visit to the United States and that for some inexplicable reason was withheld from him. We may be forcing Japan into the arms of Red China.

One of the subjects to be discussed at Bandoeng is the position of Asia and Africa in relation to problems affecting national sovereignty, racialism and colonialism. This item must include the question of the successor sovereignty of China, whether it is Communist China or Nationalist China and therefore the whole problem of Formosa will be thoroughly ventilated. Red China will make the claim that the United States has restored colonialism in Asia by its Formosan policy. The Philippine delegate, Carlos Romulo, will undoubtedly defend the American position, but whether our few friends at the conference will be able to prevent a resolution against the United States is to be seen.

Dr. Saifuddin Kitchlew, president of the All-India Peace Council, states the case for the pro-Communist China group as follows:

"In India, we are unanimous that Taiwan must be restored to China. Again and again our prime minister has opposed the outrageous farce of representation of the Chiang Kai-shek coterie in the United Nations. We have demanded resolutely that the Chinese People's Republic be granted its rightful place in the United Nations.

"We know well that the governments of the United States and Great Britain are breaking solemn obligations, freely entered into, when they prevent the restoration of Taiwan to the Chinese People's Republic. International agreements and declarations, signed by the President of the United States and the Prime Minister of Great Britain, are being shamelessly violated, and an effort is being made by these powers to appear as 'peacemakers', preventing Chinese 'aggression' against poor little Chiang Kai-shek."

It is not true that the United States has broken any agreement with the Chinese People's Republic, with which it has no agreement. What Dr. Kitchlew refers to is the Cairo Declaration which was made jointly with Chiang Kai-shek. Nevertheless, men may believe what they choose and this Indian chooses to believe that the United States occupies Chinese territory, namely, Formosa. Dr. Kitchlew states further:

"Just as our fight for the end to the slavery of Goa is the fight of the whole world against colonialism and for freedom, so also is the fight for the liberation of Taiwan."

It is this position against the United States that Peking sought to strengthen by capturing the islands of Quemoy and Matsu prior to the meeting of the 30 nations at Bandoeng. Chou En-lai would then have been able to come into the conference as an all-conquering hero who defeated the United States twice and France once. Probably had he taken Quemoy and Matsu, Red China would be waging war for Formosa during the conference and Japan would be forced to fall into Chou's lap. Perhaps that is why Admiral Robert B. Carney thought that the Red Chinese could move about April 15. It was a logical date in view of the opening of the Bandoeng Conference on April 18.

"If You Rearm West Germany, We'll Tear This Up"

Self-Righteous Congressmen Object To News "Leak"

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — Within a few days the Senate Foreign Relations Committee will ask Secretary Dulles some questions about the alleged "leak" of the Yalta papers. The fact is that one newspaper did have a copy in advance of the other newspapers but that all newspapers finally published simultaneously the story of the documents.

Judging by the self-righteous outcries from some members of Congress about the need for investigating this supposed "leak," it might be imagined that senators and representatives do not "leak" confidential information.

Not so many years ago the late Paul Mallon, then with the United Press, managed to get and then publish the roll call on a presidential nominee who was being voted on in executive session. These roll calls usually had been kept secret. After that episode, all such roll calls were published. A public service resulted from that "leak."

Common Practice

Again and again senators and representatives get confidential documents from the executive branch of the government, and often the contents are "leaked" to the press. Usually it is to promote some cause that would be aided by publication and hurt by suppression.

Only recently, when the secretary of State offered to send the Yalta papers in confidence to members of Congress in key places, the invitation to examine those documents was promptly declined. One wonders why. Among the reasons advanced was that the members of Congress didn't trust each other not to "leak," and those who would keep faith, feared they might be wrongfully accused. The truth is that "leaking" information is a common practice on Capitol Hill and elsewhere in Washington.

Now, the fact that the New York Times for several hours had an advance copy of the Yalta papers is acknowledged. It also is a fact that the Department of State had decided to make the documents public and wanted to find some newspaper which would print them in full text. This involves the newspaper in a big expenditure—perhaps $50,000 or more in extra printing and paper costs. What newspaper or newspapers would agree to print the full text of such a voluminous record as that contained in the Yalta papers—more than 400,000 words?

End Result A Disservice

It was assumed at the State Department that the New York Times, which has printed full texts of many lengthy documents heretofore, might be interested. So it is understood that the Times was approached and did agree to print the documents in full. To do this meant the sending in of an advance copy a day or two ahead, so that typographical composition could be begun before the release date. This is often done in Washington with lengthy papers. Usually, of course, the understanding is that the document or announcement will be held for simultaneous release in all newspapers. There are occasions when the documents are later withdrawn because of some change in policy, and the public never sees the material at all.

Can it be said that, in such circumstances, a person outside the government has received "confidential" information improperly? Is the newspaper editor or his reporter to be regarded as engaging in some violation of security by the official because an advance release is given out? If so, then presidential messages and other documents of a highly confidential character before the hour of release comes would have to be held up so there would be no charge of a "leak."

But the end result would be a disservice to the American people. For if documents of 400,000 words are dumped on the desks of the reporters in Washington at the last minute when release is permitted and without a chance for advance reading, the consequent newspaper articles must necessarily be sketchy and errors of omission and commission will be encountered.

No Leak To Public

The "leak" to the New York Times didn't turn out to be a leak to the public, though an official has the right to single out one publication or one reporter and give him a "scoop."

When Harry Truman was president, he gave exclusive articles to favored reporters and indeed his administration gave to the New York Times alone the secret and confidential record of what happened in a military conference at Wake Island in the Pacific between President Truman and General MacArthur. No democratic senator rose in Congress to criticize that action. In fact, a stenographer, with the administration's knowledge and consent, was stationed surreptitiously just outside the door to eavesdrop on General MacArthur.

This was a piece of "wire-tapping" which, strangely enough, none of the so-called "liberals" has ever denounced, while they prate loudly today that informal chitchat at the Yalta conference should never have been made public even though it is a part of the official records— and it wasn't surreptitiously recorded, either.

Eating Mushrooms? Be Sure You Get Edible Variety

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Emperor Nero gave one of the most deadly banquets in the history of mankind. Poisonous mushrooms were served and all the guests, guards, and gate crashers died. According to Jane Rockwell, among the thousands of other famous persons in various eras who were poisoned by these fungi were Pope Clement VII, Emperor VI, the widow of Czar Alexis, and the wife and children of Euripides.

Mushrooms and toadstools have been steeped in mystery throughout the ages because the realization of their toxicity passed down from one generation to another. But we now know that the majority are edible; it was the harmful varieties that gave the vegetable its notorious reputation.

In all there are more than 2,000 species that differ in color, texture, taste, and odor. The best known is Agaricus campestris, which is found in pastures and grassy places. The top is white and the pink gills later change to brown.

The Amanita muscaria contains the poison, muscarine. Eating this substance usually produces vomiting, abdominal pain, diarrhea, intense thirst, and profuse perspiration. The pupils of the eyes contract and the victim may go into convulsions and coma.

The more deadly Amanita phalloides also leads to gastrointestinal distress along with excess salivation, circulatory failure, and damage to the liver and kidneys. Rapid intoxication develops within a few minutes after consuming the muscaria variety, but symptoms may not appear for six to 15 hours after eating the phalloides.

Both specimens have white gills and spores and grow in clusters on wet or shady ground. They have a bitter taste and yield a pungent milk.

The stomach should be rid of the poison quickly by inducing vomiting or washing out the organ repeatedly with a stomach tube. A saline cathartic aids in eliminating any of the noxious material that reaches the intestine. Atropnie acts as an antidote for muscarine but it must be administered carefully. Sedatives also may be prescribed to calm the nervous system.

Over the years, many tests have been devised to determine the safety of mushrooms but as a rule they are valueless. One such maneuver is to place a silver coin, spoon, or dish in the pan in which the mushrooms are being cooked. If the water turns black, the fungus is toxic. Other legendary methods of no practical value consists of judging the wholesomeness of the product by the color, taste, and whether or not it peels easily.

Mushrooms ought not to be eaten unless they are picked by those who know the real McCoy or by commercial dealers who make it their business to be careful.

Yes, but it would be unusual for the condition to be so selective.

BREAKING VEINS

No. These pregnancy tests are reliable after the 10th day following the first missed period.

Try And Stop Me!

By Bennett Cerf

Sports Analyst John Drebinger poo-poohs experts who declare that the Giants' present manager, Leo Durocher, is cast in the same mould as his famous predecessor, "Muggsy" McGraw. Durocher, points out Mr. Drebinger, fiddles around and experiments with his line-up all through the spring months, with the result that his Giants are usually still buried in the second division come July, and have to play like fury in the stretch to make a respectable finish.

McGraw, on the other hand, believed in getting his club away winging. When the team didn't have it, the collapse in mid-season often was complete — but by that time the club's coffers were bulging. "In New York," he argued, "the first half of the season spells financial success or failure. July and August offer too many counter-attractions. If you're still in the running, September crowds are pure velvet. But you've got to get those big attendances in the first half of the season to at least break even on the year."

Sam Rayburn, Speaker Of The House, Has But One Love, Congress Of U. S.

By Drew Pearson

(Editors Note—Today Drew Pearson presents the brass ring, good for one free ride on the Washington Merry-Go-Round, to Sam Rayburn, speaker of the House of Representatives.)

WASHINGTON — A member of the Women's Press Club was eying the two men who rule the unruly House of Representatives as they sat on the speaker's dais at a press club dinner the other day.

"He travels fastest who travels alone," she remarked. "It's a sad commentary on us women that both Sam Rayburn and Joe Martin are bachelors."

Sam Rayburn has been single so long that most people don't know he was once married. But about 40 years ago when the present speaker of the House of Representatives was in his 30's and a very green congressman, he brought a new bride to Washington. They remained married five months. Then she confided that she had made a mistake, that she had been in love with another man. Sam was heartbroken, but let her go back to Texas to the man she loved.

Since then, Sam Rayburn has had only one love—the Congress of the United States. He loves it, is married to it, has served in it longer than any other man save Senator Hayden of Arizona. Not even his old friend and sometimes speaker, Joe Martin, with whom he exchanges gavels when the Republicans come into power, has Sam's record.

He Knows Congress

He knows every barber in the House barbershop by name. He knows the different gavels with which he has called the House to order — when Queen Elizabeth spoke, when MacArthur spoke, the president of France, the president of Turkey, the king of Greece. He knows almost every block of worn white and black marble between his office and the speaker's rostrum. And on his shelves are copies of the laws he has enacted and the debates which enacted them.

It's a long array of laws, affecting almost every person in the United States—the Securities and Exchange Acts, the Federal Communications Act, Rural Electrification, Holding Corporation—for Sam was sponsor of most of the early New Deal legislation.

Sam is proud of his record, but he doesn't brag about it.

"I was named Sam, not Samuel," he says. "We don't believe in putting on airs in our family."

"Sam is the only man I know," Harry Truman once remarked, "who could stay in Washington 40 years and still wear the same size hat he wore when he came here."

A Square Jaw

It's now been 42 years since Sam Rayburn came to Washington, fresh from being speaker of the Texas legislature. Woodrow Wilson had just been elected. World War I had not yet started. Sam has stayed on—through the administration of six presidents, two World Wars and the Korean War.

After Adlai Stevenson was defeated in 1952, Sam was discouraged and talked about quitting. He's long wanted to go back to his farm near Bonham where he tinkers around the barn with a hammer and saw, cuts wood in the fall, and plays a domino game called "42" in the cool of the evening. But his brother-in-law, Judge Marvin Jones, cheered him up and Sam has been leading the Democrats in Congress more effectively ever since.

Outwardly Sam Rayburn is friendly and soft-spoken. But his jaw is square and hot blood flows in his veins. Born in Tennessee and reared in Texas, Sam can and will fight stubbornly, relentlessly.

Though from a conservative rural district, he has fought for a wage-hour law for labor and against the Taft-Hartley Act just as much as he has fought for farmers, or against the power trust.

Advice To Truman

He started the Eisenhower administration by trying to help the new president.

"I told him what I told Harry Truman," he confided to a friend. "I went to see Truman and told him: 'Now you ain't gonna be Harry to me anymore. You are Mr. President. But as an old friend who has known you a long time I'm gonna give you some advice. You ain't as big a man as some people think you are'.

"To this Truman replied: 'I sure ain't'.

"When I told this to Eisenhower he leaned back and roared.

"Then I told Truman," Sam said, continuing his advice to Eisenhower, "that he was going to have two great problems—'One with the people around you who will be afraid to let anyone else get near you and who'll make you their prisoner'.'

" 'The other is the big business sycophants. Your real friends from Missouri will come to town and find you're busy, so they'll go back home. But the big business boys will hang around for months, waiting, until they see you. And if you are not careful, you're gonna get too much advice from them. And their advice isn't gonna be like the fellow's from Missouri'.

"Well," concluded Sam, "I told this to Truman and I told it to Eisenhower. Truman made some mistakes, but Eisenhower didn't even know what I was talking about.

"The trouble is he doesn't know any more what's going on than Ulysses S. Grant. Grant was a fine man until he got to be president. When Lee surrendered (Sam's father served under Lee), he told Grant: 'My men are starving. They have nothing to eat but hog hominy'.

"So Grant gave an order: 'Every man in my army with three rations is to give two of them to Lee's army'.

"But when Grant got into the White House, they ruined him."

The Quick And The Dead

By Brother Barnabas

We have just had a rendezvous with life at Easter. Popular interest has risen to a new high in contemplation of immortality.

Another breath-taking event follows in its wake, having to do with the life that now is—Dr. Jonas E. Salk's development of anti-polio vaccine. What a boon to humanity!

It is tragic, but true, that on the day we are born we begin to die, and the process continues till we "cross over."

In spite of all the inoculations (and you can't have too many),

"Some little bug is going to find you some day,
Some little bug will creep behind you some day."

It is a somber thought to inject here, but every time we see a skull-and-crossbones, or a warning red light, we are reminded that we'd better be quick or we may be dead.

Degrees Of Livingness

Although death probably interferes with the purposes of God no more than if one should move from one town to another, most of us would rather remain in Frostburg or Cumberland permanently than enjoy "the pleasures of sin for a season" in Washington or Annapolis.

Just in case you want to humor your macabre fancies, take a look at Hans Holbein's "Dance of Death" and see the cadavers capering beside the judge on the bench, the priest in his pulpit, the nun in her cell, the doctor in his study, the bride and the beggar, the king and the infant.

There are degrees of livingness. Some folks are dead from their shoulders up. What they lack in the head they must make up in their feet.

Lucy Larcom, pointing to Henry Ward Beecher, said, "There goes the livest man I ever knew." Teddy Roosevelt, it is said, held in his brain 40 per cent of the world's available knowledge.

Men differ in their bents and capacities. Some are introverts, some extroverts. Some are "in the know," others have the "know-how."

The preacher, the doctor and the mortician are a trio of public servants in immediate demand where life and death are involved. "Alles gut' Ding sind drei"—all good things come in threes.

The preacher takes 30 minutes to deliver a sermon intended to raise the dead. They go on sleeping. Dr. Obstetric delivers four baby girls, sound and hungry, syncopating from one crib to another, within the same period.

Great Obstetrician

Moses, it is said, was a great obstetrician. He "delivered" the children of Israel. Franklin D. Roosevelt as a "deliverer" was a better second baseman. He kept Frances E. Perkins in the Department of Labor eight years! Ah!

Now that polio has been conquered, and cancer is on the way out, there remains another malady for which a vaccine is long overdue.

It is psychopathic. It's an amorphous state of mind. It isn't dementia. It is not contagious, it harms nobody but oneself. You don't go to the hospital for observation, although it may become phrenetic.

Physiologically, it may be due to a lack of coordination among the brain cells themselves, and extending to the motor controls of the body. I call it Ineptitude, for short.

There are many symptoms: Locking the door to your office and returning later to see if you had forgotten. Grandma hunting for her "specs" and finding them on her forehead. Blunderbusses "gifted" in saying or doing the wrong thing at the wrong time. Pulling boners, spilling the beans, are other symptoms.

Have you ever received an anonymous letter? A crackpot wrote one word: "Fool." The recipient, a distinguished divine, holding the scrawl up before the congregation, said: "I have often received letters unsigned, but this is the first time I have ever received a signature without the letter."

Light Is Needed

It doesn't pay to argue about matters that don't matter. Light, not heat, is needed to reconcile differences of opinion.

In the 1840s a church conference was held in a country church near Pittsburgh. It was a big occasion. People came from miles around in buggies, surreys, buckboards, hitched to horses, mules or oxen.

The day was hot, the windows were open, the vehicles and the animals were close to the windows so the proceedings within could be seen and heard by the curiosity seekers.

Dr. George Brown was the scholarly, dignified presiding officer. A stiff debate was on, and the belligerents were clamoring for recognition so they might state a point of order and obtain a ruling from the chair, or to continue the debate.

Just when the eloquence and confusion were at their height a loud, prolonged heehaw from an ass with his nose poked into the window brought the audience to attention. What would the president say in such an embarrassing moment?

Rapping his gavel he said: "One at a time, Brethren, one at a time!

Naturally yours,

BROTHER BARNABAS

Of these Ethiopia, Iran, Iraq, Philippines, Thailand, Turkey, and Pakistan may be regarded as friendly to the United States. It is today impossible to include Japan in that list because Japan's position grows more precarious every day, particularly after our State Department would not permit Japan's Foreign Minister, Mamoru Shigemitsu, to strengthen his position by coming to the United States. Shigemitsu had, it is true, little to say that could not be said through ordinary diplomatic channels, but he needed "face" by a visit to the United States and that for some inexplicable reason was withheld from him. We may be forcing Japan into the arms of Red China.

One of the subjects to be discussed at Bandoeng is the position of Asia and Africa in relation to problems affecting national sovereignty, racialism and colonialism. This item must include the question of the successor sovereignty of China, whether it is Communist China or Nationalist China and therefore the whole problem of Formosa will be thoroughly ventilated. Red China will make the claim that the United States has restored colonialism in Asia by its Formosan policy. The Philippine delegate, Carlos Romulo, will undoubtedly defend the American position, but whether our few friends at the conference will be able to prevent a resolution against the United States is to be seen.

Dr. Saifuddin Kitchlew, president of the All-India Peace Council, states the case for the pro-Communist China group as follows:

"In India, we are unanimous that Taiwan must be restored to China. Again and again our prime minister has opposed the outrageous farce of representation of the Chiang Kai-shek coterie in the United Nations. We have demanded resolutely that the Chinese People's Republic be granted its rightful place in the United Nations.

"We know well that the governments of the United States and Great Britain are breaking solemn obligations, freely entered into, when they prevent the restoration of Taiwan to the Chinese People's Republic. International agreements and declarations, signed by the President of the United States and the Prime Minister of Great Britain, are being shamelessly violated, and an effort is being made by these powers to appear as 'peacemakers', preventing Chinese 'aggression' against poor little Chiang Kai-shek."

It is not true that the United States has broken any agreement with the Chinese People's Republic, with which it has no agreement. What Dr. Kitchlew refers to is the Cairo Declaration which was made jointly with Chiang Kai-shek. Nevertheless, men may believe what they choose and this Indian chooses to believe that the United States occupies Chinese territory, namely, Formosa. Dr. Kitchlew states further:

"Just as our fight for the end to the slavery of Goa is the fight of the whole world against colonialism and for freedom, so also is the fight for the liberation of Taiwan."

It is this position against the United States that Peking sought to strengthen by capturing the islands of Quemoy and Matsu prior to the meeting of the 30 nations at Bandoeng. Chou En-lai would then have been able to come into the conference as an all-conquering hero who defeated the United States twice and France once. Probably had he taken Quemoy and Matsu, Red China would be waging war for Formosa during the conference and Japan would be forced to fall into Chou's lap. Perhaps that is why Admiral Robert B. Carney thought that the Red Chinese could move about April 15. It was a logical date in view of the opening of the Bandoeng Conference on April 18.

"If You Rearm West Germany, We'll Tear This Up"

Sam Rayburn, Speaker Of The House, Has But One Love, Congress Of U. S.

By Drew Pearson

(Editors Note—Today Drew Pearson presents the brass ring, good for one free ride on the Washington Merry-Go-Round, to Sam Rayburn, speaker of the House of Representatives.)

WASHINGTON — A member of the Women's Press Club was eying the two men who rule the unruly House of Representatives as they sat on the speaker's dais at a press club dinner the other day.

"He travels fastest who travels alone," she remarked. "It's a sad commentary on us women that both Sam Rayburn and Joe Martin are bachelors."

Sam Rayburn has been single so long that most people don't know he was once married. But about 40 years ago when the present speaker of the House of Representatives was in his 30's and a very green congressman, he brought a new bride to Washington. They remained married five months. Then she confided that she had made a mistake, that she had been in love with another man. Sam was heartbroken, but let her go back to Texas to the man she loved.

Since then, Sam Rayburn has had only one love—the Congress of the United States. He loves it, is married to it, has served in it longer than any other man save Senator Hayden of Arizona. Not even his old friend and sometimes speaker, Joe Martin, with whom he exchanges gavels when the Republicans come into power, has Sam's record.

He Knows Congress

He knows every barber in the House barbershop by name. He knows the different gavels with which he has called the House to order — when Queen Elizabeth spoke, when MacArthur spoke, the president of France, the president of Turkey, the king of Greece. He knows almost every block of worn white and black marble between his office and the speaker's rostrum. And on his shelves are copies of the laws he has enacted and the debates which enacted them.

It's a long array of laws, affecting almost every person in the United States—the Securities and Exchange Acts, the Federal Communications Act, Rural Electrification, Holding Corporation—for Sam was sponsor of most of the early New Deal legislation.

Sam is proud of his record, but he doesn't brag about it.

"I was named Sam, not Samuel," he says. "We don't believe in putting on airs in our family."

"Sam is the only man I know," Harry Truman once remarked, "who could stay in Washington 40 years and still wear the same size hat he wore when he came here."

A Square Jaw

It's now been 42 years since Sam Rayburn came to Washington, fresh from being speaker of the Texas legislature. Woodrow Wilson had just been elected. World War I had not yet started. Sam has stayed on—through the administration of six presidents, two World Wars and the Korean War.

After Adlai Stevenson was defeated in 1952, Sam was discouraged and talked about quitting. He's long wanted to go back to his farm near Bonham where he tinkers around the barn with a hammer and saw, cuts wood in the fall, and plays a domino game called "42" in the cool of the evening. But his brother-in-law, Judge Marvin Jones, cheered him up and Sam has been leading the Democrats in Congress more effectively ever since.

Outwardly Sam Rayburn is friendly and soft-spoken. But his jaw is square and hot blood flows in his veins. Born in Tennessee and reared in Texas, Sam can and will fight stubbornly, relentlessly.

Though from a conservative rural district, he has fought for a wage-hour law for labor and against the Taft-Hartley Act just as much as he has fought for farmers, or against the power trust.

Advice To Truman

He started the Eisenhower administration by trying to help the new president.

"I told him what I told Harry Truman," he confided to a friend. "I went to see Truman and told him: 'Now you ain't gonna be Harry to me anymore. You are Mr. President. But as an old friend who has known you a long time I'm gonna give you some advice. You ain't as big a man as some people think you are'.

"To this Truman replied: 'I sure ain't'.

"When I told this to Eisenhower he leaned back and roared.

"Then I told Truman," Sam said, continuing his advice to Eisenhower, "that he was going to have two great problems—'One with the people around you who will be afraid to let anyone else get near you and who'll make you their prisoner'.'

" 'The other is the big business sycophants. Your real friends from Missouri will come to town and find you're busy, so they'll go back home. But the big business boys will hang around for months, waiting, until they see you. And if you are not careful, you're gonna get too much advice from them. And their advice isn't gonna be like the fellow's from Missouri'.

"Well," concluded Sam, "I told this to Truman and I told it to Eisenhower. Truman made some mistakes, but Eisenhower didn't even know what I was talking about.

"The trouble is he doesn't know any more what's going on than Ulysses S. Grant. Grant was a fine man until he got to be president. When Lee surrendered (Sam's father served under Lee), he told Grant: 'My men are starving. They have nothing to eat but hog hominy'.

"So Grant gave an order: 'Every man in my army with three rations is to give two of them to Lee's army'.

"But when Grant got into the White House, they ruined him."

Self-Righteous Congressmen Object To News "Leak"

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — Within a few days the Senate Foreign Relations Committee will ask Secretary Dulles some questions about the alleged "leak" of the Yalta papers. The fact is that one newspaper did have a copy in advance of the other newspapers but that all newspapers finally published simultaneously the story of the documents.

Judging by the self-righteous outcries from some members of Congress about the need for investigating this supposed "leak," it might be imagined that senators and representatives do not "leak" confidential information.

Not so many years ago the late Paul Mallon, then with the United Press, managed to get and then publish the roll call on a presidential nominee who was being voted on in executive session. These roll calls usually had been kept secret. After that episode, all such roll calls were published. A public service resulted from that "leak."

Common Practice

Again and again senators and representatives get confidential documents from the executive branch of the government, and often the contents are "leaked" to the press. Usually it is to promote some cause that would be aided by publication and hurt by suppression.

Only recently, when the secretary of State offered to send the Yalta papers in confidence to members of Congress in key places, the invitation to examine those documents was promptly declined. One wonders why. Among the reasons advanced was that the members of Congress didn't trust each other not to "leak," and those who would keep faith, feared they might be wrongfully accused. The truth is that "leaking" information is a common practice on Capitol Hill and elsewhere in Washington.

Now, the fact that the New York Times for several hours had an advance copy of the Yalta papers is acknowledged. It also is a fact that the Department of State had decided to make the documents public and wanted to find some newspaper which would print them in full text. This involves the newspaper in a big expenditure—perhaps $50,000 or more in extra printing and paper costs. What newspaper or newspapers would agree to print the full text of such a voluminous record as that contained in the Yalta papers—more than 400,000 words?

End Result A Disservice

It was assumed at the State Department that the New York Times, which has printed full texts of many lengthy documents heretofore, might be interested. So it is understood that the Times was approached and did agree to print the documents in full. To do this meant the sending in of an advance copy a day or two ahead, so that typographical composition could be begun before the release date. This is often done in Washington with lengthy papers. Usually, of course, the understanding is that the document or announcement will be held for simultaneous release in all newspapers. There are occasions when the documents are later withdrawn because of some change in policy, and the public never sees the material at all.

Can it be said that, in such circumstances, a person outside the government has received "confidential" information improperly? Is the newspaper editor or his reporter to be regarded as engaging in some violation of security by the official because an advance release is given out? If so, then presidential messages and other documents of a highly confidential character before the hour of release comes would have to be held up so there would be no charge of a "leak."

But the end result would be a disservice to the American people. For if documents of 400,000 words are dumped on the desks of the reporters in Washington at the last minute when release is permitted and without a chance for advance reading, the consequent newspaper articles must necessarily be sketchy and errors of omission and commission will be encountered.

No Leak To Public

The "leak" to the New York Times didn't turn out to be a leak to the public, though an official has the right to single out one publication or one reporter and give him a "scoop."

When Harry Truman was president, he gave exclusive articles to favored reporters and indeed his administration gave to the New York Times alone the secret and confidential record of what happened in a military conference at Wake Island in the Pacific between President Truman and General MacArthur. No democratic senator rose in Congress to criticize that action. In fact, a stenographer, with the administration's knowledge and consent, was stationed surreptitiously just outside the door to eavesdrop on General MacArthur.

This was a piece of "wire-tapping" which, strangely enough, none of the so-called "liberals" has ever denounced, while they prate loudly today that informal chitchat at the Yalta conference should never have been made public even though it is a part of the official records— and it wasn't surreptitiously recorded, either.

Baering Down On The News

The Quick And The Dead

By Brother Barnabas

We have just had a rendezvous with life at Easter. Popular interest has risen to a new high in contemplation of immortality.

Another breath-taking event follows in its wake, having to do with the life that now is—Dr. Jonas E. Salk's development of anti-polio vaccine. What a boon to humanity!

It is tragic, but true, that on the day we are born we begin to die, and the process continues till we "cross over."

In spite of all the inoculations (and you can't have too many),

"Some little bug is going to find you some day,
Some little bug will creep behind you some day."

It is a somber thought to inject here, but every time we see a skull-and-crossbones, or a warning red light, we are reminded that we'd better be quick or we may be dead.

Degrees Of Livingness

Although death probably interferes with the purposes of God no more than if one should move from one town to another, most of us would rather remain in Frostburg or Cumberland permanently than enjoy "the pleasures of sin for a season" in Washington or Annapolis.

Just in case you want to humor your macabre fancies, take a look at Hans Holbein's "Dance of Death" and see the cadavers capering beside the judge on the bench, the priest in his pulpit, the nun in her cell, the doctor in his study, the bride and the beggar, the king and the infant.

There are degrees of livingness. Some folks are dead from their shoulders up. What they lack in the head they must make up in their feet.

Lucy Larcom, pointing to Henry Ward Beecher, said, "There goes the livest man I ever knew." Teddy Roosevelt, it is said, held in his brain 40 per cent of the world's available knowledge.

Men differ in their bents and capacities. Some are introverts, some extroverts. Some are "in the know," others have the "know-how."

The preacher, the doctor and the mortician are a trio of public servants in immediate demand where life and death are involved. "Alles gut' Ding sind drei"—all good things come in threes.

The preacher takes 30 minutes to deliver a sermon intended to raise the dead. They go on sleeping. Dr. Obstetric delivers four baby girls, sound and hungry, syncopating from one crib to another, within the same period.

Great Obstetrician

Moses, it is said, was a great obstetrician. He "delivered" the children of Israel. Franklin D. Roosevelt as a "deliverer" was a better second baseman. He kept Frances E. Perkins in the Department of Labor eight years! Ah!

Now that polio has been conquered, and cancer is on the way out, there remains another malady for which a vaccine is long overdue.

It is psychopathic. It's an amorphous state of mind. It isn't dementia. It is not contagious, it harms nobody but oneself. You don't go to the hospital for observation, although it may become phrenetic.

Physiologically, it may be due to a lack of coordination among the brain cells themselves, and extending to the motor controls of the body. I call it Ineptitude, for short.

There are many symptoms: Locking the door to your office and returning later to see if you had forgotten. Grandma hunting for her "specs" and finding them on her forehead. Blunderbusses "gifted" in saying or doing the wrong thing at the wrong time. Pulling boners, spilling the beans, are other symptoms.

Have you ever received an anonymous letter? A crackpot wrote one word: "Fool." The recipient, a distinguished divine, holding the scrawl up before the congregation, said: "I have often received letters unsigned, but this is the first time I have ever received a signature without the letter."

Light Is Needed

It doesn't pay to argue about matters that don't matter. Light, not heat, is needed to reconcile differences of opinion.

In the 1840s a church conference was held in a country church near Pittsburgh. It was a big occasion. People came from miles around in buggies, surreys, buckboards, hitched to horses, mules or oxen.

The day was hot, the windows were open, the vehicles and the animals were close to the windows so the proceedings within could be seen and heard by the curiosity seekers.

Dr. George Brown was the scholarly, dignified presiding officer. A stiff debate was on, and the belligerents were clamoring for recognition so they might state a point of order and obtain a ruling from the chair, or to continue the debate.

Just when the eloquence and confusion were at their height a loud, prolonged heehaw from an ass with his nose poked into the window brought the audience to attention. What would the president say in such an embarrassing moment?

Rapping his gavel he said: "One at a time, Brethren, one at a time!

Naturally yours,

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Emperor Nero gave one of the most deadly banquets in the history of mankind. Poisonous mushrooms were served and all the guests, guards, and gate crashers died. According to Jane Rockwell, among the thousands of other famous persons in various eras who were poisoned by these fungi were Pope Clement VII, Emperor VI, the widow of Czar Alexis, and the wife and children of Euripides.

Mushrooms and toadstools have been steeped in mystery throughout the ages because the realization of their toxicity passed down from one generation to another.

But we now know that the majority are edible; it was the harmful varieties that gave the vegetable its notorious reputation.

In all there are more than 2,000 species that differ in color, texture, taste, and odor. The best known is Agaricus campestris, which is found in pastures and grassy places. The top is white and the pink gills later change to brown.

The Amanita muscaria contains the poison, muscarine. Eating this substance usually produces vomiting, abdominal pain, diarrhea, intense thirst, and profuse perspiration. The pupils of the eyes contract and the victim may go into convulsions and coma.

The more deadly Amanita phalloides also leads to gastrointestinal distress along with excess salivation, circulatory failure, and damage to the liver and kidneys. Rapid intoxication develops within a few minutes after consuming the muscaria variety, but symptoms may not appear for six to 15 hours after eating the phalloides.

Both specimens have white gills and spores and grow in clusters on wet or shady ground. They have a bitter taste and yield a pungent milk.

The stomach should be rid of the poison quickly by inducing vomiting or washing out the organ repeatedly with a stomach tube. A saline cathartic aids in eliminating any of the noxious material that reaches the intestine. Atropnie acts as an antidote for muscarine but it must be administered carefully. Sedatives also may be prescribed to calm the nervous system.

Over the years, many tests have been devised to determine the safety of mushrooms but as a rule they are valueless. One such maneuver is to place a silver coin, spoon, or dish in the pan in which the mushrooms are being cooked. If the water turns black, the fungus is toxic. Other legendary methods of no practical value consists of judging the wholesomeness of the product by the color, taste, and whether or not it peels easily.

Mushrooms ought not to be eaten unless they are picked by those who know the real McCoy or by commercial dealers who make it their business to be careful.

Try And Stop Me!

Sports Analyst John Drebinger poo-poohs experts who declare that the Giants' present manager, Leo Durocher, is cast in the same mould as his famous predecessor, "Muggsy" McGraw. Durocher, points out Mr. Drebinger, fiddles around and experiments with his line-up all through the spring months, with the result that his Giants are usually still buried in the second division come July, and have to play like fury in the stretch to make a respectable finish.

McGraw, on the other hand, believed in getting his club away winging. When the team didn't have it, the collapse in mid-season often was complete — but by that time the club's coffers were bulging. "In New York," he argued, "the first half of the season spells financial success or failure. July and August offer too many counter-attractions. If you're still in the running, September crowds are pure velvet. But you've got to get those big attendances in the first half of the season to at least break even on the year."

Fort Hill Beats LaSalle, 4-3, On Squeeze Play In Seventh

Ronnie Lewis' Bunt Decides City Contest

Comes With Bases Loaded To Climax Three-Run Rally

Fort Hill High School's Sentinels staged a last ditch rally in the 7th inning to nose out LaSalle High School's Explorers in the initial intra-city baseball game of the season yesterday at Fort Hill Field by the score of 4-3.

Coach John J. "Bobby" Cavanaugh's aggregation spotted their city rivals three runs in the fifth inning, picked up a tally in the 6th and then exploded for three markers to pull the ball game out of the fire in the final stanza.

A walk, error, triple by Gary Smith and Ken Klosterman's fielder's choice produced all of the Explorers runs in the fifth frame.

After being blanked by Lefty Bill Roberts for five innings, the Hilltoppers broke the ice in the 6th when Dorcil Kline singled and scored on a triple by Ed Parsons.

Win On "Squeeze" Play

Singles by Jesse Markley and Galen McGregor netted the first Fort Hill tally in the 7th and Clarence "Pooch" Lewis' steaming triple to right center tied the score at 3-3. Dorcil Kline and Ed Parsons were intentionally passed to fill the bases. Then Ronnie Lewis, pinch-hitting for Weaver, came through with a "squeeze" play bunt that sent "Pooch" Lewis home with the deciding tally.

Markley went all the way for the Sentinels, limiting the Explorers to three hits while striking out four. Lefty Bill Roberts was charged with the loss. "Pooch" Lewis was the only player to get more than one hit. He garnered a triple and single.

Nice Fielding Plays

Bill Buzzard, of LaSalle, turned in a nice catch on a line drive from Parsons' bat in the first inning while Dorcil Kline, Fort Hill's left fielder, contributed a field gem on Jerry Sheffler's drive in the sixth. Box:

Furgol, Wall Share Lead In Open Tourney

Post 4-Under-Par 66s In Greensboro Golf

GREENSBORO, N.C., April 15 (AP)—Ed Furgol and Art Wall Jr., two pros who had their biggest years in 1954 but haven't done much this year, banged out four under par 66s today to share the first round lead in the $12,500 Greater Greensboro Open golf tournament.

They were one shot ahead of little Jerry Barber, Los Angeles veteran, whose 34-33—67 gave him third place by one shot over five rivals. The 68 shooters included Sam Snead, gunning for his fifth Greensboro victory; honeymooning Julius Boros, 1952 U.S. Open champion; former amateur ace Frank Stranahan, a pro since last fall; Ted Kroll and unheralded Mike Fetchick, Mahopac, N.Y., pro whose chief claim to fame has been a $1,000 first place check in the Brawley, Calif., Open last January.

Snead went out in 33. He had an eagle chance from 10 feet on 18 but the putt went over the hole, three feet by, and he had to come back from there for his birdie.

Six players were tied at 69, including Mike Souchak, the year's leading money winner, and Doug Ford, last year's winner here.

Twenty players matched or bettered par.

Jack Burke, first round pacesetter in the Masters last week, broke his putter on the third green when he leaned on it and completed the round using a No. 2 iron on the greens, finishing with 74.

JOSEPH F. FLANAGAN, who officiates as state steward on all of Maryland's race tracks, made the ruling that resulted in the suspension of Eddie Arcaro the other day at Bowie and knocked the ace jockey out of a chance to ride Nashua in the $100,000 Wood Memorial April 23 in New York.

Fred Colwill, racing secretary of the Cumberland Fair Association, and William L. Harron along with Flanagan viewed the films of the race and agreed Eddie had fouled while riding Singalea.

"People," Flanagan said, "have been calling me up at home all weekend. They seem to feel that because Arcaro is Arcaro he should get some special consideration. But I don't look at it that way. Because Arcaro is a top jockey and because he'll lose the mount on Nashua in the Wood people seem to think he should get a special concession.

"We have to judge each case on its individual merits—not on what stakes are coming up and how Nashua will run for another rider."

Arcaro was, after all, just another jockey and if he was guilty of wrongdoing he should be penalized just like any other rider.

WHEN the Allegany County Men's Shuffleboard League playoffs open next week the Cumberland K. of C. will be angling for their fourth title in eight years.

The Knights won the crown in 1948 and 1950 by sweeping both halves of the split season. In 1949 they beat the Century Club of Frostburg in the split season playoff.

Stadium Inn and the Cumberland Amvets are two-times winners.

In 1951 the Frostburgers won both halves and two years later beat the Cumberland Amvets in the Shaughnessy playoffs.

The Amvets whipped Stadium Inn in the 1952 finals and downed Fisher & Robinette last year.

Engle played basketball at Salisbury High in 1924 and was with the Salisbury Cardinals, managed by Fred Petry, father of Jack Petry, now pirncipal at Valley High School, Lonaconing, after he was graduated.

"Rip" coached at Waynesboro (Pa.) High, Western Maryland College and Brown University before taking over the reins at Penn State in 1951.

FRITZ SHOWERS, Ridgeley High School sharpshooter, scored 1,101 points in 62 games in his sophomore, junior and senior years on the court. That's an average of 17.8 points a season.

He also turned in the brilliant foul shooting average of .733, sinking 359 of 490 shots.

SIX years ago when the South Atlantic AAP Boxing Tournament was staged here Herman Thompson of Baltimore won the welterweight title.

He's entered in this year's SAA tourney at Baltimore in the 139-pound class.

There are only 33 entries in the ten weight classes, namely 112, 119, 125, 132, 139, 147, 156, 165, and 178 and heavyweight.

Well, Curtis got starched by Sonny Bunn, of Washington, D. C., in the 6th round of a scheduled 8-round match Monday night at Marigold Gardens, Chicago.

WEST VIRGINIA'S deer regulations for this year call for a six-day open season in six nearby counties — Mineral, Hampshire, Hardy, Pendleton, Grant and Tucker—November 28 through December 3.

In all of these counties deer having antlers three inches or more in length visible above their hair are legal game during the six days. On the last two days of the season, December 2 and 3 deer of the hunter's choice (any age or sex) are legal game.

DAVE GROTE, (pronounced Grote-ee) editor of the National League's Green Book, lists the proper pronunciation of names of some of the players who should get into the box scores this season.

For instance, there is Mejias of the Pirates, pronounced Muh-HAY-ess. Pyecha of the Cubs is pe-ECK-uh and Speake is Speak. Others are:

Scull, Cincinnati (School); Casagrande, Phillies (Casa-Grand); Palys, Phillies (Pay-liss); Koufax, Dodgers (KO-fax); Blassingame, Cardinals (Blaze-ing-game and Chito, Cubs (CHEE-te).

ACCORDING to figures furnished by the March issue of the Maryland Conservationis' 60 per cent of the deer slain by hunters in the state in the past four years fell in District No. 1, comprising Garrett, Allegany and Washington counties.

For the 4-year period Garrett leads with 2,139 followed by Allegany with 1,015 and Washington with 517. This is a total of 3,671 out of the state's bag of 6,074 and includes firearms and bow kills.

Here are the yearly figures:

County	1951	1952	1953	1954
Allegany	210	232	289	284
Garrett	569	592	468	510
Washington	96	145	134	142

Ashland Beats Potomac State By Score 3-1

Hit Batsman In 9th With Bases Loaded Prevents Shutout

KEYSER, April 15 — Capt Jack Purtell pitched Ashland (Ohio) College to a 3-1 victory over Potomac State College in the final game of their two-game series here today. The win gave the Eagles an even break, Potomac State having copped the opener on Thursday by the same score.

Purtell twirled shutout ball until the ninth inning when Roger Parker, pinch-hitting for Mertz, was hit by a pitched ball with the bases full, forcing the lone tally over the plate. The Ashland twirler kept seven hits well spaced, failed to issue a pass and struck out eleven.

Paul Haywood, making his first start for the Catamounts, yielded three runs in the fifth and sixth inning, and was supplanted by Mertz who finished on the rubber.

Bill Wilgus, Ashland second sacker, led the hitters with three singles to his credit. Junie Perry rapped a two-bagger and single to pace Coach John Maiden's swatsmiths.

The loss was Potomac State's fifth against two victories.

Today's game was the 13th between the schools since 1949. Ashland has won nine and Potomac State four.

Ashland's game with Frostburg State Teachers this morning at Frostburg was cancelled on account of wet grounds. Box:

Mims-Jones Bout Displeases Fans

Holly Gets Decision In Philly Taffy Pull

PHILADELPHIA, April 15 (AP)—Foot stamping and loud boos by the crowd provided most of the action tonight as Holly Mims, fourth-ranked middleweight from Washington, D.C., won a lackluster unanimous 10-round decision over Bobby Jones of Oakland, Calif., at the arena.

Mims and Jones, each weighing 157½, pawed at each other for 10 dull rounds before a handful of fans and a national television (NBC) audience.

The punching of the 26-year-old Mims, who won his 39th fight against 12 defeats and 4 draws, was a mite sharper in most of the rounds and that earned him the nod.

Judge Jimmy Mina carded Mims a 6-3-1 winner; Judge Nat Lipinson voted for the Washington fighter 7-2-1, and Referee Zack Clayton scored it 6-3-1 for Mims. The Associated Press scored Mims an 8-2 victor.

Score Whiffs Nine Tigers, Cleveland Is 7-3 Winner

Tribe Gets 11 Hits, Wins Third In Row

DETROIT, April 15 (AP)—Rookie Herb Score, Cleveland's "can't miss" kid, made his first major league start today and struck out nine batters and walked nine while pitching the Indians to a 7-3 victory over the Detroit Tigers.

The 21-year-old left hander, flashing a trucky but erratic curve on a dark afternoon, allowed seven hits after surviving a shaky start in which he looked like most young southpaws—wild.

But the slender Irishman, one of the most celebrated rookies to come into the American League in a long time, quickly settled down and turned in a poised performance.

Several of his strikeouts came at critical moments. On three occasions he fanned Fred Hatfield, Ferris Fain and Harvey Kuenn with two runners on base.

The first two batters to face him, Kuenn and Hatfield, drilled sharp singles. Kuenn scored the first run of the game on Al Kaline's sacrifice fly.

Score walked the first three batters in the second inning, but wiggled free with only one run being scored.

The Indians backed Score with an 11 hit attack, which included a single, a double and three-run triple by batting champion Bobby Avila.

The victory was the third straight of the young season for the Indians, moving them into undisputed possession of first place.

NCAA To Review Television Card Offered By NBC

Eight Games Will Net $150,000 Each

CHICAGO, April 15 (AP) — The television committee of the National Collegiate Athletic Assn. tomorrow will review a proposed 1955 football TV schedule submitted by the National Broadcasting Co.

The NBC emerged the successful bidder for the NCAA's eight-game national video program this fall, with a reported $150,000 a game bid. Five dates already have been set by the NCAA with the NBC allowed to pick three other dates in October and November.

Walter Byers, NCAA executive director, said today that if final approval is given the games and optional dates, any announcement on the program probably would be made by the NBC.

The NCAA plan provides that a school may appear once on the national program and once within its own district or abstain from the national setup and appear twice regionally.

Five dates will be cleared for regional television. But sponsor negotiations can't be started in the NCAA's seven designated TV districts until the national schedule is determined. The Big Ten's TV committee will meet on this subject here tomorrow.

Dodgers Hand Giants Third Straight Loss

Furillo Poles Two Homers, Snider One; Loes Winner, 6-3

NEW YORK, April 15 (AP) — The champion New York Giants were still without a victory today as the Brooklyn Dodgers handed them their third consecutive defeat, 6-3, behind the six hit pitching of Billy Loes.

Duke Snider started the Giants downward with a 425-foot home run which scored two teammates ahead of him in the fifth inning. Carl Furillo certified the defeat with a pair of four-baggers, his third and fourth of the young season. Furillo, a righthander, has hit all four of his homers off right-handed pitchers.

Snider's prodigious blow, his first of the campaign, snapped a 1-1 tie and actually sent the Giants reeling into the National League cellar, a berth they share with the Cincinnati Redlegs. Manager Leo Durocher threw in 20 players in a vain attempt to stave off the Giants' second straight loss to the Dodgers.

Brooklyn's victory was its third without a defeat and projected the Dodgers into a first place tie with the surprising Chicago Cubs.

Ruben Gomez, who whipped the Dodgers four times in five tries last year, was charged with the setback. The Puerto Rican screwball artist was stung for 10 hits and all but one of the Dodger runs before he was derricked for a fruitless pinch-hitter.

The Giants, for the third straight game, staged a late inning rally but, like the others, it fell short too. Held to three hits through eight innings, they pounced upon Loes in the ninth, putting together two runs on three hits and a walk. With the tying run at bat, however, Jackie Robinson turned pinch hitter Ray Katt's grounder into a game-ending forceout.

Until the ninth, Loes gave a smooth if not spectacular performance. He walked four and struck out two. All three Giants' hits up to the ninth were singles and all were of the scratchy variety.

LaSalle Rifle Team Defeats Canton, Ohio, In Final Test

Locals' Record 7-6 For Season; Vie In Baltimore Apr. 23

LaSalle High School's rifle team, coached by Jim Miller, concluded its second straight winning season yesterday by defeating Central Catholic High School of Canton, Ohio, in a postal match by the score of 489 to 473.

The Explorers captured their last three matches of the campaign to make their season record seven wins against six losses. LaSalle's riflemen made their debut a year ago and won five out of nine contests.

Mike Dougherty was high scorer in the season's finale with a 99. Kessler, Sisterehn and Hoot sparked the Canton gunners with 96s each.

LaSalle's team will fire in the national matches on April 23 at the Fifth Regiment Armory, Baltimore.

"Ditty" Stitcher Catches 10 Trout, One 6½ Pounds

Officer John Henry "Ditty" Stitcher, of the Cumberland Police Department, celebrated the opening of the trout season in Pennsylvania yesterday by catching the limit of ten in Koon Dam.

His collection of rainbow included a "whopper" that was 28 inches long and weighed 6½ pounds.

The other nine ranged in length from eight to 18 inches.

Betty Jameson Leads In Beaumont Golf

BEAUMONT, Tex., April 15—(INS) Veteran campaigner Betty Jameson of San Antonio, Tex., fired a sizzling seven under par 65—the lowest round of her 22-year-old career—today to take the first round lead in the 54-hole Babe Zaharias Golf Tourney at Beaumont.

The 39-year-old Texan shattered the course and tourney record by carving out a 31 on the front nine and holing out in 34 on the return trip.

Miss Jameson's card enabled her to take a seven-stroke lead on her nearest rival—Jackie Pung of Cincinnati who fired a 72 over the 6,219-yard course.

Sports Sputterings

By Walter L. Johns, Central Press Sports Editor

PERHAPS he's baseball's best pitcher. Some are calling him that, and have been for some time.

Anyway, Robin Evan Roberts, the Phillies' meal ticket, is off again on another 20-win season, and off in spectacular fashion.

For eight innings in his 1955 debut, Robin mowed down the New York Giants only to have three players hit him in the ninth after one was out.

Thus his bid for a no-hitter, one of the few accomplishments that have escaped him, was foiled.

It was one of the best games the husky righthander ever pitched, but just one of them.

Last season, for example, Robin had two games going where one hit spoiled his entry into baseball's no-hit Hall of Fame.

On April 29, against Milwaukee, Robin gave up a double in the third inning to Del Crandall and that was it. Outfielder Del Ennis later apologized, said he should have caught the ball.

In his home park a couple of weeks later Robin pitched probably his finest game. Bobby Adams of the Redlegs led off with a home run into the lower left field stands. That was all. Robin mowed down the next 27 Redlegs in a row and walked none.

THIS IS ROBERTS' eighth year with the Phillies. He has now won 138 games against 88 losses.

Last year was one of his best. He started the most, pitched the most complete games, hurled the most innings, led in strikeouts and it was his fifth straight season of 20 or more victories.

Carl Hubbell, the old Giant star, won 20 or more games five years in a row back in 1933-37 and Roberts is the first in the N. L. since that time.

The Phillies' star is a product of Michigan State college and after being signed to a bonus he went on to one season in the minors, at Wilmington, in the Interstate loop, in 1948. His record there was a fine 9 and 1 and he came up to the Phils the same year.

Since then, he has been the outstanding pitcher of the club and of the league.

Roberts is only 28. He has quite a few years left to add to an already glamorous career.

He's going to be aiming again at that no-hit achievement. And, judging by his three close calls and his overall brilliant record, he'll make it—some day.

Warriors Halt Capon Bridge

Score Seven In 1st, Notch 7-5 Victory

WARDENSVILLE, April 15 — Coach "Pete" Vance's Wardensville High School Warriors scored seven runs in the first inning today and snapped the four-game winning streak of Capon Bridge High School by the score of 7-5.

The win was the first for Wardensville in three outings while Capon Bridge suffered its first setback in five starts.

C. J. Cunningham went the route for the Warriors, limiting the visitors to four hits, including a triple by Herman Mason, and struck out six. The Wardensville twirler gave up ten bases on balls.

Cordell Cooper was blasted out of the box before retiring a batter in the first inning. Clarence Saville, his successor, yielded only three hits and two runs and whiffed a dozen in six complete innings. Box:

Coach Orville Jackson's Flintstone High School Aggies launched their Bi-State Conference campaign with a 4-2 decision over Bruce High School's Bulldogs yesterday at Westernport.

Kenny Lough, 6-foot-2 righthander, went the route for the winners, scattered eight hits, four of which were credited to Kenny Broadwater, fanned seven and gave up only one free ticket.

The Aggies obtained only two hits off Norman Raines, cousin of Bobby Raines, former Bruce High ace, but one of them, a double by Danny Bible sewed up the game in the fifth inning after the Bulldogs had taken a 2-1 lead. Bible's two-base belt came with two out and drove in two runs.

"Kip" Montgomery, southpaw, who supplanted Raines in the top of the 7th fanned the only two batters to face him after the Aggies had scored their final run.

Raines walked eight batsmen and got a bad break in the first frame when three errors netted Flintstone its initial tally.

Broadwater's four hits included a two-bagger.

The Mt. Savage at Beall and the Hyndman at Valley games scheduled yesterday were postponed on account of wet grounds. The Hyndman - Valley game has been rescheduled for Wednesday, April 27. Box:

South's Top Milers Square Off Today

COLLEGE PARK, Md., April 15 (AP)—Two of the South's most promising young college milers, Burr Grim of Maryland and Jim Beatty of North Carolina, square off for a "rubber" match tomorrow.

The two sophomores first crossed paths outdoors last spring as freshmen and the Marylander was the winner. Beatty evened the score last winter indoors on his home track.

Grim has run the mile outdoors in 4:19 and Coach Jim Kehoe predicts he'll break 4:10 before he's through. Beatty's time indoors when he beat Grim was 4:16.3.

The dual track meet brings together undefeated squads in addition to Grim and Beatty. Maryland has beaten Virginia and the Quantico Marines while North Carolina whipped North Carolina State and Princeton.

Fort Hill Beats LaSalle, 4-3, On Squeeze Play In Seventh

Ronnie Lewis' Bunt Decides City Contest

Comes With Bases Loaded To Climax Three-Run Rally

Fort Hill High School's Sentinels staged a last ditch rally in the 7th inning to nose out LaSalle High School's Explorers in the initial intra-city baseball game of the season yesterday at Fort Hill Field by the score of 4-3.

Coach John J. "Bobby" Cavanaugh's aggregation spotted their city rivals three runs in the fifth inning, picked up a tally in the 6th and then exploded for three markers to pull the ball game out of the fire in the final stanza.

A walk, error, triple by Gary Smith and Ken Klosterman's fielder's choice produced all of the Explorers runs in the fifth frame.

After being blanked by Lefty Bill Roberts for five innings, the Hilltoppers broke the ice in the 6th when Dorcil Kline singled and scored on a triple by Ed Parsons.

Win On "Squeeze" Play

Singles by Jesse Markley and Galen McGregor netted the first Fort Hill tally in the 7th and Clarence "Pooch" Lewis' steaming triple to right center tied the score at 3-3. Dorcil Kline and Ed Parsons were intentionally passed to fill the bases. Then Ronnie Lewis, pinch-hitting for Weaver, came through with a "squeeze" play bunt that sent "Pooch" Lewis home with the deciding tally.

Markley went all the way for the Sentinels, limiting the Explorers to three hits while striking out four. Lefty Bill Roberts was charged with the loss. "Pooch" Lewis was the only player to get more than one hit. He garnered a triple and single.

Nice Fielding Plays

Bill Buzzard, of LaSalle, turned in a nice catch on a line drive from Parsons' bat in the first inning while Dorcil Kline, Fort Hill's left fielder, contributed a field gem on Jerry Sheffler's drive in the sixth. Box:

Furgol, Wall Share Lead In Open Tourney

Post 4-Under-Par 66s In Greensboro Golf

GREENSBORO, N.C., April 15 (AP)—Ed Furgol and Art Wall Jr., two pros who had their biggest years in 1954 but haven't done much this year, banged out four under par 66s today to share the first round lead in the $12,500 Greater Greensboro Open golf tournament.

They were one shot ahead of little Jerry Barber, Los Angeles veteran, whose 34-33—67 gave him third place by one shot over five rivals. The 68 shooters included Sam Snead, gunning for his fifth Greensboro victory; honeymooning Julius Boros, 1952 U.S. Open champion; former amateur ace Frank Stranahan, a pro since last fall; Ted Kroll and unheralded Mike Fetchick, Mahopac, N.Y., pro whose chief claim to fame has been a $1,000 first place check in the Brawley, Calif., Open last January.

Snead went out in 33. He had an eagle chance from 10 feet on 18 but the putt went over the hole, three feet by, and he had to come back from there for his birdie.

Six players were tied at 69, including Mike Souchak, the year's leading money winner, and Doug Ford, last year's winner here.

Twenty players matched or bettered par.

Jack Burke, first round pacesetter in the Masters last week, broke his putter on the third green when he leaned on it and completed the round using a No. 2 iron on the greens, finishing with 74.

JOSEPH F. FLANAGAN, who officiates as state steward on all of Maryland's race tracks, made the ruling that resulted in the suspension of Eddie Arcaro the other day at Bowie and knocked the ace jockey out of a chance to ride Nashua in the $100,000 Wood Memorial April 23 in New York.

Fred Colwill, racing secretary of the Cumberland Fair Association, and William L. Harron along with Flanagan viewed the films of the race and agreed Eddie had fouled while riding Singalea.

"People," Flanagan said, "have been calling me up at home all weekend. They seem to feel that because Arcaro is Arcaro he should get some special consideration. But I don't look at it that way. Because Arcaro is a top jockey and because he'll lose the mount on Nashua in the Wood people seem to think he should get a special concession.

"We have to judge each case on its individual merits—not on what stakes are coming up and how Nashua will run for another rider."

Arcaro was, after all, just another jockey and if he was guilty of wrongdoing he should be penalized just like any other rider.

WHEN the Allegany County Men's Shuffleboard League playoffs open next week the Cumberland K. of C. will be angling for their fourth title in eight years.

The Knights won the crown in 1948 and 1950 by sweeping both halves of the split season. In 1949 they beat the Century Club of Frostburg in the split season playoff.

Stadium Inn and the Cumberland Amvets are two-times winners.

In 1951 the Frostburgers won both halves and two years later beat the Cumberland Amvets in the Shaughnessy playoffs.

The Amvets whipped Stadium Inn in the 1952 finals and downed Fisher & Robinette last year.

FORMER Rep. Jennings Randolph, who represented the nearby Second West Virginia District for many years, and was a tennis player in his younger days, is the father of Jennings (Jay) Randolph, Jr., who is now officially an entrant in the British amateur golf tournament May 30-June 4.

The former George Washington University golf captain, now a private in the army, has been certified for the British event by the Bethesda Country Club.

CHARLES "Rip" Engle, Penn State football coach, is scheduled to come home June 1 as the guest speaker at the commencement exercises of Salisbury-Elk Lick (Po.) High School.

Engle played basketball at Salisbury High in 1924 and was with the Salisbury Cardinals, managed by Fred Petry, father of Jack Petry, now pirncipal at Valley High School, Lonaconing, after he was graduated.

"Rip" coached at Waynesboro (Pa.) High, Western Maryland College and Brown University before taking over the reins at Penn State in 1951.

FRITZ SHOWERS, Ridgeley High School sharpshooter, scored 1,101 points in 62 games in his sophomore, junior and senior years on the court. That's an average of 17.8 points a season.

He also turned in the brilliant foul shooting average of .733, sinking 359 of 490 shots.

SIX years ago when the South Atlantic AAP Boxing Tournament was staged here Herman Thompson of Baltimore won the welterweight title.

He's entered in this year's SAA tourney at Baltimore in the 139-pound class.

There are only 33 entries in the ten weight classes, namely 112, 119, 125, 132, 139, 147, 156, 165, and 178 and heavyweight.

REMEMBER the hard-hitting Curtis Coles, of Pittsburgh, who knocked out Clarence Jenkins and Jimmy Brown in amateur shows here in 1948?

Well, Curtis got starched by Sonny Bunn, of Washington, D. C., in the 6th round of a scheduled 8-round match Monday night at Marigold Gardens, Chicago.

WEST VIRGINIA'S deer regulations for this year call for a six-day open season in six nearby counties — Mineral, Hampshire, Hardy, Pendleton, Grant and Tucker—November 28 through December 3.

In all of these counties deer having antlers three inches or more in length visible above their hair are legal game during the six days. On the last two days of the season, December 2 and 3 deer of the hunter's choice (any age or sex) are legal game.

DAVE GROTE, (pronounced Grote-ee) editor of the National League's Green Book, lists the proper pronunciation of names of some of the players who should get into the box scores this season.

For instance, there is Mejias of the Pirates, pronounced Muh-HAY-ess. Pyecha of the Cubs is pe-ECK-uh and Speake is Speak. Others are:

Scull, Cincinnati (School); Casagrande, Phillies (Casa-Grand); Palys, Phillies (Pay-liss); Koufax, Dodgers (KO-fax); Blassingame, Cardinals (Blaze-ing-game and Chito, Cubs (CHEE-te).

ACCORDING to figures furnished by the March issue of the Maryland Conservationis' 60 per cent of the deer slain by hunters in the state in the past four years fell in District No. 1, comprising Garrett, Allegany and Washington counties.

For the 4-year period Garrett leads with 2,139 followed by Allegany with 1,015 and Washington with 517. This is a total of 3,671 out of the state's bag of 6,074 and includes firearms and bow kills.

Here are the yearly figures:

County	1951	1952	1953	1954
Allegany	210	232	289	284
Garrett	569	592	468	510
Washington	96	145	134	142

Ashland Beats Potomac State By Score 3-1

Hit Batsman In 9th With Bases Loaded Prevents Shutout

KEYSER, April 15 — Capt Jack Purtell pitched Ashland (Ohio) College to a 3-1 victory over Potomac State College in the final game of their two-game series here today. The win gave the Eagles an even break, Potomac State having copped the opener on Thursday by the same score.

Purtell twirled shutout ball until the ninth inning when Roger Parker, pinch-hitting for Mertz, was hit by a pitched ball with the bases full, forcing the lone tally over the plate. The Ashland twirler kept seven hits well spaced, failed to issue a pass and struck out eleven.

Paul Haywood, making his first start for the Catamounts, yielded three runs in the fifth and sixth inning, and was supplanted by Mertz who finished on the rubber.

Bill Wilgus, Ashland second sacker, led the hitters with three singles to his credit. Junie Perry rapped a two-bagger and single to pace Coach John Maiden's swatsmiths.

The loss was Potomac State's fifth against two victories.

Today's game was the 13th between the schools since 1949. Ashland has won nine and Potomac State four.

Ashland's game with Frostburg State Teachers this morning at Frostburg was cancelled on account of wet grounds. Box:

Mims-Jones Bout Displeases Fans

Holly Gets Decision In Philly Taffy Pull

PHILADELPHIA, April 15 (AP)—Foot stamping and loud boos by the crowd provided most of the action tonight as Holly Mims, fourth-ranked middleweight from Washington, D.C., won a lackluster unanimous 10-round decision over Bobby Jones of Oakland, Calif., at the arena.

Mims and Jones, each weighing 157½, pawed at each other for 10 dull rounds before a handful of fans and a national television (NBC) audience.

The punching of the 26-year-old Mims, who won his 39th fight against 12 defeats and 4 draws, was a mite sharper in most of the rounds and that earned him the nod.

Judge Jimmy Mina carded Mims a 6-3-1 winner; Judge Nat Lipinson voted for the Washington fighter 7-2-1, and Referee Zack Clayton scored it 6-3-1 for Mims. The Associated Press scored Mims an 8-2 victor.

Score Whiffs Nine Tigers, Cleveland Is 7-3 Winner

Tribe Gets 11 Hits, Wins Third In Row

DETROIT, April 15 (AP)—Rookie Herb Score, Cleveland's "can't miss" kid, made his first major league start today and struck out nine batters and walked nine while pitching the Indians to a 7-3 victory over the Detroit Tigers.

The 21-year-old left hander, flashing a trucky but erratic curve on a dark afternoon, allowed seven hits after surviving a shaky start in which he looked like most young southpaws—wild.

But the slender Irishman, one of the most celebrated rookies to come into the American League in a long time, quickly settled down and turned in a poised performance.

Several of his strikeouts came at critical moments. On three occasions he fanned Fred Hatfield, Ferris Fain and Harvey Kuenn with two runners on base.

The first two batters to face him, Kuenn and Hatfield, drilled sharp singles. Kuenn scored the first run of the game on Al Kaline's sacrifice fly.

Score walked the first three batters in the second inning, but wiggled free with only one ran being scored.

The Indians backed Score with an 11 hit attack, which included a single, a double and three-run triple by batting champion Bobby Avila.

The victory was the third straight of the young season for the Indians, moving them into undisputed possession of first place.

NCAA To Review Television Card Offered By NBC

Eight Games Will Net $150,000 Each

CHICAGO, April 15 (AP) — The television committee of the National Collegiate Athletic Assn. tomorrow will review a proposed 1955 football TV schedule submitted by the National Broadcasting Co.

The NBC emerged the successful bidder for the NCAA's eight-game national video program this fall, with a reported $150,000 a game bid. Five dates already have been set by the NCAA with the NBC allowed to pick three other dates in October and November.

Walter Byers, NCAA executive director, said today that if final approval is given the games and optional dates, any announcement on the program probably would be made by the NBC.

The NCAA plan provides that a school may appear once on the national program and once within its own district or abstain from the national setup and appear twice regionally.

Five dates will be cleared for regional television. But sponsor negotiations can't be started in the NCAA's seven designated TV districts until the national schedule is determined. The Big Ten's TV committee will meet on this subject here tomorrow.

Dodgers Hand Giants Third Straight Loss

Furillo Poles Two Homers, Snider One; Loes Winner, 6-3

NEW YORK, April 15 (AP) — The champion New York Giants were still without a victory today as the Brooklyn Dodgers handed them their third consecutive defeat, 6-3, behind the six hit pitching of Billy Loes.

Duke Snider started the Giants downward with a 425-foot home run which scored two teammates ahead of him in the fifth inning. Carl Furillo certified the defeat with a pair of four-baggers, his third and fourth of the young season. Furillo, a righthander, has hit all four of his homers off right-handed pitchers.

Snider's prodigious blow, his first of the campaign, snapped a 1-1 tie and actually sent the Giants reeling into the National League cellar, a berth they share with the Cincinnati Redlegs. Manager Leo Durocher threw in 20 players in a vain attempt to stave off the Giants' second straight loss to the Dodgers.

Brooklyn's victory was its third without a defeat and projected the Dodgers into a first place tie with the surprising Chicago Cubs.

Ruben Gomez, who whipped the Dodgers four times in five tries last year, was charged with the setback. The Puerto Rican screwball artist was stung for 10 hits and all but one of the Dodger runs before he was derricked for a fruitless pinch-hitter.

The Giants, for the third straight game, staged a late inning rally but, like the others, it fell short too. Held to three hits through eight innings, they pounced upon Loes in the ninth, putting together two runs on three hits and a walk. With the tying run at bat, however, Jackie Robinson turned pinch hitter Ray Katt's grounder into a game-ending forceout.

Until the ninth, Loes gave a smooth if not spectacular performance. He walked four and struck out two. All three Giants' hits up to the ninth were singles and all were of the scratchy variety.

Betty Jameson Leads In Beaumont Golf

BEAUMONT, Tex., April 15—(INS) Veteran campaigner Betty Jameson of San Antonio, Tex., fired a sizzling seven under par 65—the lowest round of her 22-year-old career—today to take the first round lead in the 54-hole Babe Zaharias Golf Tourney at Beaumont.

The 39-year-old Texan shattered the course and tourney record by carving out a 31 on the front nine and holing out in 34 on the return trip.

Miss Jameson's card enabled her to take a seven-stroke lead on her nearest rival—Jackie Pung of Cincinnati who fired a 72 over the 6,219-yard course.

SPORTS SPUTTERINGS

By Walter L. Johns, Central Press Sports Editor

PERHAPS he's baseball's best pitcher. Some are calling him that, and have been for some time.

Anyway, Robin Evan Roberts, the Phillies' meal ticket, is off again on another 20-win season, and off in spectacular fashion.

For eight innings in his 1955 debut, Robin mowed down the New York Giants only to have three players hit him in the ninth after one was out.

Thus his bid for a no-hitter, one of the few accomplishments that have escaped him, was foiled.

It was one of the best games the husky righthander ever pitched, but just one of them.

Last season, for example, Robin had two games going where one hit spoiled his entry into baseball's no-hit Hall of Fame.

On April 29, against Milwaukee, Robin gave up a double in the third inning to Del Crandall and that was it. Outfielder Del Ennis later apologized, said he should have caught the ball.

In his home park a couple of weeks later Robin pitched probably his finest game. Bobby Adams of the Redlegs led off with a home run into the lower left field stands. That was all. Robin mowed down the next 27 Redlegs in a row and walked none.

THIS IS ROBERTS' eighth year with the Phillies. He has now won 138 games against 88 losses.

Last year was one of his best. He started the most, pitched the most complete games, hurled the most innings, led in strikeouts and it was his fifth straight season of 20 or more victories.

Carl Hubbell, the old Giant star, won 20 or more games five years in a row back in 1933-37 and Roberts is the first in the N. L. since that time.

The Phillies' star is a product of Michigan State college and after being signed to a bonus he went on to one season in the minors, at Wilmington, in the Interstate loop, in 1948. His record there was a fine 9 and 1 and he came up to the Phils the same year.

Since then, he has been the outstanding pitcher of the club and of the league.

Roberts is only 28. He has quite a few years left to add to an already glamorous career.

He's going to be aiming again at that no-hit achievement. And, judging by his three close calls and his overall brilliant record, he'll make it—some day.

Warriors Halt Capon Bridge

Score Seven In 1st, Notch 7-5 Victory

WARDENSVILLE, April 15 — Coach "Pete" Vance's Wardensville High School Warriors scored seven runs in the first inning today and snapped the four-game winning streak of Capon Bridge High School by the score of 7-5.

The win was the first for Wardensville in three outings while Capon Bridge suffered its first setback in five starts.

C. J. Cunningham went the route for the Warriors, limiting the visitors to four hits, including a triple by Herman Mason, and struck out six. The Wardensville twirler gave up ten bases on balls.

Cordell Cooper was blasted out of the box before retiring a batter in the first inning. Clarence Saville, his successor, yielded only three hits and two runs and whiffed a dozen in six complete innings. Box:

South's Top Milers Square Off Today

COLLEGE PARK, Md., April 15 (AP)—Two of the South's most promising young college milers, Burr Grim of Maryland and Jim Beatty of North Carolina, square off for a "rubber" match tomorrow.

The two sophomores first crossed paths outdoors last spring as freshmen and the Marylander was the winner. Beatty evened the score last winter indoors on his home track.

Grim has run the mile outdoors in 4:19 and Coach Jim Kehoe predicts he'll break 4:10 before he's through. Beatty's time indoors when he beat Grim was 4:16.3.

The dual track meet brings together undefeated squads in addition to Grim and Beatty. Maryland has beaten Virginia and the Quantico Marines while North Carolina whipped North Carolina State and Princeton.

Coach Orville Jackson's Flintstone High School Aggies launched their Bi-State Conference campaign with a 4-2 decision over Bruce High School's Bulldogs yesterday at Westernport.

Kenny Lough, 6-foot-2 righthander, went the route for the winners, scattered eight hits, four of which were credited to Kenny Broadwater, fanned seven and gave up only one free ticket.

The Aggies obtained only two hits off Norman Raines, cousin of Bobby Raines, former Bruce High ace, but one of them, a double by Danny Bible sewed up the game in the fifth inning after the Bulldogs had taken a 2-1 lead. Bible's two-base belt came with two out and drove in two runs.

"Kip" Montgomery, southpaw, who supplanted Raines in the top of the 7th fanned the only two batters to face him after the Aggies had scored their final run.

Raines walked eight batsmen and got a bad break in the first frame when three errors netted Flintstone its initial tally.

Broadwater's four hits included a two-bagger.

The Mt. Savage at Beall and the Hyndman at Valley games scheduled yesterday were postponed on account of wet grounds. The Hyndman - Valley game has been rescheduled for Wednesday, April 27. Box:

K. Of C. 16th Sportsmanship Award Dinner Set For Sunday

Pyles, Brown, Hundley Will Attend Affair

Eight Nominated; Carl Hartman Will Get Purse, Trophy

The sixteenth annual Cumberland Knights of Columbus Sportsmanship Award dinner will be held Sunday at 6 p. m. at the K. of C. Home.

From a group of eight basketball players from four Greater Cumberland high schools the winner will be selected and presented an engraved gold wrist watch. The seven runners-up will receive miniature gold basketballs. Robert E. Pence, director of the City Recreation Department, is chairman of the Selection Committee.

Eight Are Nominated

Nominees for this year's award are:

Ronnie Phillips and Paul Lockard, Ridgeley High School.

Richard Harris and Phil Geatz, LaSalle High School.

Jon Wesley Hann and Dorcil Kline, Fort Hill High School.

Hugh Steele and Jim Sisk, Allegany High School.

Thomas B. Finan, attorney for the City of Cumberland, and one-time LaSalle High School football player, will act as toastmaster at tomorrow night's affair. Rev. Regis T. Larkin, assistant pastor of St. Michael's Catholic Church, Frostburg, will give the invocation and benediction.

Pyles, Brown To Attend

Among the honored guests will be Robert "Red" Brown, athletic director of West Virginia University, who will be making his third appearance at a K. of C. dinner; Rex Pyles, coach of Alderson-Broaddus College, Philippi, W. Va., for the past 21 years; Carl Hartman, former Ridgeley High School athlete, who established a national four-year scoring record at Alderson-Broaddus College by amassing 3,473 points, and has been selected in the National Basketball Association draft by the Boston Celtics, and last but not least "Hot Rod" Hundley, West Virginia University's sensational sophomore basketball player.

William V. Keegan, co-chairman of the dinner, announces that Brother David Cassin, director of public relations at LaSalle College, Philadelphia, has accepted an invitation to attend.

Farrell May Make It

Vinnie Farrell, internationally known basketball referee of New Jersey who recently was voted in Basketball's Hall of Fame at Springfield, Mass., has been invited and he will make an effort to get here if he can make connections from Detroit where he has officiated in games between the College All-Stars and Globetrotters this weekend.

In recognition of his great performances on the court, Carl Hartman will be presented a purse that is being raised by the Ridgeley booster Club and the local Knights of Columbus. Hartman will be presented a trophy by the Sports Shoppe.

The Past Winners

Of the past fifteen winners of the award five were from LaSalle, four each from Fort Hill and Allegany and two from Ridgeley. They are as follows:

Yanks' Noren Is Suspended

Outfielder Jostled Ump Bill McKinley

BOSTON, April 15 (AP)—American League President Will Harridge today indefinitely suspended New York Yankee outfielder Irv Noren pending an umpires report on a fracas in the sixth inning of yesterday's game with the Boston Red Sox.

Noren and Hank Bauer were banished by plate umpire Bill McKinley in the sixth.

Noren hit a two-run double that rolled to the foot of the right centerfield wall. Trying to score on Gerry Coleman's base hit to left, Noren made a wide turn at third, stumbled coming down the line and was called out after a head-first slide into Sox catcher Sammy White.

Noren enraged, jostled McKinley several times and the umpire pushed his mask in the outfielder's face to protect himself.

Bauer was tossed out of the game a few minutes later, apparently because he had been making comments from the on-deck circle.

"White had the ball waiting for him. I saw Noren tagged on the right forearm," McKinley said. The umpire explained he brought his mask up "because Noren was spitting at me. I kept getting this stuff in the face. Finally I ordered Noren from the game."

SPORTS GRILL

by Pat Robinson

International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, April 15—(INS)—Avery Brundage, president of the International Olympic Committee, never has won any medals for tact.

Indeed, his blunt statements and actions in fighting for his beliefs have led him into many a rhubarb. He is a stickler for the rules, and he doesn't care on whose toes he may step.

So we can sympathize with him in his efforts to get action in Australia, where strikes have held up work on preparations for the Olympic Games.

In his usual forthright manner, Brundage stuck a few verbal barbs into the powers that be in Australia and it is not surprising that some of the barbs stung.

After all, the Australians fought hard to get the Olympic Games for Melbourne, perhaps the loveliest city in Australia. They promised to set a perfect stage for the games. But they reckoned without the union trouble.

Should the games be taken away from Australia, the country down under would lose face all over the world. We doubt that Australians would permit that to happen, because there are no people in the world more proud of their own country.

The first question an Australian asks a foreigner is, "What do you think of Australia?" Once we dangered our neck by remarking that we thought most of the country was about where our far west was a hundred years ago.

We have been in most of the countries of the world in our time, but we know of none more sports-minded than Australia.

Australia is almost the same size as the United States, but its population is just about the same as New York City. A great part of that population is in the cities of Melbourne, Sidney, Adelaide, Perth and Brisbane.

It is truly amazing that so few people could turn out so many star athletes. You will quickly recall their tennis stars, their runners, their cricket and rugby players and their fine horses.

Everybody from the chambermaid to the prime minister is interested in sports, and most of them like to back their judgment with a few bob on any event.

They are an extremely hospitable people but perhaps overly sensitive of the slightest criticism, not as individuals, but of their country.

We hope our athletes will bear this in mind when they visit Australia, a land where a few pleasant words can get them more than the threat of a gun.

Americans must expect to find conditions crowded and perhaps uncomfortable. But they can have a marvelous time if they take everything in stride.

And we suggest that they try the Australian's steak topped with a fried egg for breakfast. It's a tasty dish for a hungry man. And lay off the Brundage type of diplomacy.

Berkeley High Tops Paw Paw In 13 Innings

Three-Run Outburst Decides 11-8 Battle

PAW PAW, April 15 — Berkeley Springs High School won a 13-inning thriller from Paw Paw High School's Pirates today by the score of 11-8.

Hits by Close and Ferris, coupled with a base on balls, an error and Clatterbuck's sacrifice fly netted the Indians three runs and the ball game in the 13th stanza.

Paw Paw tied the score at 7-7 in the 7th frame when Bill Patterson rapped a two-run double and later pilfered home.

Clatterbuck, who relieved Miller in the eighth inning yielded only three hits, struck out 11 in six innings and got credit for the winner. Hamilton replaced Jamison in the fourth, yielded six hits in 10 frames, fired the third strike past a dozen stickers and was charged with the loss.

Patterson of Paw Paw led the hitters with two doubles and a single in six official trips. Box:

Billy Graham Quits Boxing

Terminates 14-Year Career Of 126 Bouts

By MURRAY ROSE

NEW YORK, April 15 (AP)—Billy Graham, one of boxing's nicest guys, today hung up his gloves for good after a 14-year career.

"I'm packing it in," said the 32-year-old New Yorker who came within a shade of lifting the welterweight title from Kid Gavilan Aug. 29, 1951.

"I've had my share of fightin," said Billy, a pro since April 14, 1941. "I have my health, I've got some money saved up, and I'm going into business—what kind, I don't know yet but I've had some offers.

"I've had a lot of fun, met a lot of nice people, and done my share of travelling. Now that I'm quitting I have no complaints. My only regret is that I didn't win a title. That was what I wanted above everything else.

"I thought I had it when I fought Kid Gavilan in the Garden in '51. But they ruled against me . . That's the breaks of the game."

Graham and his friends thought he had earned the championship that August night. In his corner, Manager Irving Cohen and the seconds hailed Billy as "champ." Then came the decision. Billy leaned over the ropes and cried. Two officials had it even in rounds, 7-7-1

K. Of C. 16th Sportsmanship Award Dinner Set For Sunday

Pyles, Brown, Hundley Will Attend Affair

Eight Nominated; Carl Hartman Will Get Purse, Trophy

The sixteenth annual Cumberland Knights of Columbus Sportsmanship Award dinner will be held Sunday at 6 p. m. at the K. of C. Home.

From a group of eight basketball players from four Greater Cumberland high schools the winner will be selected and presented an engraved gold wrist watch. The seven runners-up will receive miniature gold basketballs. Robert E. Pence, director of the City Recreation Department, is chairman of the Selection Committee.

Eight Are Nominated

Nominees for this year's award are:

Ronnie Phillips and Paul Lockard, Ridgeley High School.

Richard Harris and Phil Geatz, LaSalle High School.

Jon Wesley Hann and Dorcil Kline, Fort Hill High School.

Hugh Steele and Jim Sisk, Allegany High School.

Thomas B. Finan, attorney for the City of Cumberland, and one-time LaSalle High School football player, will act as toastmaster at tomorrow night's affair. Rev. Regis T. Larkin, assistant pastor of St. Michael's Catholic Church, Frostburg, will give the invocation and benediction.

Pyles, Brown To Attend

Among the honored guests will be Robert "Red" Brown, athletic director of West Virginia University, who will be making his third appearance at a K. of C. dinner; Rex Pyles, coach of Alderson-Broaddus College, Philippi, W. Va., for the past 21 years; Carl Hartman, former Ridgeley High School athlete, who established a national four-year scoring record at Alderson-Broaddus College by amassing 3,473 points, and has been selected in the National Basketball Association draft by the Boston Celtics, and last but not least "Hot Rod" Hundley, West Virginia University's sensational sophomore basketball player.

William V. Keegan, co-chairman of the dinner, announces that Brother David Cassin, director of public relations at LaSalle College, Philadelphia, has accepted an invitation to attend.

Farrell May Make It

Vinnie Farrell, internationally known basketball referee of New Jersey who recently was voted in Basketball's Hall of Fame at Springfield, Mass., has been invited and he will make an effort to get here if he can make connections from Detroit where he has officiated in games between the College All-Stars and Globetrotters this weekend.

In recognition of his great performances on the court, Carl Hartman will be presented a purse that is being raised by the Ridgeley booster Club and the local Knights of Columbus. Hartman will be presented a trophy by the Sports Shoppe.

The Past Winners

Of the past fifteen winners of the award five were from LaSalle, four each from Fort Hill and Allegany and two from Ridgeley. They are as follows:

Yanks' Noren Is Suspended

Outfielder Jostled Ump Bill McKinley

BOSTON, April 15 (AP)—American League President Will Harridge today indefinitely suspended New York Yankee outfielder Irv Noren pending an umpires report on a fracas in the sixth inning of yesterday's game with the Boston Red Sox.

Noren and Hank Bauer were banished by plate umpire Bill McKinley in the sixth.

Noren hit a two-run double that rolled to the foot of the right centerfield wall. Trying to score on Gerry Coleman's base hit to left, Noren made a wide turn at third, stumbled coming down the line and was called out after a head-first slide into Sox catcher Sammy White.

Noren enraged, jostled McKinley several times and the umpire pushed his mask in the outfielder's face to protect himself.

Bauer was tossed out of the game a few minutes later, apparently because he had been making comments from the on-deck circle.

"White had the ball waiting for him. I saw Noren tagged on the right forearm," McKinley said. The umpire explained he brought his mask up "because Noren was spitting at me. I kept getting this stuff in the face. Finally I ordered Noren from the game."

Yale Southpaw Ace

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP)—Ken MacKenzie, junior southpaw, is expected to lead Yale to another successful baseball season. The Gore Bay, Canada, hurler led the Eli mound staff in 1954 with an 8-2 record and an earned run mark of 1.51.

SPORTS GRILL

by Pat Robinson

International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, April 15—(INS)—Avery Brundage, president of the International Olympic Committee, never has won any medals for tact.

Indeed, his blunt statements and actions in fighting for his beliefs have led him into many a rhubarb. He is a stickler for the rules, and he doesn't care on whose toes he may step.

So we can sympathize with him in his efforts to get action in Australia, where strikes have held up work on preparations for the Olympic Games.

In his usual forthright manner, Brundage stuck a few verbal barbs into the powers that be in Australia and it is not surprising that some of the barbs stung.

After all, the Australians fought hard to get the Olympic Games for Melbourne, perhaps the loveliest city in Australia. They promised to set a perfect stage for the games. But they reckoned without the union trouble.

Should the games be taken away from Australia, the country down under would lose face all over the world. We doubt that Australians would permit that to happen, because there are no people in the world more proud of their own country.

The first question an Australian asks a foreigner is, "What do you think of Australia?" Once we dangered our neck by remarking that we thought most of the country was about where our far west was a hundred years ago.

We have been in most of the countries of the world in our time, but we know of none more sports-minded than Australia.

Australia is almost the same size as the United States, but its population is just about the same as New York City. A great part of that population is in the cities of Melbourne, Sidney, Adelaide, Perth and Brisbane.

It is truly amazing that so few people could turn out so many star athletes. You will quickly recall their tennis stars, their runners, their cricket and rugby players and their fine horses.

Everybody from the chambermaid to the prime minister is interested in sports, and most of them like to back their judgment with a few bob on any event.

They are an extremely hospitable people but perhaps overly sensitive of the slightest criticism, not as individuals, but of their country.

We hope our athletes will bear this in mind when they visit Australia, a land where a few pleasant words can get them more than the threat of a gun.

Americans must expect to find conditions crowded and perhaps uncomfortable. But they can have a marvelous time if they take everything in stride.

And we suggest that they try the Australian's steak topped with a fried egg for breakfast. It's a tasty dish for a hungry man. And lay off the Brundage type of diplomacy.

Berkeley High Tops Paw Paw In 13 Innings

Three-Run Outburst Decides 11-8 Battle

PAW PAW, April 15 — Berkeley Springs High School won a 13-inning thriller from Paw Paw High School's Pirates today by the score of 11-8.

Hits by Close and Ferris, coupled with a base on balls, an error and Clatterbuck's sacrifice fly netted the Indians three runs and the ball game in the 13th stanza.

Paw Paw tied the score at 7-7 in the 7th frame when Bill Patterson rapped a two-run double and later pilfered home.

Clatterbuck, who relieved Miller in the eighth inning yielded only three hits, struck out 11 in six innings and got credit for the winner. Hamilton replaced Jamison in the fourth, yielded six hits in 10 frames, fired the third strike past a dozen stickers and was charged with the loss.

Patterson of Paw Paw led the hitters with two doubles and a single in six official trips. Box:

Billy Graham Quits Boxing

Terminates 14-Year Career Of 126 Bouts

By MURRAY ROSE

NEW YORK, April 15 (AP)—Billy Graham, one of boxing's nicest guys, today hung up his gloves for good after a 14-year career.

"I'm packing it in," said the 32-year-old New Yorker who came within a shade of lifting the welterweight title from Kid Gavilan Aug. 29, 1951.

"I've had my share of fightin," said Billy, a pro since April 14, 1941. "I have my health, I've got some money saved up, and I'm going into business—what kind, I don't know yet but I've had some offers.

"I've had a lot of fun, met a lot of nice people, and done my share of travelling. Now that I'm quitting I have no complaints. My only regret is that I didn't win a title. That was what I wanted above everything else.

"I thought I had it when I fought Kid Gavilan in the Garden in '51. But they ruled against me . . That's the breaks of the game."

Graham and his friends thought he had earned the championship that August night. In his corner, Manager Irving Cohen and the seconds hailed Billy as "champ." Then came the decision. Billy leaned over the ropes and cried. Two officials had it even in rounds, 7-7-1 but one gave it to Billy on points, 11-10, while the other cast his vote for Gavilan, 10-7. The other official gave it to the Cuban on rounds, 9-6. Ten of 13 boxing writers had Graham the winner.

A fine boxer with a rapier-like left jab, Billy had 126 pro fights. He won 102, lost 15 and drew in nine others. Nine of his losses were by split decisions. He scored 26 knockouts. He was never stopped.

Switch Helped

NEW YORK (AP)—Tom Sturdivant could throw but he couldn't hit and that's the reason the former third baseman from Oklahoma City is on the Yankee pitching staff this season.

The 25-year-old 6-footer played three seasons in the minors at Quincy, Ill., and Norfolk, Va. After military service he turned up at Beaumont, Tex., as a pitcher in 1952 and split six decisions.

In 1953 he had a 10-7 record at Birmingham, Ala., with 104 strikeouts in 139 innings. Last season at Kansas City he had an 8-9 mark with 133 strikeouts in 169 innings.

He figures to help the Yankees as a relief pitcher. In 1949 they might have lost him. He had hit only .255 for Quincy and was released. But later that year the Yankees gave him another chance.

The average number of distinct bones in a young human is 200, exclusive of the six ossicles found in the ear.

Vikings Defeat Circleville, 4-1

McCauley Is Victor Over Dallas Harper

PETERSBURG, April 15 — Sacrifice flies produced two runs today as Coach Jesse Riggleman's Petersburg High School Vikings defeated Circleville High School's Indians in a Potomac Valley Conference game by the score of 4-1.

The Vikings scored two runs in the second inning on Nelson's hit coupled with two errors and Wayne Barr's sacrifice fly. In the fourth, Nelson's second hit of the game, an outfield error, base on balls, hit batsman, infield out and Turner's fly to right field netted two more Petersburg tallies.

Circleville outhit Petersburg, 6 to 3.

Gene McCauley fanned eight Indians while Dallas Harper downed seven Vikings on strikes. Box:

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, April 15 (INS)—Jackie Gleason has a goodie for his first independent motion picture. He's bought "The Laughing Saint," an original by Joe Bigelow, former writer for Gleason, Bing Crosby, Edgar Bergen, and now with Red Skelton's TV show.

The story is inspired by St. Genesius. Although literally thousands of actors of many faiths wear St. Genesius medals, few know that before Genesius was converted to Christianity, he was a comedian and clown at the court of Emperor Diocletian in Rome. In the year 201 A. D. he was beheaded by the emperor for his disavowal of Rome's pagan gods and years later he was canonized as a saint.

In "The Laughing Saint," Jackie will play a modern story of a comedian playboy with deep religious feelings.

Bullets Durgom, manager for both Gleason and Bigelow, arrives here shortly to arrange for production starting in June.

There was no reason in the world for Fred Kohlmar to leave the home lot to find a young actress to play the beauty contest winner opposite William Holden in "Picnic."

Kim Novak, Columbia's glamor girl, was just the right type, and her tests are so good that Executive Producer Jerry Wald agreed that she should get the part in the picture. She starts May 15, with William Holden and Rosalind Russell, and Josh Logan directing.

The brother of Dr. Jonas E. Salk, who discovered the priceless anti-polio vaccine, lives in Palm Springs and was the guest of honor at the Mickey Finn Boy's Ranch benefit at Howard Manor.

His name is Dr. Herman Salk, and he is a veterinarian and owns a desert animal hospital. He refused to take a bow when Bob Howard tried to introduce him. He was in constant communication with his brother during the long research for the polio serum.

Mickey Finn, a Los Angeles policeman, is instrumental in youth rehabilitation, as most everyone knows, and the money from the Palm Springs affair went to aid him in his good work.

The mother of the fabulous Gabors, Jolie Gabor, has a matrimonial gleam in her eye. The man in question is Dr. Louis Bardony.

I'd heard that Jolie was eloping to Las Vegas over the weekend, and when I asked her about it she said, "The doctor is a charming bachelor, and it's true he is here. But he hasn't asked me to marry him." I told her that isn't what I'd heard.

In her comfortable home, the queen of the stage and our newest author, Ethel Barrymore, is literally deluged by wires from all over the world congratulating her on her book, "Memories," which made its appearance a few days ago.

I paid her a visit — I'm doing a story about her. I am happy to say I have an autographed copy of "Memories," which I cherish. I'll tell you of my visit later.

The last of the great Barrymores is more excited over her book, of which she wrote every word herself, than I've ever seen her.

In her life story she tells of a young man named Frank McIntyre, who was one of the most brilliant young men in that Russell Colt office. Years later, after he had achieved great success as a financial giant on Wall Street, this young genius gave it all up to enter the seminary to study for the priesthood. Today, that young man is our own popular J. Francis Cardinal McIntyre.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

Rhonda Fleming planes in Sunday night. She expects to sign the property settlement paper with Dr. Lew Morrill immediately. You can bet the minute it's signed she'll take off for Mexico for a divorce.

Gene Kelly has made a $10,000 donation to the building fund for Elia Kazan's actors' school in New York, which Gene once attended.

Elizabeth Taylor, who has been so sick, looked wonderful at the Luau, where she dined with Mike Wilding.

George Gobel now has juggled his schedule so that he can make a one day flying trip to New York to accept the Peabody Award at a luncheon April 20. I should think he would — that's a great honor.

Noel Coward gets here May 20 to talk a couple of deals before he goes ot Las Vegas. He'll be Joan Crawford's house guest. They've been friends since Joan was married to Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., and Noel was a frequent guest at their home.

That's all today. See you Monday.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, April 15 (INS)—Jackie Gleason has a goodie for his first independent motion picture. He's bought "The Laughing Saint," an original by Joe Bigelow, former writer for Gleason, Bing Crosby, Edgar Bergen, and now with Red Skelton's TV show.

The story is inspired by St. Genesius. Although literally thousands of actors of many faiths wear St. Genesius medals, few know that before Genesius was converted to Christianity, he was a comedian and clown at the court of Emperor Diocletian in Rome. In the year 201 A. D. he was beheaded by the emperor for his disavowal of Rome's pagan gods and years later he was canonized as a saint.

In "The Laughing Saint," Jackie will play a modern story of a comedian playboy with deep religious feelings.

Bullets Durgom, manager for both Gleason and Bigelow, arrives here shortly to arrange for production starting in June.

There was no reason in the world for Fred Kohlmar to leave the home lot to find a young actress to play the beauty contest winner opposite William Holden in "Picnic."

Kim Novak, Columbia's glamor girl, was just the right type, and her tests are so good that Executive Producer Jerry Wald agreed that she should get the part in the picture. She starts May 15, with William Holden and Rosalind Russell, and Josh Logan directing.

The brother of Dr. Jonas E. Salk, who discovered the priceless anti-polio vaccine, lives in Palm Springs and was the guest of honor at the Mickey Finn Boy's Ranch benefit at Howard Manor.

His name is Dr. Herman Salk, and he is a veterinarian and owns a desert animal hospital. He refused to take a bow when Bob Howard tried to introduce him. He was in constant communication with his brother during the long research for the polio serum.

Mickey Finn, a Los Angeles policeman, is instrumental in youth rehabilitation, as most everyone knows, and the money from the Palm Springs affair went to aid him in his good work.

The mother of the fabulous Gabors, Jolie Gabor, has a matrimonial gleam in her eye. The man in question is Dr. Louis Bardony.

I'd heard that Jolie was eloping to Las Vegas over the weekend, and when I asked her about it she said, "The doctor is a charming bachelor, and it's true he is here. But he hasn't asked me to marry him." I told her that isn't what I'd heard.

In her comfortable home, the queen of the stage and our newest author, Ethel Barrymore, is literally deluged by wires from all over the world congratulating her on her book, "Memories," which made its appearance a few days ago.

I paid her a visit — I'm doing a story about her. I am happy to say I have an autographed copy of "Memories," which I cherish. I'll tell you or my visit later.

The last of the great Barrymores is more excited over her book, of which she wrote every word herself, than I've ever seen her.

In her life story she tells of a young man named Frank McIntyre, who was one of the most brilliant young men in that Russell Colt office. Years later, after he had achieved great success as a financial giant on Wall Street, this young genius gave it all up to enter the seminary to study for the priesthood. Today, that young man is our own popular J. Francis Cardinal McIntyre.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

Rhonda Fleming planes in Sunday night. She expects to sign the property settlement paper with Dr. Lew Morrill immediately. You can bet the minute it's signed she'll take off for Mexico for a divorce.

Gene Kelly has made a $10,000 donation to the building fund for Elia Kazan's actors' school in New York, which Gene once attended.

Elizabeth Taylor, who has been so sick, looked wonderful at the Luau, where she dined with Mike Wilding.

George Gobel now has juggled his schedule so that he can make a one day flying trip to New York to accept the Peabody Award at a luncheon April 20. I should think he would — that's a great honor.

Noel Coward gets here May 20 to talk a couple of deals before he goes ot Las Vegas. He'll be Joan Crawford's house guest. They've been friends since Joan was married to Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., and Noel was a frequent guest at their home.

That's all today. See you Monday.

Radio And Television

by John Crosby

Another By Serling

In tackling "The Rack," a TV play by Rod Serling, about an American war prisoner who broke under torture and signed some Communist nonsense, the United States Steel Hour took on one of the most important, most neglected, most controversial and most difficult themes of our time. And I think everyone did a marvelous job of it. Not that they settle anything — no one-hour play could possibly do that — but they raised the issue and it should be raised.

The issue is simply this: we are, for one of the few times in our history, in conflict with barbarians who employ barbarous practices in warfare. When modern torture, which is mighty efficient, succeeds in breaking down a man, what should we do with him? The legal codes under which the Army operates were conceived in a time when warfare was a lot more gentlemanly and yet they are enforced when the Marquis of Queensberry rules no longer hold.

It's a terrible moral dilemma and one that few Americans have faced squarely, if at all. Men who were not in Korea and were not subject to torture sit in judgment on men who were, and send them to prison for breaking under tortures they have never experienced. This is an entirely different thing from sending a man to prison for, say, stealing, an impulse that the 12 jurors can honestly tell themselves they have resisted. The dilemma is further complicated by the fact that the Army and Air Force philosophies and procedures are entirely different on this matter, which means that the same crime (if it is one) can be punished by nothing at all or a long term in prison — depending on which service the man's in. That's hardly American, and it doesn't even resemble law.

In his drama, Mr. Serling presents us with a captain who broke after two and a half years of imprisonment and signed some propaganda documents. "I bought a filthy blanket and three hours of uninterrupted sleep—and I thought I got a bargain," he cries. He is supported and defended by a young officer, very well played by Keenan Wynn, who feels that two and half years in an enemy prison is punishment enough and that the defection should be considered in a human light.

Opposing him is an Army trial counsel, very capably played by Wendell Corey, who presents the Army's point of view — and that's a pretty tough one to contest, too. "We're not trying to crucify him. We're trying to put a little muscle into all the other men. Can you give me an alternative, captain? I wish to God I knew one." And later, in his summary to the court martial board, "If you find the captain not guilty, you find everyone who did not break guilty of stupidity."

That's the other horn of the dilemma. If you don't punish those who break under torture, you are

Another By Serling

In tackling "The Rack," a TV play by Rod Serling, about an American war prisoner who broke under torture and signed some Communist nonsense, the United States Steel Hour took on one of the most important, most neglected, most controversial and most difficult themes of our time. And I think everyone did a marvelous job of it. Not that they settle anything — no one-hour play could possibly do that — but they raised the issue and it should be raised.

The issue is simply this: we are, for one of the few times in our history, in conflict with barbarians who employ barbarous practices in warfare. When modern torture, which is mighty efficient, succeeds in breaking down a man, what should we do with him? The legal codes under which the Army operates were conceived in a time when warfare was a lot more gentlemanly and yet they are enforced when the Marquis of Queensberry rules no longer hold.

It's a terrible moral dilemma and one that few Americans have faced squarely, if at all. Men who were not in Korea and were not subject to torture sit in judgment on men who were, and send them to prison for breaking under tortures they have never experienced. This is an entirely different thing from sending a man to prison for, say, stealing, an impulse that the 12 jurors can honestly tell themselves they have resisted. The dilemma is further complicated by the fact that the Army and Air Force philosophies and procedures are entirely different on this matter, which means that the same crime (if it is one) can be punished by nothing at all or a long term in prison — depending on which service the man's in. That's hardly American, and it doesn't even resemble law.

In his drama, Mr. Serling presents us with a captain who broke after two and a half years of imprisonment and signed some propaganda documents. "I bought a filthy blanket and three hours of uninterrupted sleep—and I thought I got a bargain," he cries. He is supported and defended by a young officer, very well played by Keenan Wynn, who feels that two and half years in an enemy prison is punishment enough and that the defection should be considered in a human light.

Opposing him is an Army trial counsel, very capably played by Wendell Corey, who presents the Army's point of view — and that's a pretty tough one to contest, too. "We're not trying to crucify him. We're trying to put a little muscle into all the other men. Can you give me an alternative, captain? I wish to God I knew one." And later, in his summary to the court martial board, "If you find the captain not guilty, you find everyone who did not break guilty of stupidity."

That's the other horn of the dilemma. If you don't punish those who break under torture, you are

CHRYSLER
1949 DESOTO 4 DOOR
We have in stock just the car for campers and fishermen. This beautiful dark green sedan has a back seat that folds down like a station wagon. You have room enough to make a bed or have large loads of luggage. All mechanical parts in A-1 condition. Has radio, heater, signal lights, spot light, sun visor and 4 speed transmission, plus good tires. The clean interior was custom made. A trouble-free car at a very low price of $545.
1953 PLYMOUTH 4 DR. SEDAN
The local one owner of this 2 tone sedan has kept this car in tip-top condition and only drove it 18,000 miles. Has Hy-drive, automatic transmission, heater, signal lights, back lights, good tires and the contrasting interior is spotless. A wonderful car for the wife. Easy to park and handle in traffic. Call for a demonstration today — at our low, low price of $1295

CHRYSLER
1949 DESOTO 4 DOOR
We have in stock just the car for campers and fishermen. This beautiful dark green sedan has a back seat that folds down like a station wagon. You have room enough to make a bed or have large loads of luggage. All mechanical parts in A-1 condition. Has radio, heater, signal lights, spot light, sun visor and 4 speed transmission, plus good tires. The clean interior was custom made. A trouble-free car at a very low price of $545.
1953 PLYMOUTH 4 DR. SEDAN
The local one owner of this 2 tone sedan has kept this car in tip-top condition and only drove it 18,000 miles. Has Hy-drive, automatic transmission, heater, signal lights, back lights, good tires and the contrasting interior is spotless. A wonderful car for the wife. Easy to park and handle in traffic. Call for a demonstration today — at our low, low price of $1295

Polio Vaccination Start Is Deferred

Health Board Awaits Word On Supplies

BALTIMORE, April 15 —The State Health Department tonight put off the start of polio vaccinations for the first and second graders in the county schools of Maryland.

Dr. Edward Davens, chief of the department's Bureau of Preventive Medicine, explained the action was taken because it still has no word about the arrival of vaccine shipments.

Earlier yesterday, it was learned that National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis has decided to send only enough vaccine to take care of 90 per cent of the state's first and second graders.

The move was met with a challenge from the State Department of Health "strongly protesting" the foundation decision.

Dr. Edward Davens, directing the vaccination program, said the foundation's decision was apparently based on anticipated demands in Maryland for vaccine.

He added, however, that demands as anticipated exceed 90 per cent of the first and second grade population in Baltimore and the counties.

The limitation on Maryland's vaccine would apparently deprive a number of first and second graders of vaccination against polio.

Protests Action

The protesting telegram to the foundation was signed by Dr. Robert H. Riley, state director of health.

The State Board of Health, meeting today, committed itself to providing Salk vaccine for kindergarten and pre-school children of indigent parents.

Dr. Davens estimated there are 4,100 such children in Baltimore city and 3,800 in the counties. He said the program of free vaccinations among this top priority class would cost Baltimore about $11,680 and the counties about $10,830.

The board moved that State emergency funds available after July 1 be committed to finance the counties' share of the cost. The city will probably seek its own funds.

May Pay For Third

Dr. Davens said the program of providing vaccine for indigent children from one-year-old up to first grade age would benefit not only the children but the entire community.

Maryland first and second graders were scheduled to begin getting their first free shots of the course Monday. They will apparently have to buy the third booster shot from their private physicians. It is scheduled to come seven months after the free second shot which follows the first by a couple of weeks.

When informed of the report from the State Health Department, Dr. Winter R. Frantz, city and county health officer, said Allegany County will probably defer the start of the program for at least a week from Monday—the original date for the opening of the big program.

The program can be delayed a week without affecting its success, since only the first two shots will be given before school closes in June.

Kimble To Right 'Evils' In Job Security Unit

Governor Asks Him To Take Over Now

BALTIMORE, April 15 (AP)—Gov. McKeldin in rapid fire order today asked former Sen. Robert B. Kimble to take over immediately as head of the Employment Security Board which he said "must be investigated from all angles," and replaced John L. Estes of Cumberland as a member.

Kimble, state senator from Allegany County, had been scheduled to take over as board chairman June 1.

The governor in having him to do so immediately said "recent revelations about circumstances involving certain officials of the department are matters of grave concern to me.

"They must be fully investigated from all angles, and, indeed, it is desirable that a thorough survey be made of the department."

Kimble was nominated and confirmed as chairman during the General Assembly which ended April 5. Gov. McKeldin said today that Daniel E. Klein of Baltimore had written him Feb. 21 requesting that he not be renominated because the state job made "it impossible to satisfactorily maintain" his private law practice.

Klein was paid $10,000 a year for the state job. Kimble is to serve out Klein's term until June 1 and then start a six-year one of his own.

Estes Quit In February

Gov. McKeldin said Estes had submitted his resignation Feb. 25 "in order that there would not be two members of the board from Allegany County." Estes is a labor leader in Cumberland where Kimble also lives.

The governor named Charles H. Rosenbaum of Baltimore to serve out Estes' term which expires in 1957. The third member of the

Easter Seal Returns Are Still Lagging

Returns from the Easter Seal Sale are better than a year ago, but far short of needs, according to Mrs. Vivian L. Annan, executive secretary of the Allegany County League for Crippled Children.

Early this week, the 25th return had brought in $5,047 from the Seal Sale, an improvement over last year's $3,909.60 total on the 25th report.

The total came from 4,464 returns returns from 22,000 letters mailed, representing slightly more than $1 for each letter.

Mrs. Annan said the League will continue to apply all money received until May 10 to the drive, and urged all who neglected to send in their seal dollars to do so as soon as possible.

On Tuesday, returns from the Seal sale totaled $5,047.10 after Monday receipts of $70.25 and Tuesday receipts of $117.

Added to the fund were $348 collected by Cumberland Lodge 271, Loyal Order of Moose, and $121 from the Frostburg Moose Lodge as a result of Easter Lily sales.

The League has set a goal of $7,000 from the sale of seals and Easter lillies to support its expanding services for the afflicted children of Allegany County.

The Weather

Yesterday was on the cloudy side, with temperatures in the low 60s. The official high temperature was 62, the low 46 and it was 59 at 7:30 p. m. Relative humidity was 65 per cent at 6 p. m. Rainfall to date totals 1.10 inches, almost a third of the three-inch April average. Today's weather forecast calls for mostly sunny and mild weather, with the high temperatures ranging from 67 to 74.

Property located on the northeast side of Meadow Drive in Cresaptown has been sold for about $11,250 by Mr. and Mrs. Vernon F. Golder to Mr. and Mrs. Adrian D. Clem.

According to the deed filed yesterday in Allegany County Circuit Court the property is known as Lots 66 and 67 of Cresap Park Addition.

Bicentennial To Open With Flower Show

Formal Ceremony Is Planned May 5

Plans for a formal program to open the Community Flower Show as the first official event in the Fort Cumberland Bicentennial celebration were approved yesterday by the Steering Committee planning the celebration.

The ceremony will be held Thursday, May 5, at 4 p. m. in the Emmanuel Episcopal Parish House as the Bicentennial flower show sponsored by the Garden Group of the Woman's Civic Club of Cumberland gets underway.

Officiating at the formal opening of the Bicentennial and the flower show will be Mayor Roy W. Eves, for the City of Cumberland, and Col. F. Egerton Powell (USA-Ret,) chairman of the Steering Committee of the Bicentennial.

Plans for the flower show were explained yesterday to the committee by Mrs. Helen D. Golladay, who represented the flower show committee.

Arrangements have already been made to secure colonial costumes to be worn by members of the garden group at the show which will be held May 5 from 4 to 9 p. m. and May 6 from noon until 9 p. m.

The Bicentennial Flower Show is only one of dozens of special events which will be held here this year to mark the 200th anniversary of the naming of Fort Cumberland.

Telephone Staff Is Briefed On Dial Program

Telephone Company officials this week completed the first phase of a comprehensive public information program which is being conducted here in connection with the conversion of service from manual to dial operation.

To get the information program under way, C. Walter Haschert, local manager, and William N. Keller, wire chief, held a series of meetings for some 400 C & P telephone workers, including the regular staff of the local office and crews brought here to aid in the $2,000,000 dial conversion program.

Staff Is Briefed

In the briefing program, Haschert and Keller explained progress made to date in the program and the problems faced by operators, central office workers and installers as the program continues.

Meeting for two-hour sessions in groups of 20 each, members of the departmental staffs were briefed on every detail of the dial program, so they would be able to answer questions which friends and relatives may have in regard to the new service.

Stress Four Points

Haschert told the staff two factors are needed to provide good dial service — the most modern equipment available and a well-informed public.

Workers were asked to stress the following points in dial instructions:

The proper use of the telephone directory.

Correct dialing procedures.

The importance of careful dialing.

What to do if a wrong number is reached.

The second step in the public information program will be a similar course for operators of private branch exchanges, Haschert said.

Local 1874 To Meet

Local 1874, Textile Workers Union (CIO), will hold a general membership meeting Wednesday at 7:30 p. m. in the union hall.

Two Are Sentenced For Non-Support

Two men were sentenced to one-year terms in the House of Correction on charges of non-support at hearings in Juvenile Court yesterday.

Magistrate Morris Baron then suspended the sentences and placed the men on parole for two years on condition that each put up a $500 bond to guarantee the support of his family.

One of the men was ordered to pay $10 a month to help support his wife and two children and the other $25 toward the support of his wife and five children.

Court attaches said one of the men was released after he posted bond and the other was committed to the County Jail in default of bond.

REV. F. D. KETNER

REV. H. E. HECKERT

Ministers Will Mark 25th Anniversary Of Ordination

A Cumberland minister and a Pennsylvania colleague will hold joint observances of the 25th anniversary of their ordination with services tomorrow in Cumberland and next Sunday in Collingdale, Pa.

Rev. H. E. Heckert, pastor of the Church of the Nazarene on Oldtown Road, and Rev. F. D. Ketner, pastor of Collingdale Church of the Nazarene, were ordained together at the Collingdale Church on Palm Sunday, April 13, 1930.

Rev. Ketner will preach at the 10:45 a. m. worship service tomorrow at Rev. Heckert's church. The program at the Young People's meeting at 6:30 will be devoted to both ministers, and Rev. Ketner will preach again at the 7:30 p. m. worship service.

Next Sunday, April 24, Rev. Heckert will go to Collingdale to preach at morning and evening services at Rev. Ketner's church.

Rev. Heckert, a native of Allentown, Pa., and Rev. Ketner, who was born in Cressona, Pa., both are graduates of Allentown Pa., Bible College, but were not classmates there.

They were ordained together after having been elected by the Committee of Orders and Relations, which included Rev. D. E. Higgs, then district superintendent; Rev. C. E. Ryder, Rev. J. H. Parker, Rev. J. N. Neilson and Rev. Monroe Hand.

Rev. Heckert accepted his first call to Indian Head (Md.) in 1927 and has served as pastor at Oxford, Pa., Bloomsburg, Pa., Lansdale, Pa., Bel Air (Md.), and has served the local church for nearly four years. The Cumberland church recently extended his call for another three years.

Rev. Ketner started his ministry at Bridgeton N. J., in 1927, and served pastorates at Allentown and Lansdale before assuming the Collingdale pastorate 14 years ago.

Men's Club To Serve Fellowship Dinner

The Men's Club of Southminster Presbyterian Church will serve a fellowship supper in observance of Family Day at the church social room Sunday at 6 p. m.

James E. Robertson district manager for the Social Security Service, will speak at a public meeting in the church auditorium at 7 p. m. A question-and-answer period will follow.

Mrs. H. Vernon Adams, church organist, then will present a program of organ music.

Don't Pay Any 'Collector' For Polio Vaccine

City Police yesterday evening received a call notifying them that a woman was reported in a neighborhood here collecting money for the Salk polio vaccine with which local school pupils will be inoculated this coming week.

The vaccine is being supplied here by the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis and no campaigns for soliciting funds are sanctioned or necessary, police said.

Brucellosis Fight Is Now In Progress

Livestock Disease Curtailment Sought

Further steps were taken Thursday night during a meeting in the county agent's office here to assure purer milk and milk products to area consumers.

A group of farmers from all parts of Allegany County heard a program outlined on the fight against brucellosis, a serious livestock disease.

Joseph M. Steger, county agent, reviewed the regulations of Maryland and the federal government in reference to the disease.

J. Byron Dowling, county health department sanitarian, told the men that the state and county health department will put the program up before the milk plant managers in order that they may get milk producers on the line according to the new policy, which will maintain that all fluid milk and milk products must come from accredited herds.

The livestock must be free from tuberculosis and brucellosis. This policy will be effective as of December 31 this year. Already the policy in which herds must be free from TB is in effect, Dowling added.

Eventually, according to authorities, the purchasers of milk and milk products will be held responsible that they be bought from farmers with accredited livestock.

Dr. C. N. Foose Jr., local veterinarian, went over the program with the committeemen and gave them application blanks for use by county livestock owners who sell milk and milk products for public consumption.

The applications, part of "Plan A" in the work against brucellosis, will be distributed among the dairymen in order that arrangements made be made to have their livestock tested for the disease.

Those who attended the meeting are from various sections of the county and will be able to inform farmers in their vicinity on the workings of the plan.

Attending the meeting besides Steger, Dowling and Dr. Foose were Charles Harvey, Frostburg; Frank Morgan, Shaft; Granville Shumaker, Rawlings; Floyd Buser, Warrior Mountain; Gay Stonestreet, Flintstone, D. T. Puffenburger, Piney Plains; Wilbur Paugh, Mt. Savage, and James Twigg, Oldtown.

Oratorical Finalists Are Named

Oratorical contest finalists were chosen yesterday afternoon at LaSalle High School from among members of the freshman and sophomore classes.

Brother William, member of the faculty who was in charge of the contest, announced that the freshman winner was Richard Puderbaugh, while Matthew Mullaney was winner in the sophomore class.

At commencement exercises this June, Puderbaugh will receive an award donated annually by Mrs. Lucille McGeady. He spoke on Victor Hugo's appeal to the jury against capital punishment.

Finalist in the sophomore class will receive the Bernard J. Coulehan Memorial Award for oratory. Mullaney's topic was "The Four-Minute Man."

Other freshmen who participated in the contest were Joseph Bolt and Joseph McDade. Michael Chisholm and John O'Donnell were the other two sophomore entrants.

Judges were Rev. Robert Hopkins, assistant pastor of St. Mary's Catholic Church; Casper Taylor Jr., and Leo Stakem.

Master of ceremonies during the contest was William Fair, LaSalle senior.

Convention Program Outlined By Firemen

John Smith, of Annapolis, president of the association, will preside at the opening business meeting at 2 p. m. in the State Armory, South Centre Street.

That evening another business session is slated at 7 p. m. and following this meeting a variety show will be staged at the Maryland Theater.

On Thursday, June 23, a business meeting will be held at 9 a. m., at which time a memorial service will be held as well as nomination of officers. A picnic will be held during the afternoon at the Cumberland Fairgrounds.

An election of officers will take place from 5 to 7 p. m. with the final business session getting under way at 7 p. m. Officers also will be installed at this time.

On Friday at 7 p. m. a huge street parade will form in South End and the participants will march to Baltimore Street, disbanding in the vicinity of the Armory.

Following the parade, farewell dances will be held at the State Armory and the City Shrine Club. At the Armory there will be round and square dancing with music by Doc Kenny's orchestra. The Aristocrats will provide music at the City Shrine Club round dance.

Wilbur Johnson, Barton, is in charge of the picnic committee with Francis Fatkins, Clarysville, chairman of the dance committtee. He will be assisted by Arthur Preston, Midland, and Harry Hackett, Westernport.

Some 300 persons have made reservations for housing during the three-day convention, according to David E. Kirk, chairman.

The parade will have band, drum corps and five companies from three states participating, with a total of $1,500 in prizes.

John Prichard, Grantsville, and William A. Wilson, Midland, are parade co-chairmen. Zembower and Russler are also in charge of the program which will feature the Cumberland Bicentennial along with committee reports of the State Firemen's Association.

There are 270 companies in the state association and 175 auxiliary units. Over 1,500 persons are expected to attend.

Six Directors Are Appointed To Chest Board

The Cumberland Community Chest announced yesterday the appointment of six directors to bring the official board of the Red Feather organization to full strength.

The appointments, announced by Robert W. Brown, president, include William G. Rice, president of Local 26, Rubber Workers Union (CIO), to represent the Salvation Army, and Clarence Lippel, local attorney, to represent the Jewish Welfare Society.

Named to fill the board to its full quota were James L. Weber, A. W. Tindal, Ernest M. Pueschel and William L. Wilson Jr.

Bernie Lucas, a member of the Amcelle staff, was named chairman of the public relations committee.

Plans were discussed for holding next fall's Community Chest financial campaign.

The March financial report, approved at the meeting Thursday night, showed a cash balance of $31,501.14 on February 28. Receipts from pledges brought total cash to the $35,884.53 mark.

March expenses totaled $7,017.36 leaving a balance of $28,867.17 on April 1.

Receipts from pledges made in the 1954-55 fund drive totaled $64,837.11 on April 1 and represented 65 per cent of all pledges.

LT. CMDR. McCREA

USN Armory To Be Under New Head

Lt. Cmdr. Gordon H. McCrea, USN, will assume his duties as commander of the Naval Reserve Training Centr on McKaig's Hill Monday.

Cmdr. McCrea, who started his naval career as an apprentice seaman 20 years ago, has recently returned from the Far East, where he served 25 months as navigator of the USS Bayfield, an attack transport ship.

The Bayfield's evacuation of Vietnamese from northern to southern Indochina recently received considerable notice in the U. S.

McCrea was commissioned in 1943. During World War II he was stationed aboard the cruiser USS Chicago, which participated in the first naval bombardment of the Japanese homeland.

A son of Rev. and Mrs. George H. McCrea, St. Petersburg, Fla., he is married to the former Miss Judith Paltor of Boston, Mass. They have three children, David G., 13, Vickie Lou, 12, and Ellyn H., 2.

The McCreas live in LaVale.

Ridgeley Council Passes Resolution On Flood Project

Mayor Roy W. Eves was informed last night that the Ridgeley Town Council unanimously adopted a resolution on an alternate plan for the construction of the next phase of the Cumberland-Ridgeley flood protection program.

He said a similar resolution will be placed before the Mayor and Council at Monday's council meeting.

Mayor Eves said he was informed of the Ridgeley approval, taken at a special meeting held last night, by Ridgeley Mayor W. D. Bidinger.

The plan, designed to offer protection to a greater area and more property in Ridgeley, affects the extreme end of the levee in Ridgeley.

Miss Brinkman To Give Recital

Miss Shirley Brinkman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbert E. Brinkman, 1005 Virginia Avenue, will be presented in a two-piano recital Wednesday at 8:15 p. m. in Loar Hall on the campus of West Virginia Wesleyan College, Buckhannon.

A sophomore at the college, Miss Brinkman is studying organ under Professor Robert E. Shafer of the college music faculty, and is a piano student of Miss Joan Brown of that department.

She has been active at Wesleyan in the college choir, the octet, Alpha Gamma Delta sorority, the Women's Recreation Association, and is a holder of a Presser Foundation music scholarship. She also has served as social chairman.

Her recital program will include selections from Mozart, Schubert, Ravel, Rachmaninoff and Milhaud.

County Agent Has Fruit Spray Bulletins Available

Two University of Maryland Extension Service bulletins have been revised to give commercial and home fruit growers up-to-date recommendations for controlling disease and insects.

The bulletin for commercial growers, according to Joseph M. Steger, county agent, is No. 134, "Maryland Spray Calendar for Apples and Peaches." Recommendations for home growers are given in Bulletin No. 125, "Sprays for Home Fruit Plantings."

Steger pointed out that Allegany County fruit growers may obtain both these bulletins from his office.

In commenting that a number of fruit growers have been inquiring for information, Steger said the bulletin for commercial growers gives more detailed instructions on the use of various fungicides and insecticides than the bulletin for home growers.

The reason for this is that it is impractical for many owners of small fruit plantings to follow the spray schedule recommended for large plantings.

He added that the spray schedules in Bulletin 125 are designed to assist gardeners to produce fruit for home use, not necessarily of market perfection.

Both bulletins were prepared by Extension specialists in the University of Maryland departments of entomology, plant pathology and horticulture.

Jury Members Named; Trials Open Monday

Four Liquor Law Cases Scheduled

Residents of Allegany County who will serve on the petit jury when the April term of circuit court opens on Monday morning have been announced by Joseph E. Boden, clerk of court.

They are Griffin A. McGinn, J. William Beck, Boyd R. Bolyard, Bernice S. Race, Benjamin W. O'Rourke, John T. Creegan, Ruth Ella Fey, Harvey H. Hill, Dora Burch.

James M. Raupach, Oda C. Hughes, Perry R. Ambrose, Thomas Fisher, George W. Workman, Wilda E. Buser, Catherine M. Lippold, Norma C. Weakley, Charles H. Dick, Clarence J. Powers, Charles L. Day, Harry F. Bean, Carl Wilson, Charles L. McIntosh, John B. Koontz and Paul S. Schram.

The first criminal trial scheduled on Monday will be that of Richard F. Kearns, 18-year-old Westernport youth who is charged with assault with intent to kill Raymond E. Vinci, 19, of Pekin, last December 30.

Four other cases, all involving alleged liquor law violations, also are on the criminal court docket for the opening day.

Civil trials are slated to get under way Friday, April 22, and end Wednesday, May 11. Cases are docketed for April 27, 28 and 29 and May 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 9, 10 and 11.

Surplus Food Requests Show Slight Drop

Distribution of surplus commodities for April began last Monday and will continue throughout next week, according to Walker Chapman, county road supervisor who has charge of the program for the County Commissioners.

Chapman said there is a slight decrease this month in the number of families appearing for commodities.

At Westernport on Monday, 188 families of 688 individuals received 473 pounds of butter, 688 pounds of cheese, 638 pounds of milk, and 557 pounds of shortening. Last month 200 families were recipients.

On Tuesday at Barton, 190 families of 560 individuals received 374 pounds of butter, 593 pounds of cheese, 666 pounds of milk and 570 pounds of shortening. Last month the same number appeared.

At Lonaconing on Wednesday, 357 families of 1,249 people received 776 pounds of butter, 1,630 pounds of cheese, 1,408 pounds of milk, and 1,071 pounds of shortening. In March, 362 families received commodities.

In Midland on Thursday, 193 families of 657 persons get 424 pounds of butter, 700 pounds of cheese, 774 pounds of milk, and 582 pounds of shortening. In March, 196 families appeared.

Frostburg shows that 437 families of 1,587 people received, yesterday, 968 pounds of butter, 1,598 pounds of cheese, 2,330 pounds of milk and 1,311 pounds of shotening. Last month, 456 families received food.

Monday, the distribution will be made at Eckhart, Tuesday at Mt. Savage, Wednesday at Cresaptown and Thursday and Friday in Cumberland.

Chapman said the next registration will be held May 2, 3 and 4, for the June distribution. He also indicated that officials believe the program will be continued through September and perhaps longer if needed.

The supply of butter was short this month, because an expected carload failed to arrive in time for the distribution. Chapman also noted that 3,900 pounds of cheese had been sent to Garrett County to aid needy families there.

Missionary Rally Planned Monday

The Cumberland Zone of the Church of the Nazarene will hold a missionary rally at Hyndman, Pa., Church of the Nazarene Monday at 7:30 p. m.

Rev. L. L. Wright, pastor of the Bedford, Pa., church, will be guest speaker. Delegations will participate from churches in Frostburg, Oakland, Hancock, Moscow (First and Bethel), Bedford, Ryot, Pa., St. Clairsville Pa., and Hyndman.

Special music will be provided by the Cumberland and Frostburg missionary societies. Zone missionary officers will be elected at the service.

Rev. Willard Watkins is pastor of the host church.

Chapel Plans Series Of Special Services

An evangelistic service at Bedford Road Baptist Chapel will start tomorrow night at 7:30 o'clock, and will continue through the week.

Rev. Willis E. Dewberry, pastor of Welsh Memorial Baptist Church of Frostburg, will be the speaker at each service.

Rev. Ted Page, pastor of the chapel, will assist in the services, and special music is being arranged for each evening.

Polio Vaccination Start Is Deferred

Health Board Awaits Word On Supplies

BALTIMORE, April 15 —The State Health Department tonight put off the start of polio vaccinations for the first and second graders in the county schools of Maryland.

Dr. Edward Davens, chief of the department's Bureau of Preventive Medicine, explained the action was taken because it still has no word about the arrival of vaccine shipments.

Earlier yesterday, it was learned that National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis has decided to send only enough vaccine to take care of 90 per cent of the state's first and second graders.

The move was met with a challenge from the State Department of Health "strongly protesting" the foundation decision.

Dr. Edward Davens, directing the vaccination program, said the foundation's decision was apparently based on anticipated demands in Maryland for vaccine.

He added, however, that demands as anticipated exceed 90 per cent of the first and second grade population in Baltimore and the counties.

The limitation on Maryland's vaccine would apparently deprive a number of first and second graders of vaccination against polio.

Protests Action

The protesting telegram to the foundation was signed by Dr. Robert H. Riley, state director of health.

The State Board of Health, meeting today, committed itself to providing Salk vaccine for kindergarten and pre-school children of indigent parents.

Dr. Davens estimated there are 4,100 such children in Baltimore city and 3,800 in the counties. He said the program of free vaccinations among this top priority class would cost Baltimore about $11,680 and the counties about $10,830.

The board moved that State emergency funds available after July 1 be committed to finance the counties' share of the cost. The city will probably seek its own funds.

May Pay For Third

Dr. Davens said the program of providing vaccine for indigent children from one-year-old up to first grade age would benefit not only the children but the entire community.

Maryland first and second graders were scheduled to begin getting their first free shots of the course Monday. They will apparently have to buy the third booster shot from their private physicians. It is scheduled to come seven months after the free second shot which follows the first by a couple of weeks.

When informed of the report from the State Health Department, Dr. Winter R. Frantz, city and county health officer, said Allegany County will probably defer the start of the program for at least a week from Monday—the original date for the opening of the big program.

The program can be delayed a week without affecting its success, since only the first two shots will be given before school closes in June.

Kimble To Right 'Evils' In Job Security Unit

Governor Asks Him To Take Over Now

BALTIMORE, April 15 (AP)—Gov. McKeldin in rapid fire order today asked former Sen. Robert B. Kimble to take over immediately as head of the Employment Security Board which he said "must be investigated from all angles," and replaced John L. Estes of Cumberland as a member.

Kimble, state senator from Allegany County, had been scheduled to take over as board chairman June 1.

The governor in having him to do so immediately said "recent revelations about circumstances involving certain officials of the department are matters of grave concern to me.

"They must be fully investigated from all angles, and, indeed, it is desirable that a thorough survey be made of the department."

Kimble was nominated and confirmed as chairman during the General Assembly which ended April 5. Gov. McKeldin said today that Daniel E. Klein of Baltimore had written him Feb. 21 requesting that he not be renominated because the state job made "it impossible to satisfactorily maintain" his private law practice.

Klein was paid $10,000 a year for the state job. Kimble is to serve out Klein's term until June 1 and then start a six-year one of his own.

Estes Quit In February

Gov. McKeldin said Estes had submitted his resignation Feb. 25 "in order that there would not be two members of the board from Allegany County." Estes is a labor leader in Cumberland where Kimble also lives.

The governor named Charles H. Rosenbaum of Baltimore to serve out Estes' term which expires in 1957. The third member of the

Easter Seal Returns Are Still Lagging

Returns from the Easter Seal Sale are better than a year ago, but far short of needs, according to Mrs. Vivian L. Annan, executive secretary of the Allegany County League for Crippled Children.

Early this week, the 25th return had brought in $5,047 from the Seal Sale, an improvement over last year's $3,909.60 total on the 25th report.

The total came from 4,464 returns returns from 22,000 letters mailed, representing slightly more than $1 for each letter.

Mrs. Annan said the League will continue to apply all money received until May 10 to the drive, and urged all who neglected to send in their seal dollars to do so as soon as possible.

On Tuesday, returns from the Seal sale totaled $5,047.10 after Monday receipts of $70.25 and Tuesday receipts of $117.

Added to the fund were $348 collected by Cumberland Lodge 271, Loyal Order of Moose, and $121 from the Frostburg Moose Lodge as a result of Easter Lily sales.

The League has set a goal of $7,000 from the sale of seals and Easter lilies to support its expanding services for the afflicted children of Allegany County.

The Weather

Yesterday was on the cloudy side, with temperatures in the low 60s. The official high temperature was 62, the low 46 and it was 59 at 7:30 p. m. Relative humidity was 65 per cent at 6 p. m. Rainfall to date totals 1.10 inches, almost a third of the three-inch April average. Today's weather forecast calls for mostly sunny and mild weather, with the high temperatures ranging from 67 to 74.

Bicentennial To Open With Flower Show

Formal Ceremony Is Planned May 5

Plans for a formal program to open the Community Flower Show as the first official event in the Fort Cumberland Bicentennial celebration were approved yesterday by the Steering Committee planning the celebration.

The ceremony will be held Thursday, May 5, at 4 p. m. in the Emmanuel Episcopal Parish House as the Bicentennial flower show sponsored by the Garden Group of the Woman's Civic Club of Cumberland gets underway.

Officiating at the formal opening of the Bicentennial and the flower show will be Mayor Roy W. Eves, for the City of Cumberland, and Col. F. Egerton Powell (USA-Ret.) chairman of the Steering Committee of the Bicentennial.

Plans for the flower show were explained yesterday to the committee by Mrs. Helen D. Golladay, who represented the flower show committee.

Arrangements have already been made to secure colonial costumes to be worn by members of the garden group at the show which will be held May 5 from 4 to 9 p. m. and May 6 from noon until 9 p. m.

The Bicentennial Flower Show is only one of dozens of special events which will be held here this year to mark the 200th anniversary of the naming of Fort Cumberland.

Telephone Staff Is Briefed On Dial Program

Telephone Company officials this week completed the first phase of a comprehensive public information program which is being conducted here in connection with the conversion of service from manual to dial operation.

To get the information program under way, C. Walter Haschert, local manager, and William N. Keller, wire chief, held a series of meetings for some 400 C & P telephone workers, including the regular staff of the local office and crews brought here to aid in the $2,000,000 dial conversion program.

Staff Is Briefed

In the briefing program, Haschert and Keller explained progress made to date in the program and the problems faced by operators, central office workers and installers as the program continues.

Meeting for two-hour sessions in groups of 20 each, members of the departmental staffs were briefed on every detail of the dial program, so they would be able to answer questions which friends and relatives may have in regard to the new service.

Stress Four Points

Haschert told the staff two factors are needed to provide good dial service — the most modern equipment available and a well-informed public.

Workers were asked to stress the following points in dial instructions:

The proper use of the telephone directory.

Correct dialing procedures.

The importance of careful dialing.

What to do if a wrong number is reached.

The second step in the public information program will be a similar course for operators of private branch exchanges, Haschert said.

Local 1874, Textile Workers Union (CIO), will hold a general membership meeting Wednesday at 7:30 p. m. in the union hall.

Two Are Sentenced For Non-Support

Two men were sentenced to one-year terms in the House of Correction on charges of non-support at hearings in Juvenile Court yesterday.

Magistrate Morris Baron then suspended the sentences and placed the men on parole for two years on condition that each put up a $500 bond to guarantee the support of his family.

One of the men was ordered to pay $10 a month to help support his wife and two children and the other $25 toward the support of his wife and five children.

Court attaches said one of the men was released after he posted bond and the other was committed to the County Jail in default of bond.

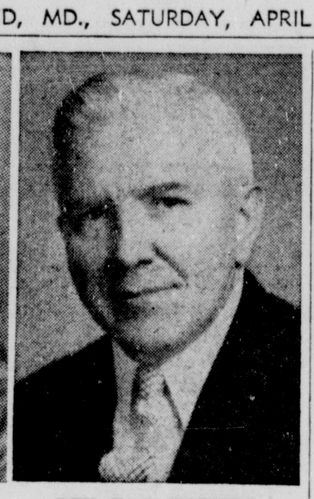
REV. F. D. KETNER



REV. H. E. HECKERT

Ministers Will Mark 25th Anniversary Of Ordination

A Cumberland minister and a Pennsylvania colleague will hold joint observances of the 25th anniversary of their ordination with services tomorrow in Cumberland and next Sunday in Collingdale, Pa.

Rev. H. E. Heckert, pastor of the Church of the Nazarene on Oldtown Road, and Rev. F. D. Ketner, pastor of Collingdale Church of the Nazarene, were ordained together at the Collingdale Church on Palm Sunday, April 13, 1930.

Rev. Ketner will preach at the 10:45 a. m. worship service tomorrow at Rev. Heckert's church. The program at the Young People's meeting at 6:30 will be devoted to both ministers, and Rev. Ketner will preach again at the 7:30 p. m. worship service.

Next Sunday, April 24, Rev. Heckert will go to Collingdale to preach at morning and evening services at Rev. Ketner's church.

Rev. Heckert, a native of Allentown, Pa., and Rev. Ketner, who was born in Cressona, Pa., both are graduates of Allentown Pa., Bible College, but were not classmates there.

They were ordained together after having been elected by the Committee of Orders and Relations, which included Rev. D. E. Higgs, then district superintendent; Rev. C. E. Ryder, Rev. J. H. Parker, Rev. J. N. Neilson and Rev. Monroe Hand.

Rev. Heckert accepted his first call to Indian Head (Md.) in 1927 and has served as pastor at Oxford, Pa., Bloomsburg, Pa., Lansdale, Pa., Bel Air (Md.), and has served the local church for nearly four years. The Cumberland church recently extended his call for another three years.

Rev. Ketner started his ministry at Bridgeton N. J., in 1927, and served pastorates at Allentown and Lansdale before assuming the Collingdale pastorate 14 years ago.

Men's Club To Serve Fellowship Dinner

The Men's Club of Southminster Presbyterian Church will serve a fellowship supper in observance of Family Day at the church social room Sunday at 6 p. m.

James E. Robertson district manager for the Social Security Service, will speak at a public meeting in the church auditorium at 7 p. m. A question-and-answer period will follow.

Mrs. H. Vernon Adams, church organist, then will present a program of organ music.

Don't Pay Any 'Collector' For Polio Vaccine

City Police yesterday evening received a call notifying them that a woman was reported in a neighborhood here collecting money for the Salk polio vaccine with which local school pupils will be inoculated this coming week.

The vaccine is being supplied here by the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis and no campaigns for soliciting funds are sanctioned or necessary, police said.

Brucellosis Fight Is Now In Progress

Livestock Disease Curtailment Sought

Further steps were taken Thursday night during a meeting in the county agent's office here to assure purer milk and milk products to area consumers.

A group of farmers from all parts of Allegany County heard a program outlined on the fight against brucellosis, a serious livestock disease.

Joseph M. Steger, county agent, reviewed the regulations of Maryland and the federal government in reference to the disease.

J. Byron Dowling, county health department sanitarian, told the men that the state and county health department will put the program up before the milk plant managers in order that they may get milk producers on the line according to the new policy, which will maintain that all fluid milk and milk products must come from accredited herds.

The livestock must be free from tuberculosis and brucellosis. This policy will be effective as of December 31 this year. Already the policy in which herds must be free from TB is in effect, Dowling added.

Eventually, according to authorities, the purchasers of milk and milk products will be held responsible that they be bought from farmers with accredited livestock.

Dr. C. N. Foose Jr., local veterinarian, went over the program with the committeemen and gave them application blanks for use by county livestock owners who sell milk and milk products for public consumption.

The applications, part of "Plan A" in the work against brucellosis, will be distributed among the dairymen in order that arrangements made be made to have their livestock tested for the disease.

Those who attended the meeting are from various sections of the county and will be able to inform farmers in their vicinity on the workings of the plan.

Attending the meeting besides Steger, Dowling and Dr. Foose were Charles Harvey, Frostburg; Frank Morgan, Shaft; Granville Shumaker, Rawlings; Floyd Buser, Warrior Mountain; Gay Stonestreet, Flintstone, D. T. Puffenburger, Piney Plains; Wilbur Paugh, Mt. Savage, and James Twigg, Oldtown.

Oratorical Finalists Are Named

Oratorical contest finalists were chosen yesterday afternoon at LaSalle High School from among members of the freshman and sophomore classes.

Brother William, member of the faculty who was in charge of the contest, announced that the freshman winner was Richard Puderbaugh, while Matthew Mullaney was winner in the sophomore class.

At commencement exercises this June, Puderbaugh will receive an award donated annually by Mrs. Lucille McGeady. He spoke on Victor Hugo's appeal to the jury against capital punishment.

Finalist in the sophomore class will receive the Bernard J. Coulehan Memorial Award for oratory. Mullaney's topic was "The Four-Minute Man."

Other freshmen who participated in the contest were Joseph Bolt and Joseph McDade. Michael Chisholm and John O'Donnell were the other two sophomore entrants.

Judges were Rev. Robert Hopkins, assistant pastor of St. Mary's Catholic Church; Casper Taylor Jr., and Leo Stakem.

Master of ceremonies during the contest was William Fair, LaSalle senior.

Births

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Mouse Jr., Hyattsville, announce the birth of a son Wednesday at Prince Georges County General Hospital, Cheverly. The mother is the former Miss Delma Ann Largent, Largent, W. Va.

Convention Program Outlined By Firemen

The calendar of events in the forthcoming 63d annual Maryland State Firemen's Association convention scheduled here June 22-24 has been announced by Cromwell Zembower and Nelson Russler, co-chairmen.

John Smith, of Annapolis, president of the association, will preside at the opening business meeting at 2 p. m. in the State Armory, South Centre Street.

That evening another business session is slated at 7 p. m. and following this meeting a variety show will be staged at the Maryland Theater.

On Thursday, June 23, a business meeting will be held at 9 a. m., at which time a memorial service will be held as well as nomination of officers. A picnic will be held during the afternoon at the Cumberland Fairgrounds.

An election of officers will take place from 5 to 7 p. m. with the final business session getting under way at 7 p. m. Officers also will be installed at this time.

On Friday at 7 p. m. a huge street parade will form in South End and the participants will march to Baltimore Street, disbanding in the vicinity of the Armory.

Following the parade, farewell dances will be held at the State Armory and the City Shrine Club. At the Armory there will be round and square dancing with music by Doc Kenny's orchestra. The Aristocrats will provide music at the City Shrine Club round dance.

Wilbur Johnson, Barton, is in charge of the picnic committee with Francis Fatkins, Clarysville, chairman of the dance committtee. He will be assisted by Arthur Preston, Midland, and Harry Hackett, Westernport.

Some 300 persons have made reservations for housing during the three-day convention, according to David E. Kirk, chairman.

The parade will have band, drum corps and five companies from three states participating, with a total of $1,500 in prizes.

John Prichard, Grantsville, and William A. Wilson, Midland, are parade co-chairmen. Zembower and Russler are also in charge of the program which will feature the Cumberland Bicentennial along with committee reports of the State Firemen's Association.

There are 270 companies in the state association and 175 auxiliary units. Over 1,500 persons are expected to attend.

Six Directors Are Appointed To Chest Board

The Cumberland Community Chest announced yesterday the appointment of six directors to bring the official board of the Red Feather organization to full strength.

The appointments, announced by Robert W. Brown, president, include William G. Rice, president of Local 26, Rubber Workers Union (CIO), to represent the Salvation Army, and Clarence Lippel, local attorney, to represent the Jewish Welfare Society.

Named to fill the board to its full quota were James L. Weber, A. W. Tindal, Ernest M. Pueschel and William L. Wilson Jr.

Bernie Lucas, a member of the Amcelle staff, was named chairman of the public relations committee.

Plans were discussed for holding next fall's Community Chest financial campaign.

The March financial report, approved at the meeting Thursday night, showed a cash balance of $31,501.14 on February 28. Receipts from pledges brought total cash to the $35,884.53 mark.

March expenses totaled $7,017.36 leaving a balance of $28,867.17 on April 1.

Receipts from pledges made in the 1954-55 fund drive totaled $64,837.11 on April 1 and represented 65 per cent of all pledges.

LT. CMDR. McCREA

USN Armory To Be Under New Head

Lt. Cmdr. Gordon H. McCrea, USN, will assume his duties as commander of the Naval Reserve Training Centr on McKaig's Hill Monday.

Cmdr. McCrea, who started his naval career as an apprentice seaman 20 years ago, has recently returned from the Far East, where he served 25 months as navigator of the USS Bayfield, an attack transport ship.

The Bayfield's evacuation of Vietnamese from northern to southern Indochina recently received considerable notice in the U. S.

McCrea was commissioned in 1943. During World War II he was stationed aboard the cruiser USS Chicago, which participated in the first naval bombardment of the Japanese homeland.

A son of Rev. and Mrs. George H. McCrea, St. Petersburg, Fla., he is married to the former Miss Judith Paltor of Boston, Mass. They have three children, David G., 13, Vickie Lou, 12, and Ellyn H., 2.

The McCreas live in LaVale.

Ridgeley Council Passes Resolution On Flood Project

Mayor Roy W. Eves was informed last night that the Ridgeley Town Council unanimously adopted a resolution on an alternate plan for the construction of the next phase of the Cumberland-Ridgeley flood protection program.

He said a similar resolution will be placed before the Mayor and Council at Monday's council meeting.

Mayor Eves said he was informed of the Ridgeley approval, taken at a special meeting held last night, by Ridgeley Mayor W. D. Bidinger.

The plan, designed to offer protection to a greater area and more property in Ridgeley, affects the extreme end of the levee in Ridgeley.

Miss Brinkman To Give Recital

Miss Shirley Brinkman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbert E. Brinkman, 1005 Virginia Avenue, will be presented in a two-piano recital Wednesday at 8:15 p. m. in Loar Hall on the campus of West Virginia Wesleyan College, Buckhannon.

A sophomore at the college, Miss Brinkman is studying organ under Professor Robert E. Shafer of the college music faculty, and is a piano student of Miss Joan Brown of that department.

She has been active at Wesleyan in the college choir, the octet, Alpha Gamma Delta sorority, the Women's Recreation Association, and is a holder of a Presser Foundation music scholarship. She also has served as social chairman.

Her recital program will include selections from Mozart, Schubert, Ravel, Rachmaninoff and Milhaud.

County Agent Has Fruit Spray Bulletins Available

Two University of Maryland Extension Service bulletins have been revised to give commercial and home fruit growers up-to-date recommendations for controlling disease and insects.

The bulletin for commercial growers, according to Joseph M. Steger, county agent, is No. 134, "Maryland Spray Calendar for Apples and Peaches." Recommendations for home growers are given in Bulletin No. 125, "Sprays for Home Fruit Plantings."

Steger pointed out that Allegany County fruit growers may obtain both these bulletins from his office.

In commenting that a number of fruit growers have been inquiring for information, Steger said the bulletin for commercial growers gives more detailed instructions on the use of various fungicides and insecticides than the bulletin for home growers.

The reason for this is that it is impractical for many owners of small fruit plantings to follow the spray schedule recommended for large plantings.

He added that the spray schedules in Bulletin 125 are designed to assist gardeners to produce fruit for home use, not necessarily of market perfection.

Both bulletins were prepared by Extension specialists in the University of Maryland departments of entomology, plant pathology and horticulture.

Jury Members Named; Trials Open Monday

Four Liquor Law Cases Scheduled

Residents of Allegany County who will serve on the petit jury when the April term of circuit court opens on Monday morning have been announced by Joseph E. Boden, clerk of court.

They are Griffin A. McGinn, J. William Beck, Boyd R. Bolyard, Bernice S. Race, Benjamin W. O'Rourke, John T. Creegan, Ruth Ella Fey, Harvey H. Hill, Dora Burch.

James M. Raupach, Oda C. Hughes, Perry R. Ambrose, Thomas Fisher, George W. Workman, Wilda E. Buser, Catherine M. Lippold, Norma C. Weakley, Charles H. Dick, Clarence J. Powers, Charles L. Day, Harry F. Bean, Carl Wilson, Charles L. McIntosh, John B. Koontz and Paul S. Schram.

The first criminal trial scheduled on Monday will be that of Richard F. Kearns, 18-year-old Westernport youth who is charged with assault with intent to kill Raymond E. Vinci, 19, of Pekin, last December 30.

Four other cases, all involving alleged liquor law violations, also are on the criminal court docket for the opening day.

Civil trials are slated to get under way Friday, April 22, and end Wednesday, May 11. Cases are docketed for April 27, 28 and 29 and May 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 9, 10 and 11.

Surplus Food Requests Show Slight Drop

Distribution of surplus commodities for April began last Monday and will continue throughout next week, according to Walker Chapman, county road supervisor who has charge of the program for the County Commissioners.

Chapman said there is a slight decrease this month in the number of families appearing for commodities.

At Westernport on Monday, 188 families of 688 individuals received 473 pounds of butter, 688 pounds of cheese, 638 pounds of milk, and 557 pounds of shortening. Last month 200 families were recipients.

On Tuesday at Barton, 190 families of 560 individuals received 374 pounds of butter, 593 pounds of cheese, 666 pounds of milk and 570 pounds of shortening. Last month the same number appeared.

At Lonaconing on Wednesday, 357 families of 1,249 people received 776 pounds of butter, 1,630 pounds of cheese, 1,408 pounds of milk, and 1,071 pounds of shortening. In March, 362 families received commodities.

In Midland on Thursday, 193 families of 657 persons get 424 pounds of butter, 700 pounds of cheese, 774 pounds of milk, and 582 pounds of shortening. In March, 196 families appeared.

Frostburg shows that 437 families of 1,587 people received, yesterday, 968 pounds of butter, 1,598 pounds of cheese, 2,330 pounds of milk and 1,311 pounds of shotening. Last month, 456 families received food.

Monday, the distribution will be made at Eckhart, Tuesday at Mt. Savage, Wednesday at Cresaptown and Thursday and Friday in Cumberland.

Chapman said the next registration will be held May 2, 3 and 4, for the June distribution. He also indicated that officials believe the program will be continued through September and perhaps longer if needed.

The supply of butter was short this month, because an expected carload failed to arrive in time for the distribution. Chapman also noted that 3,900 pounds of cheese had been sent to Garrett County to aid needy families there.

Missionary Rally Planned Monday

The Cumberland Zone of the Church of the Nazarene will hold a missionary rally at Hyndman, Pa., Church of the Nazarene Monday at 7:30 p. m.
